KITCHENER RUSHING TO FACE NEW CRISIS

Uprisings in Colonial Possessions Explain Mysterious Secret Mission of English War Lord.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Earl Kitchener's ultimate mission during his mysterious absence from the British war office is said by confidential information received here to be in India, where, according to the same information British rule is confronted with a more serious state of unrest than has generally been known outside of British official circles.

Through the thick veil which the British censorship has thrown about the events in India and Egypt comes a statement that Nawab, Sultan Ul Mulk, the Nizam of Hyderabad, one of the most influential of the native princes and a staunch supporter of the British, has been deposed by his people.

Causes Kitchener's Move.

This development coming as one of the climaxes to successive reports of mutinies and unrest, many of which have been substantiated and admitted by the British government, is said to be the leading reason for Earl Kitchener's departure from England which has been shrouded with much secrecy. It has been officially announced that the head of the British war office was on his way to the near east, which has been generally interpreted as meaning the Balkans, where the critical situation of the moment confronts the allied forces. Information reaching the United States, however, through channels not subject to censorship is to the effect that it is well known in London among those close to the government that while Earl Kitchener may stop in the Balkans to co-ordinate the efforts of the allied forces, his ultimate destination is not only India, but Egypt as well, where the British gateway to Asia now is menaced by the Teutonic-Bulgarian-Turk success in the Balkans.

Disaffection in Egypt.

Coupled with repeated rumors of activities of German agents fomenting discontent among the native population of India have come reports of disaffection in Egypt also ascribed to the same sources.

Since the Turks failed to cut the Suez canal mainly through the prompt arrival of Colonial troops from New Zealand and Australia, it has been reported that agents from Constantinople and Berlin have been conducting a persistent propaganda among the natives. Some time ago Great Britain imposed the most stringent restrictions against the entry of foreigners to India and Egypt with the announced purpose of keeping out the agents of Great Britain's enemies.

Importance to British.

The importance to the British of the reported downfall of the Nizam of Hyderabad may be illustrated by the fact that the critical moment when Turkey entered hostilities and called on all Mohammedans for holy war the Nizam of Hyderabad, head of the largest Mohammedan state in India, issued a manifesto to his people in which he declared it to be the duty of all Mohammedans in India to adhere to their British allegiance.

Competent observers point out that Japan is strategically in much better position than England to land troops in India or Egypt. If the reports of a serious situation in India are confirmed, it would not cause surprise here if the proposal to use Japanese troops there were revived.

The last reports to the state department on political conditions in British possessions in Asia were received more than two months ago, when details came of the mutiny of natives at Singa-

WILSON HEARS A NEW PLEA FOR UNION MEN

Washington, Nov. 9.—President Wilson was asked again today by a delegation of union leaders to commute the sentences of former officers of the structural iron workers' union, now serving terms in Leavenworth penitentiary for their convictions in connection with the so-called dynamite conspiracy which involved the destruction of the Los Angeles Times and ramified throughout the country. Clemency was asked for Frank M. Ryan, of Indianapolis, former president of the iron workers, and twelve others. It was represented to the president that the men have served about one-third of their terms and that the prison record of each has been exemplary. A year ago appeals for pardons were refused. The president listened attentively and took the appeal under advisement.

STEAL HORSE FROM HOAGLAND STREETS

Sheriff A. C. Gaulieux and his deputies and officers in cities and towns to the north are on the lookout for thieves who stole a horse and buggy from a hitching rack in the streets of Hoagland, Monday evening. The rig is the property of Harvey Adair, a farmer residing two miles south of Hoagland. The robbers are believed to be Charles and Fred Cook, aged 20 and 24, respectively, two brothers who had been working on the farm of John Emrick, near Hoagland, for some weeks. They have disappeared and it is believed they have gone north in the direction of Kendallville, which they have said is their home. The sheriff was in the direction of Arcola looking for clue, but is using the wires to the north very extensively. The stolen animal is a bay mare 8 or 9 years old and the vehicle is a top buggy with steal tires and red running gears.

FIRE IS CONQUERED; LINER RESUMES TRIP

New York, Nov. 9.—News that the fire in the reserve coal bunker of the Rochambeau had been extinguished was received in a brief wireless message this morning from Captain Juham. It read: "Have succeeded in extinguishing the fire and am proceeding to Bordeaux. All well on board."

The big French liner carried 651 persons and a large cargo of war supplies. When the fire was discovered every effort was made to extinguish the blaze and Captain Juham, according to wireless message to the company's office yesterday afternoon, headed toward Halifax. He expressed the hope that he would be able to conquer the fire and his wireless message this morning showed that he had succeeded and that the Rochambeau had againresumed her course for Bordeaux. Captain Juham did not indicate in his message the cause of the fire.

DECIDED TO IGNORE LAW

New Haven Road Gobbled Up Competitor in Face of Own Legal Advice.

BOARD FLOUTED LAWYER'S WARNING

Made Purchase Despite the Case of Northern Securities.

New York, Nov. 9.—Testimony that the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad acquired control of the Central New England railroad, a competitor, in the face of legal advice that it might be in violation of the law, was adduced today at the trial of Wm. Rockefeller and ten other former directors of that road accused of criminal violation of that law.

The advice was given, according to a letter read in evidence, by the late Chas. F. Boston, a New Haven attorney. He reminded Charles S. Mellen, president, that the Northern Securities case was at the time, 1904, still pending in the courts, and said that he was not in favor of "doing anything that might be in violation of the Sherman law."

Didn't Mind That.

The Northern Securities case forced the dissolution of the joint ownership of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads. Nevertheless the New Haven president appeared in another letter written scarcely a month later as notifying Wm. Rockefeller that he had bought control of the Central New England for the New Haven and Rockefeller in reply

BORDER TROUBLES ARE SETTLED FOR A TIME

It is the opinion of officers that conditions all along the border are settled for a few weeks at least.

MRS. STIMSON WILL FIGHT TO A FINISH

Terre Haute Club Woman Declares She Will Not Resign.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 9.—Mrs. C. S. Stimson, who led the fight against Mrs. L. J. Cox, also of this city, in her candidacy for the presidency of the state federation of women's clubs at the convention recently in Indianapolis, and whose resignation as a member of the state board of the equal franchise league was demanded at a meeting of the board yesterday, said today she will not resign.

While it was reported Mrs. Stimson's activities in favor of Mrs. Clark Fairbank for the club federation presidency is responsible for the action of the league board, it was said today by a local suffragist that this was not the reason but that a charge of disloyalty to the franchise league on the part of Mrs. Stimson was responsible.

"Mrs. Stimson sought to have the thirty-two votes of the franchise league thrown out at the club convention," this member said, "her object being primarily to prevent the vote of the league going to Mrs. Cox." Mrs. Stimson denied the charge of disloyalty and declared she would not resign.

ARRESTS MAY FOLLOW CORONER'S INQUEST

Coroner E. H. Kruse, at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, began the taking of testimony of witnesses in the inquest on the death of Miss Zemai Bechtol, of Garrett, who received fatal injuries a few days ago in an automobile wreck on the Lima road, north of the city. Howard Dilgard, Art Smit and Gould Stanley, three Garrett young men, who were in the wrecked car, are here as witnesses. It may be that prosecution for involuntary manslaughter may be the course taken against the rider of a motorcycle who is said to have caused the accident.

Wednesday morning Coroner Kruse will begin a reinvestigation of the death of the young Nail girl at Maples, who was fatally burned. It is said that sensational testimony will be presented and that arrests will follow. Two youths are said to be involved.

The attending physician states that the little fellow is well on his way to recovery and unless something unforeseen develops he will get better. His injuries consisted of a bad fracture of the skull besides other numerous bruises. At first it was thought that his neck was broken but it developed later that it was not. His fight for life, however, is regarded as an extraordinarily heroic one.

DAY NURSERY DOES COMMENDABLE WORK

450 Children Are Cared for Since Its Opening Five Months Ago.

The day nursery at the Home and Rescue mission, on East Columbia street, which was opened July 10, 1915, and which has been maintained ever since by the Opportunity circle of the King's Daughters, has done commendable work in the five months and the highest praise is due to the members of this organization for the efforts put forth in this direction.

Mrs. Catherine Kuhns, who has been in charge, reports that during the past five months, if each child would be counted a separate one, 450 children have been cared for. Each month the number has increased. The first month there were 49, last month there were 120 and during the month which closes today there were 127.

This week there are five regulars at the nursery and one of them is a little white headed fellow, "Donald," who has been there every day since last August 1. Little Cliford and Albert have still a better record. They made their initial appearance on June 14 and have been regulars, with th eexception of the week. Their mother has company and since she remains at home this week the two little fellows also stay at home.

The matron was successful in finding a permanent home in a good family for a little five year old boy whose mother was compelled, on account of circumstances, to labor very hard every day, although in poor health.

The Opportunity circle are making arrangements to give an entertainment at the Majestic theater during the week of December 7. The proceeds of this affair will be added to the fund for the maintenance of the day nursery, which is a work in which the Fort Wayne public should be interested and something which they should give their hearty support.

At the beginning of the new year it may be possible, depending upon the success of the entertainment to be given, new headquarters will be secured and the work of the nursery run on a larger scale.

LOGANSPORT WILL REGULATE JITNEY

Logansport, Ind., Nov. 9.—Complete regulation of the jitney business in Logansport is aimed at in an ordinance passed by the city council at a special session last night. The ordinance requires that drivers of the jitney buses register and pay an annual license fee of $100 for five-passenger cars, $150 for seven-passenger cars and $200 for all cars of larger size. The most important section of the ordinance, however, requires each to file an approved bond in the sum of $10,000 to indemnify victims against accident in which the jitney driver may be shown to be to blame.

In another ordinance the council requires the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company to resume operation of cars on its line to Spencer park.

HERRICK WILL NOT OPPOSE MR. BURTON

Columbus, O., Nov. 9.—Before leaving here today for Cleveland, Myron T. Herrick, former governor and former ambassador to France, announced that he would not enter into a contest with former Senator Theodore Burton for the republican endorsement in Ohio for the presidential nomination next year. Mr. Herrick will support Mr. Burton for the nomination.

Mr. Herrick's statement read: "In an interview with Mr. Burton early in October I advised him that I would not enter into a contest for the Ohio delegation against him, and endorsed his candidacy. I will be a candidate for delegate at large, feeling that I can be of service in bringing about harmony in the national republican party."

R. M. MILBURN PASSES AWAY

Indiana Attorney General Expires at Indianapolis Hospital.

LEAKAGE OF HEART TAKES HIM QUICKLY

End Comes as Patient is Sitting on the Edge of His Bed.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 9.—Richard M. Milburn, attorney general of Indiana, died at a hospital here today of leakage of the heart. While he had been in failing health for more than a year, he continued his duties until three weeks ago. He was 50 years of age.

Mr. Milburn's death was due largely to his ambition to hold the highest legal office in the state. He made the race for the democratic nomination three times before he was successful in 1914. He waged a strenuous campaign for the nomination for more than a year and collapsed shortly after the state convention. His physician told him he would have to remain in bed and take no part in the campaign. For eight weeks he obeyed and then plunged into the pre-election fray.

The attorney general-elect was again taken ill shortly after the election, but was able to take office last January. Although in failing health Mr. Milburn did not quit his office until three weeks ago, when he was forced to go to bed here. He was taken to the hospital yesterday.

Death Comes Suddenly.

Death came suddenly while Mr. Milburn was sitting on the edge of his bed at the hospital this morning.

Mr. Milburn was born in Dubois county and was a graduate of Indiana university. He was superintendent of the schools in Jasper, Ind., for two terms, after which he began the practice of law. With the exception of two years, when he was associate professor of law at Indiana university, he made Jasper his home until he came to Indianapolis to assume his duties as attorney general of Indiana.

Besides his wife Mr. Milburn is survived by five children, Lieut. Frank W. Milburn, U. S. A., who is stationed with his regiment in the Panama canal zone; Miss Norma, who is a school teacher at North Vernon, Ind.; Ray, employed by the Indanapolis Traction and Terminal company; Donald and Harold, both in high school.

TRAFFIC CONGESTION IS HURTING BUSINESS

Merchants Pass Resolutions Asking for Better Regulation.

Members of the Retail Merchants' association took steps at their regular meeting Monday evening for better traffic regulations in Fort Wayne. Resolutions were passed and will be presented to the city council.

President Charles Niebergall was authorized to name a committee of three to co-operate with the Commercial club, Rotary club and the Allen County Automobile association to see what can be done to relieve the motor car congestion. Merchants on Calhoun street declare that the congestion is hurting their business.

A committee composed of M. Dukes, G. H. Heine and E. J. Golden was named to draft resolutions on the death of George J. Parrot, who was an officer of the association.

Bert J. Griswold, head of the Progressive Advertising company, gave an address on "The Pioneer Merchants of Fort Wayne," and E. W. Puckett, of the Fort Wayne Oil & Supply company, on "Factors of Business Success."

At the next monthly banquet of the association H. J. Kenner, of Indianapolis, secretary of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, will be the principal speaker. The Stevens price maintenance bill now pending in congress, also will be discussed.

LOCAL COMMANDERY TO BE INSPECTED

The biennial inspection of Fort Wayne commandery, No. 4, Knights Templar, will be conducted Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Masonic temple, Clinton and Wayne streets, by Inspector General Em. Sir Sidney W. Douglas. At 6 o'clock a banquet will be tendered to the inspector at the Pennsylvania station diningroom. Every Knight is urged to attend.

Hope Hospital Question to Be Put Up to Churches

The movement of making Hope hospital a Protestant church institution made progress at the regular meeting of the Fort Wayne Ministerial association held Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First M. E. church. The report of a committee composed of five of the prominent members was accepted in which it is suggested that each Protestant church of the city select two members of the congregation on the board of directors of the hospital, which in turn should elect an executive board of five members.

Members of the Ministerial association, however, wish it made clear that this is not a final decision. In accepting the report of this committee it is understood that the proposition must be presented before every congregation and that the members will make the final decision.

The committee, composed of Rev. H. B. Master, Rev. A. J. Folsom, Rev. H. C. Hadley, Rev. E. Q. Laudeman and Dr. Allan K. Zartman, were appointed at a specially called meeting of the association held a week ago. This committee investigated affairs of the institution and made a lengthy report at the meeting Monday in which they also endorsed the advisability of taking over the institution. The report was read by Rev. A. J. Folsom and with the exception of a few changes the report was accepted by the association as read.

The board of directors, according to the report, are to select an executive committee of five members whose duty it shall be to manage the institution.

The discussion of this important question occupied nearly the entire time of the session of the association Monday afternoon.

VICTORS TO PUT RAIL LINE INTO OPERATION

Teutonic Triumphs in Serbia Make Certain Ready Communication With Turkish Capital.

London, Nov. 9.—The central powers and their Bulgarian ally now control about two-thirds of Serbia, and within a few weeks probably will have the main Serbian railroad running through Belgrade and Nish in full operation. This will give them two routes to Constantinople, as communication by way of the Danube via Bulgaria is already open. That it has not been accomplished without weakening the other fronts is indicated by definite news of Russian advances on the Ripa-Dvinsk front, the last part of the western battle district which the invaders kept up anything in the nature of a definite offensive.

Thus far the plans of the central powers in the Balkans have worked like well-oiled machinery, but the latest news from Macedonia indicates that initiative is not to be left entirely to the invaders much longer. Reports come by way of Paris that the Anglo-French forces are making their presence felt against the Bulgarians. The entente allies claim their operations are proceeding along the whole front with success notwithstanding the handicap of operating in a difficult country.

It is reported also that the Serbians, holding part of the Macedonian front, have checked the Bulgarians, after inflicting heavy losses on them. If the Serbians can sustain the attack for a short period the French should be able to join them south of Veles.

The Russians continue their policy of sharp and unexpected attacks at various points along their front. The result of these attacks, according to Petrograd, consisted of three successful assaults southwest of Riga, two southwest of Dvinsk and three west of the Styr, south of the Pripet marshes, where the Austro-German line was broken in two places.

Except for artillery exchanges on the western front nothing of great importance has occurred recently in that theater of war.

ITALY WILL AID SERBS.

Semi-Official Note Hints at Sending Army to Albania.

Rome, Nov. 9.—What appears to be a forecast that Italy will send troops to Albania to aid the Serbs is contained in a semi-official note which sasy that while Italy did not participate in the recent expedition of the allies to assist Serbia she has found a better way to oppose the Austro-German-Bulgarian attack upon Serbia.

This way, the note says, was opened by the Bulgarians themselves when they threatened to invade Albania to reach the Adriatic, a design so dangerous to Italy's interests that "the mere threat must oblige Italy to take appropriate measures to frustrate it immediately."

GATHER FOR CORONATION

Diplomats and Special Envoys at Kioto for Notable Ceremony.

Preparations for Induction of Japanese Emperor Are Complete.

Kioto, Japan, Nov. 9.—Most of the diplomats and special envoys who have arrived here today to attend the coronation ceremonies are quartered at the Kioto hotel which has been refurnished from cellar to roof. Every article used was manufactured under the direction of the imperial household, constituting one of the items in the $5,000,000 budget provided to pay the expenses of the coronation.

Press representatives were entertained at the hotel by Mayor Inouye. At a historic Japanese dinner ancient dances presented by geisha girls took the guests back a thousand years in the history of the empire.

The mayor paid tribute to the important role the press has played in promoting the progress of Japan and like the mayors of American cities he took advantage of the opportunity to point out the attractiveness of Kioto and the great industrial advance it has made.

Many Americans There.

Many Americans in the city attended the celebration of the anniversary of Doshisha Christian college, which is supported largely by the public subscriptions of Americans and which was founded by Joseph Nesima, who ran away from Kioto and settled in Boston in 1863.

All the members of the cabinet are here and when they are not engaged in rehearsals for the coronation they are considering the Chinese question. They are said to believe that President Yuan Chi Kai is disposed to postpone his enthronement as emperor for a time even if he finds it "impossible" to check the monarchist movement. The impression gained here is that Japan regards the policies of the Chinese president as hostile to Japanese influence.

Cruiser Saratoga Arrives.

The United States cruiser Saratoga, flagship of the Asiatic fleet, arrived at Kobe today and gave the salute. After official visits had been exchanged Rear Admiral Albert J. Winterhalter, Commander Jay H. Sypher, his chief of staff; Commander Stanford E. Moses, of the monitor Monterey, and Capt. Frederick J. Horne, naval attache of the American embassy, came to Kioto and called on the American ambassador, George W. Guthrie.

American officials and civilians are predominant among the guests at the Kioto hotel, at which there is being held a series of luncheons and dinners. American and other guests are greatly impressed with the perfection of arrangements for their comfort. The decoration of the hotel, under direction of the imperial household, was carried out without regard to the cost. Each suite is decorated magnificently with Japanese screens of rich embroidered silks.

City Electric Light Bills are due and payable at the office, East Berry and Barr streets, on or before the 10th of November. Pay now and avoid penalty. Office open Saturday evenings.

PROHIBITION ISSUE NOW BEFORE LABOR

San Francisco, Nov. 9.—The question of whether the American Federation of Labor should go on record as favoring or being opposed to prohibition is expected to be the main issues at today's session of the thirty-fifth annual session of the organization. The question, it is announced, is to come up through a motion to be introduced by the Milwaukee delegates of brewery workers, to oust from the floors of future conventions fraternal delegates of religious organizations.

Fraternal delegates of religious organizations, including the federal council of the Churches of Christ in America, were seated at the opening session yesterday by unanimous approval of the report of the committee on credentials. The Milwaukee brewery workers contend that the religoius organizations are antagonistic to liquor production and traffic.

MARKED SUCCESS IN CURING THE BLIND

New York, Nov. 9.—Dr. William Martin Richards, who voluntarily treated 148 of the pupils in the city's blind school center has reported to the society of medical jurisprudence that ninety-six of the pupils have been cured of blindness. Dr. Richards states that from his examination of the children he is convinced that two-thirds of the pupils in the schools for the blind are not blind but can be made to see well enough to read newspapers. The physician declared tha four-fifths of the $3,000,000 annually expended on the education of deficient can be saved by proper medical inspection and examination of the eyes by competent specialists.

"Is it not cheaper," asks Dr. Richards, "to spend a million dollars a year for proper medical school inspection and have almost every child promoted each term than to spend $3,000,00 a year re-educating the children whose promotion is withheld, to say nothing of millions of dollars spent afterwards for police courts and prisons to punish these defective children?"

As a result the vocational committee was instructed to meet with Superintendent J. N. Study in a few days when a request will be made asking that the vocational schools of the city be conducted in the old high school building.

The following committee was named to investigate plans toward establishing a labor temple fund: J. E. Wolf, O. W. Miller, J. B. Anderson, B. Erick and John Colligan.

A press committee composed of Clayton H. Johnson, Edward Miller and J. E. Wolf was named to answer any attacks made on the car men or other labor men here. An interesting report was given by President Shaw on the recent convention of wage-earners and farmers held in Chicago.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS TO ATTEND MEETING

Superintendent Justin N. Study, of the city schools, and Superintendent D. O. McComb, of the county schools, and Messrs. Ernest W. Cook, A. L. Randall and W. H. Shambaugh, members of the Fort Wayne school board, will be guests Tuesday evening of the Fort Wayne Real Estate exchange at its regular weekly luncheon and meeting at the Commercial club. Each of the guests are expected to give short talks. Louis Curdes, chairman of the finance committee, will make his report.

GENERAL MICHELON RETURNS FROM WAR

G. W. FROST DIES IN WEST.

Fort Wayne friends will regret to hear of the death of George W. Frost, formerly of this city, which occurred recently in San Diego, Cal. Mr. and Mrs. Frost and their two children, Minnie and Frank, lived in this city for many years, and were widely known among the young people. Mrs. Frost, whose maiden name was Kitty Little, is well remembered as a member of the Woman's Reading club, the Morning Musical and a communicant of Trinity Episcopal church. The family left here about twelve years ago.

Little Berlin Comment on the American Note

Berlin, Nov. 9.—(Via London, 12:40 p m.)—Berlin newspapers as a rule make no comment on the American note to Great Britain relative to interference with shipping. Summaries of the note as received in Berlin are published without comment. The Morgen Post says:

"It is to be hoped the lesson in international law which the Washington government gives the British government will make the desired impression in London. The bare fact that the government uses such decided and firm language shows that the discontent of wide and influential American circles with Great Britain must be assumed to be very earnest in character.

"It is to be hoped America will not content herself with a bare protest but will proceed to energetic measures if the case demands and Great Britain's gross arbitrariness does not cease. The program for 'protection of neutral commerce' is very praiseworthy and America, as the strongest neutral power, could thereby do great service to all neutrals if the program should actually be carried out."

The newspapers in general give great prominence to the affidavits filed at Washington concerning the British patrol boat Baratong which is said to have shot down fifteen members of the crew of a German submarine after they had surrendered or while swimming in the sea.

---Alertly
---Carefully
----Economically

Most women believe a store's greatest task to be to SELL its goods.

The exact opposite is the case.

Our greatest task, our most particular job is exactly the same as our customers, BUYING.

We wish every woman would buy as we do.

Alertly We are always on the lookout for good purchases to turn over to our customers. Resident buyers in New York City and fortnightly trips of our Fort Wayne buyer keep us in constant touch with the market. We wish all Fort Wayne would keep in constant touch with OUR market by reading our advertisements.

Carefully We never order a single garment that does not pass our most rigid scrutiny. Its quality, style and workmanship must be above reproach. We wish all Fort Wayne women would be as careful, for then we know we would get a still larger share of Fort Wayne's business.

Economically We always buy at the lowest market prices. The discounts allowed on account of large business, the knowledge of WHERE to buy at the lowest prices, and the ability to buy cheaply that only large CASH resources can give, are all ours. If every woman bought as economically as we do we would have practically all the business there is in Fort Wayne.

Our aim in desiring Fort Wayne women to buy exactly as we do is not altogether selfish. If all women did their buying alertly, carefully and economically, this store and this community would both be benefited.

PRESIDENT ENLISTS PROPHET AS AN ALLY

Wilson and Ezekiel to Meet Bryan and Isaiah in Oratorical Battle.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—The Tribune today prints the following from its Washington correspondent, Arthur Sears Henning:

Washington, Nov. 9.—President Wilson has elected to meet former Secretary of State Bryan on his own ground, biblical authority, in the discussion of the question of national preparedness against war.

Against Mr. Bryan's favorite prophet, Isaiah, who sang of the beating of swords into plowshares and spears into pruning hooks, the president pits Ezekiel, who warned public servants of the duty of watching over the safety of the state. In enlisting under the banner of Ezekiel, Mr. Wilson not only repudiates Bryan and Isaiah but lines with Theodore Roosevelt, who recently commended Ezekiel to the president's prayerful consideration.

Ezekiel Urged to Kitchin.

Mr. Wilson disclosed his conversion to the views of Ezekiel in a letter to Seth Low, of New York, upon the subject of national defense which was made public by the white house today. The president said he had been greatly impressed by the utterances of Ezekiel.

It is reported that Mr. Wilson called Ezekiel to his aid in laboring today with Representative Kitchin, the new majority leader of the house, upon the question of supporting the administration's program of national defense. Mr. Kitchin was not impressed, however, either by Mr. Wilson or Ezekiel, and when he left the white house he said he would fight the president's program on the ground that it is militarism.

Wilson's Letter to Low.

The letter the president wrote to Mr. Low said:

"I am particularly gratified that you should so fully concur in the position I took in my speech to the Manhattan club. There is a quotation from Ezekiel which I have had very much in my mind recently in connection with these important matters. It is the second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth verses of chapter 33.

"'2. Son of man, speak to the children of thy people, and say unto them, when I bring the sword upon a land, if the people of the land take a man of their coasts and set him for their watchman.

"'3. If, when he seeth the sword come upon the land, he blows the trumpet and warn the people.

"'4. Then whosoever heareth the sound of the trumpet and taketh not warning, if the sword come and take him away, his blood shall be upon his own head.

"'5. He heard the sound of the trumpet and took not warning, his blood shall be upon him; but he that taketh warning shall deliver his soul.

"'6. But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned; if the sword come, and take any person from among them he is taken away in his iniquity, but his blood will I require at the watchman's hand.'"

Today's Beauty Hints.

To whiten and beautify the complexion permanently we have found no better preparation than a lotion made by dissolving four ounces of spurmax in a half pint of hot water, then adding two teaspoonfuls glycerin. This removes any pimples, shiny, muddy or sallow appearance, and will make anyone's skin clear, smooth and velvety. It does not show or rub off like powder; in fact, it seems a part of the skin, and for removing tan and freckles is unequaled.

It is necessary to shampoo more frequently in the warmer weather because of excessive dust and the fact that the head perspires more and is usually more exposed to the weather. The easiest to use and quickest drying shampoo that we can recommend to our readers can be prepared very cheaply by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox, obtained from your druggist, in a cup of hot water. This rubbed into the scalp creates a thick lather, soothing and cooling in its action, as well as very beneficial to scalp and hair. After rinsing, the scalp is fresh and clean, while the hair dries quickly and evenly, developing a bright luster and a soft fluffiness that makes it seem very heavy. Advertisement.

PRINTING OFFICE RUSHED.

Reformatory Shop Is Now Turning Out Daily and Weekly Newspapers.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Nov. 8.—The print shop at the Indiana reformatory, which under the act of 1915, is authorized to do all printing required for Indiana penal, correctional and benevolent institutions that do not do their own printing, has not received any orders and is not equipped to handle them. The annual report for the year ending September 30, 1914, has just been completed. Work on the 1915 orders should start in a week or two.

Last month the print shop turned out 172 jobs. There are twenty-three men employed learning the printing trade. All type is set by hand.

The 1915 legislature appropriated $3,000 for a new press, ruler and type, but the money has not been expended. The press in use, running to full capacity, can not take care of all the work. The shop turns out some excellent work and among other things prints a four-page, four-column daily and weekly. The daily circulates exclusively among the inmates.

WOMEN SAVE $5

Says gasoline dry cleans dresses, suits, silks, gloves, draperies, etc.

Here's a way to make soiled or dingy-looking wearing apparel look like new. Any woman can easily clean and restore the original color and brightness to kid gloves and shoes, neckties, ribbons, silks, satins, laces, net-work, yokes, furs, shirtwaists, children's coats, suits, caps, woolen garments, swiss, lawn, organdy, and chiffon dresses, draperies, rugs, in fact, any and everything that would be ruined with soap and water.

Get two ounces of solvite at any drug store and put it in two gallons of gasoline, where it quickly dissolves, then put in the goods to be cleaned, rub a little and out they come looking clean, bright and fresh as new. You will find nothing fades, shrinks or wrinkles, requiring no pressing.

It only takes a few moments to do what dry-cleaning establishments would charge five dollars or more for. It is as simple as ordinary laundering and you can't make a mistake. Any druggist will supply two ounces of solvite, which is simply a gasoline soap and you can obtain the gasoline at any grocery or garage. Then a wash boiler or large dishpan will complete your dry-cleaning outfit.

As gasoline is very inflammable, be sure to do your dry cleaning out of doors or in a room away from fire or flame, with the windows left open.—Advertisement.

Pittsburg, Nov. 9.—A. R. Beatty, special master appointed to take testimony in the Sherman anti-trust prosecution against the Western Cantaloupe exchange, which farmers in the Imperial valley of California allege is a combination in restraint of tarde, continued the hearing today with the expectation that the remainder of the week would be required to hear the Pittsburg witnesses. The particular case under consideration was that against A. A. Garrard and Virgil M. Garrard, commission merchants of Cincinnati, and yesterday was marked by the refusal of S. Y. Free, of the Lyons Bros. company, and M. O. CoGggins company, of Pittsburg to give testimony on the ground that it might tend to incriminate him in the criminal proceedings in Chicago.

18 And Moses reared up the tabernacle, and fastened his sockets, and set up the boards thereof, and put in the bars thereof, and reared up his pillars.

19 And he spread abroad the tent over the tabernacle, and put the covering of the tent above upon it; as the Lord commanded Moses.

20 And he took and put the testimony into the ark, and set the staves on the ark, and put the mercy seat above upon the ark;

The Demand of the Merchants.

The demand of the Retail Merchants' association for relief from the present congested and perilous traffic conditions in the down-town streets, voiced Monday evening in the passage of a resolution addresssed to the city council, is not only timely, but manifestly reasonable, and The Sentinel trusts the city authorities will give the situation prompt and decisive action. The merchants argue that their business is being injured by conditions which have been brought about by the advent of the hundreds of jitneys which are plying their trade and adding intolerably to the normal congestion which had been rapidly growing acute even before disturbed transportation conditions opened its inviting field to still more of the jitneys.

Quite apart from the element of peril to life and limb growing out of the maze of vehicles, either parked to constitute an almost complete blockade or dashing about the streets in reckless fashion, the merchant is clearly entitled to a hearing on traffic conditions. Upon them a very large percentage of his business, if not his very existence, depends. He has a purpose, both as a citizen and as a business man, in desiring the very best possible solution of a real problem—a problem so serious that it cannot be equitably solved without the exercise of much thought and judgment.

The merchants make it very clear that they are not making war on any division of the transportation element. Least of all do they desire to discourage the use of the down-town streets by automobilists. Rather would they encourage it by the relief of congestion that would make it possible for every car-owner, public or private, to use the down-town streets freely. The action of the merchants is taken in no spirit of carping criticism or of ill-natured complaint. The business men are merely anxious to aid in bringing about some solution of the traffic problem that will permit the freest and safest use of the public thoroughfares.

Following the tremendous showing made by this year's wheat crop in the United States comes the authoritative information that the corn crop is the most valuable ever grown in this country, reaching a total of nearly two millions of dollars and amounting to more than three billions of bushels. There can no longer be any doubt that the regiment of corn champions is beginning to show results. With the figures of 1915 before us, it is just a trifle difficult to give credence to the wails regarding the decadence of agriculture. Some of the boys may be deserting the old farm for the city, but there is ample evidence at hand to show that a good many of their competent brothers—not to mention the old man—are still on the job and are making good at it.

With Mr. Kitchin, the new democratic house leader, announcing his opposition to the administration defense plan, the prospects for some very likely congressional doings at the session beginning in December appear to be immensely improved. Mr. Kitchin's opposition, he announces, will be merely as an individual and not as party leader on the floor of the house, and it will be interesting to observe the strategic plan under which Mr. Kitchin, congressman, will maintain a distinct entity separate and apart from Mr. Kitchin, house floor leader of the majority.

European dispatches bring the information that in the opinion of many of the Belgian people Brand Whitlock, the United States minister who is coming home on a furlough by reason of impaired health is a king in America. Mr. Whitlock was mayor of Toledo so long that we suspect some such an idea must have gained foothold there also before he rose to greatness in the diplomatic world.

Congressman Nick Longworth is one of the speakers chosen for a big republican rally which is soon to be held at Wabash. Colonel Roosevelt's son-in-law has not been recently occupying so prominent a place in the public spotlight as was his wont in the days when he was a blushing bridegroom, but he has apparently not discarded all intentions of making a sincere attempt to come back.

Speaking of anxious moments, that term seems particularly fitting as a description of those now being endured by Mr. Stanley in the count of the votes on the Kentucky governorship. With an apparent plurality of 10,000 trimmed down to an uncertain 327, we take it that the former congressman has some ground for indulging in a bit of worry.

Another Goshen official has pleaded guilty to charges of extortion and the court has assessed a fine and affixed a brief jail sentence as the penalty. Some Goshen officials have apparently been going on the presumption that the time to get is while the getting is good.

PRESIDENT'S DAUGHTER GUEST OF HONOR ON PACIFIC COAST.

The winter season in society life is in full swing and the Pacific coast, the mecca of nationally prominent folk, is showing evidence of this fact. Montalvo, the palatial home of Senator James Duval Phelan, near San Jose, Cal., swung wide its portals Oct. 23, the honored guests, William T. McAdoo and Mrs. McAdoo, charming daughter of President Woodrow Wilson. The luncheon was served on the veranda, after which the guests wandered about the beautiful grounds or enjoyed the art treasures of the mansion. The picture shows left to right: Mrs. W. B. Lamar (wife of Judge Lamar) and Mrs. McAdoo (wife of Secretary McAdoo).

SECOND CHOICE VOTING.

(Kansas City Times).

While Peter Witt was defeated for mayor of Cleveland in the election of Tuesday, he received a majority of first choice votes. The vote for Witt was 39,861, while his successful opponent received only 36,884 first choice votes. Had Witt been running under the old election law, such as governs in Kansas City, he would be mayor today.

In Ohio a voter indicates his first, second and third choice, or as many choices as there are candidates of his party on the ticket, and all the choices are counted. Thus, while Witt had upwards of three thousand more first choice votes, Davis had enough more second and third choice votes to make his total 47,771, against Witt's total of 44,940.

In Toledo George A. Murphey, candidate for mayor, received one thousand more first choice votes than Charles M. Milroy, the progressive candidate, but with the second choice votes counted in, Milroy had 597 more and was declared elected.

At first thought the system seems unfair. But it is not. Suppose, for the sake of simplicity, that there should be a community with one hundred voters, sixty radical and forty conservative. Suppose there should be two radical and one conservative candidate for an office. Under the usual system while a majority of the voters are radical, they might elect the conservative by giving one radical candidate say twenty-five votes, the other thirty-five, and the conservative forty. But with the system of second choice votes the forty conservative voters would naturally refrain from any second choice, while the radical candidate with thirty-five first choice votes might be expected to get twenty-five second choice votes, a total of sixty votes, and so win the election. While he would have fewer first choice votes than the conservative candidate he would really represent the sentiment of the community.

A TIME TO SPEAK.

(Indiana Daily Times).

There are times when it is good to speak out and define party policy. There may be other times when it is wisdom to refrain from arbitrary declaration of a party position on international issues. It seems to us the republican national party ought to take counsel within itself; ought to bring to bear its very best and safest thought in a period such as the present to determine party policy and party methods. We very much doubt if any one man, no matter what his official position in the republican party, is either authorized or qualified to commit his party to a definite line of procedure having to do with the issue of thoughtful loyalty to the United States. It is not too much, perhaps, to remind National Chairman Hilles, of the republican organization, that politics and partisanship, in a crisis, must stop at the water's edge. There is a reasonable question, at this time, if it would not be wiser and better and more patriotic to defer indefinitely the announcement of a party attack on the nation's international policy. After all, the administration's policy becomes the nation's policy, and events might require that all parties unite to support it. There is good and useful purpose in criticism as we go along, where criticism is based solely and unselfishly on a desire to put the nation right. The minute a political party assails the administration's international policy there arises the cry that for partisan ends an attempt is being made to divide Americans against themselves. It seems to us it needs no Hilles and no partisanship to instruct the voters as to the wisdom or the unwisdom of the administration's course. Events will teach the truth most forcibly.

FOOT THEIR OWN BILLS.

(South Bend Tribune).

Two jitneys full of people collided in Fort Wayne, Ind. Five or six were seriously hurt. Fort Wayne is another city where jitneys are not regulated. The injured will foot their own bills.

CURED BOY OF CROUP.

Nothing frightens a mother more than the loud, hoarse cough of croup. The labored breathing, strangling, choking and gasping for breath call for instant action. Mrs. T. Neureuer, Eau Claire, Wis., says: "Foley's Honey and Tar cured my boy of a serious attack of croup after other remedies had failed. I recommend it to every one as we know from our own experience that it is a wonderful remedy for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough." It clears air passages, soothes and heals.—Dreier Drug Co.—Advertisement.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Thickness and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.—Advertisement.

WANTS PEACE HINT FROM BOTH SIDES

By Gilson Gardner.

Washington, Nov. 9.—From sources usually reliable I have it that President Wilson has been approached by the German ambassador on the subject of mediation and a discussion of terms of peace. These efforts, I understand, have produced no definite results. The indications are that peace suggestions will also have to come from the allies before President Wilson will move.

Since Count von Bernstorff returned to Washington, he has called several times on Secretary Lansing and an informal interchange has taken place covering numerous subjects. It is understood that the German ambassador has pointed out, among other things, the change which has taken place in the German submarine campaign and an explanation has been volunteered to the effect that this change is the result of an effort by the German government to avoid further causes of offense to the United States and to keep the good will of our country. And further that this good will is to be drawn upon in the immediate future in the way of a request for the good offices of the American government as an intermediary to peace.

That Germany would like to discuss terms of peace is indicated in other ways by many inspired outgivings. Some of these even name the terms on which peace discussion would be welcomed and it is notable that these terms are less extravagant than those named six months ago. Belgium would be given up. Only the return of part of the overseas colonies is now asked, and except for the "indemnity" from Great Britain, which is obviously a condition put forward for trading purposes, German terms are now practically a "call quits" proposition. Boundaries would be restored, except Alsace and Lorraine, and Germany would profit by her extension over Poland and her virtual control of the Balkans and Turkey.

President Wilson is sufficiently in touch with the British and French ambassadors to know that these terms are entirely unsatisfactory to the allies and that any efforts at mediation by him at this time would be distinctly unwelcome.

In spite of the discouraged mood of the British at the present time and their wrangling over the Asquith cabinet, conviction is strong even in England that the war must be fought to the end. A declaration of the new premier of France, M. Briand, correctly expresses the sentiment of that nation. The alarm caused by the German drive into the Balkans has abated somewhat, and the allies are taking a calmer view of the outlook. The grounds they find for encouragement are the reports from Germany of new food restrictions imposed by the government, indicating a scarcity of meats and fats. These are attributed in part to the unexpectedly bad crops—except potatoes—and the tightening of the embargo by the use of the British submarines in the Baltic. The latter are effective in cutting off a considerable supply of fish and other provisions which have been finding their way to Germany from Sweden.

The main reason, however, why the Germans would gladly quit now is found in the fact that the long war will be a measure of resources and in such a test Germany cannot match the tremendous resources of the nations marshalled against her. England is master of the seas and is drawing on her own colonies and the economic resources of the United States, as are France and Russia. Germany's strength was in her preparedness and that strength is gradually being worn down. It is estimated that three and one-half million German and Austrians have already been permanently removed from the firing line in killed, wounded or prisoners. The allies have suffered losses, but their losses have been met by fresh recruits with the exception of France, whose losses are estimated at two million. The addition of the Italians, served to fill the gap of French losses and the British recruits have been double the British losses.

Ammunition is now pouring in a steady stream from America, and Russia has begun to mobilize her industries, as France and England have done, for making shells and explosives. A shortage of everything will prevail in Germany if the war is continued another year, and it is predicted that unless peace can be brought about at the present time, Germany will then be fighting for her life as a nation rather than for the spoils of her victories up to date. There is nothing encouraging toward peace in the reception of overtures made in Washington. President Wilson is unwilling to take action which would be unwelcome to any of the belligerents.

An ice breaking steamer built in Sweden for the Russian government has cut its way through ice fields thirty feet thick when using only half its power.

IT'S RATHER UNUSUAL—

W. H. VAN ORMAN.

—for a citizen to be informed by the government that he isn't as old as he thinks he is. W. H. Van Orman, of Kalamazoo, Mich., has just found out that he is not 66 years old, but 64, and that he is the youngest living civil war veteran in the United States. He enlisted in the Michigan Fifteenth, when he was really 13 years, 9 months and 14 days old. He thought he was over 15. Since he was a mere lad he has cared for himself and he has not seen his parents. He thought he was born in 1849, but after he applied for a raise in pension when he thought his 66th birthday arrived the government looked up his birth record in Erie county, New York, and found that he was born in 1851. He was in Sherman's march to the sea.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat also take glass of Salts before eating breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coats and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Advertisement.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

CONFESS TO MANY ROBBERIES.

Automobile and Grain Thieves Lodged in Huntington Jail.

Huntington, Ind., Nov. 9.—Automobile robberies within the last few weeks, the theft of two sacks of clover seed from Silver-Gelsleichter elevator, and the attempted burglary of the Joe Slater saloon on East Market street Saturday night at 12 o'clock, were cleared up by the confession to the police of F. H. Clear, of Peru, William Overstreet and H. L. Watt, of Huntington. Clear implicated Robert Aker of Huntington in the theft of the clover seed and Harry Vardaman's car, and the attempted theft of the Rev. E. W. Cole's automobile. He was arrested and admitted his guilt. All four are in the Huntington county jail. The crimes to which the young men confessed are:

Clear, Overstreet and Watt—stole a five passenger Reo automobile from the A. S. Meed garage at Peru, Saturday evening, drove to Huntington and attempted to enter the Slater saloon; were frightened away and drove to Wabash. there they abandoned the car and returned to Huntington on Wabash train No. 2, in an effort to establish an alibi; took the Parvin and Howenstine cars during the municipal Hallowe'en celebration; stole Dr. A. H. Northrup's car last Wednesday evening, while he was attending medical meeting.

Clear and Aker—Took the clover seed and Harry Vardaman's automobile, losing their nerve and abandoning clover seed in the country; forced the lock on the Cole garage, but were discovered.

ALTON MYERS WAS KILLED.

Body of Portland Jitney Victim Arrives in Wolcottville.

Wolcottville, Ind., Nov. 9.—The body of Alton R. Myers, formerly of Wolcottville and Kendallville, who died in Portland from injuries received in a jitney-street car smashup, arrived here last evening. Accompanying the remains were the widow and infant child. Myers was injured Saturday, October 30. He was working as a driver of a delivery wagon for the Portland Laundry company, and leaving his home in the morning at 7 o'clock he took a jitney to go to work. The machine was caught in a jam between two street cars and crushed. Myers received a crushed skull, a fractured jaw and internal injuries. It was decided to send the body for burial at Wolcottville, his former home.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon, November 10, at 2 o'clock, probably in the Baptist church. Burial will be made in the local cemetery. Myers was about thirty years of age. He spent his early life in this place. Some years ago he worked in Kendallville at the McCray factory.

LANTERN EXPLODES; BARN BURNS.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 9.—The big barn of Frank Pincheon, two miles south of Wolf Lake, was completely destroyed by fire. The fire originated from an explosion of the lantern which Mr. and Mrs. Pincheon were using to furnish light while milking. Immediately following the explosion flames sprung up all around, and Mrs. Pincheon's clothing was ablaze. Fortunately she had on a large apron that covered her dress well and by stripipng this off she saved herself. Her hands were quite badly burned, but otherwise she escaped and considers herself very fortunate. The barn was a large one, and was over 100 feet long, counting the shed at either end, and forty or more feet in width. It contained a quantity of oats, rye and fifty tons of hay, a big wagon, buggy, and a number of farming tools. The fire was a very hot one and attracted neighbors for several miles.

VAN WERT COUNTY FARMER DIES.

Van Wert, O., Nov. 9.—Seth Welborn, a widely known resident of Ridge township, dropped dead quite unexpectedly, while walking about the yard at his home, five miles east of the city. His death was due to heart trouble and came without a moment's warning. He had been talking and joking with a neighbor and as the friend walked on he dropped dead and his life was gone when relatives reached his side. Mr. Welborn, who was 56 years of age, was a native of Van Wert county. He was twice married and is survived only by a wife, several step-children and one brother.

BUTLER LADY IS CALLED.

Auburn, Ind., Nov. 9.—Mrs. Harriett Beard, wife of Charles Beard, of West Main street, Butler, died after an illness of several weeks from Bright's disease. The deceased was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Powers and niece of the late Judge Powers, of Angola. The late Mrs. Beard was a prominent member of the Christian church and active in literary circles and W. C. T. U. societies. The funeral was held this morning at 10:30 o'clock from the Christian church of Butler and the body was taken to Angola, where a short service will be held from the Chapel. Interment at the Angola cemetery.

BLUFFTON NATIVE BURIED.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 9.—Funeral services were held this morning in St. Joseph's Catholic church, for Mrs. J. T. Connett, who died after a week's illness of acute Bright's disease. Mrs. Connett was formerly Miss Mary Enright and she was a native of Bluffton, teaching for a number of years in the Bluffton schools. Her husband, a traveling salesman, who has been located at Macon, Ga., and one sister, Mrs. J. C. Grieshcimer, of Cincinnati, are the only surviving relatives. Mrs. Connett was arranging to move to Macon to join her husband when her last illness began. Her father, Timothy Enright, was a prominent politician in Bluffton and for years served as street commissioner.

JUST TIME TO SAVE LIVES.

Huntington, Ind., Nov. 9.—Heat and the flare of flames starting from an overturned or exploded oil lamp awakened Walter Patterson, at his home on London street. He had barely time to save his own life and the lives of his two small children, his sister, Mrs. Bert Latta, and her daughter, eighteen months old. All escaped with nothing but their night clothes, except for a new pair of shoes and a cap carried out by Mr. Patterson. House and furniture are a total loss, with no insurance on either.

EPIDEMIC OF MEASLES.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 9.—The outbreak of measles in Columbia City has come and the city health department is making an effort to stamp it out, or at least try to prevent any serious or permanent results from the disease. It has been raging throughout Smith township and particularly Churubusco for several weeks and in several cases the patients will be permanently afflicted as a result. The quarantine law is quite strict and prohibits children who have not had the disease from associating with children or persons who are afflicted.

HURT IN FALL FROM HORSE.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 9.—Charles Geiger, the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Geiger, had his left shoulder dislocated Saturday evening when he was thrown off of a horse. He had gone to the pasture field and was riding around in the Tuttle bottom, when he lost his balance some way and fell off. He was taken home by John Conkling and later to the office of Dr. O. V. Schuman, where the dislocation was reduced.

The dead are: William Shellabarger, 68, retired merchant of Littleton; Mrs. William Shellabarger, 60; Mrs. Catherine Broemmel, 70, Littleton. Fatally injured: Miss Mary Broemmel, 36.

Mrs. Field and her companions called upon Senator John W. Kern and addressed an open air suffrage meeting. They left for Dayton, O., later.

Society

Charming in every way was the luncheon given by Mrs. Ben Levy and Miss Ruth Levy at 1 o'clock today at their home, 915 West Berry street, at which the announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Levy's chum, Miss Carrie Stiefel, to G. Irving Latz, formerly of Baltimore, Md., but in recent months in business in this city. Soon after the guests were seated at the table the maid appeared in answer to a summons at the door bearing a tray of telegrams which a messenger boy had just delivered. The message was the announcement of the engagement and was a complete surprise to the group of young girls present, who included intimate friends of both Miss Stiefel and Miss Levy. Congratulations then showered upon Miss Stiefel were a delight to hear as they were expressive of the affection which her young friends entertain for her as well as a delight in her own happiness. The luncheon was most appetizing and elegant in service. Tiny Japanese pink parasols attached to the place cards were but one dainty detail of the beautifully laid table in lacy lace with a low bowl of pink roses and chrysanthemums, corsage bouquets of the same flowers and tiny bows of pink tulle that added further attractiveness. The guests were Mrs. Louis Stiefel, Mrs. George Latz of Baltimore, Mrs. H. O. Bruggeman, Mrs. Dan Milligan and Misses Helen Puckett, Ruth Gumpper, Mary Evans, Janet Bower, Martha Tolan. Miss Stiefel is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stiefel, of West Wayne street. Mr. Latz is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Latz, of Baltimore, and he is buyer for the cloak and suit department of the Frank Dry Goods store.

The decorations for the supper were especially pretty and elaborate. From the chandelier over the table hung tiny doll angels and at each end of the table and in the center were vases of pink roses. A tiny vase at each plate contained a rose and both vase and flower formed the favors for the guests. Other rooms were trimmed prettily with red and white crepe paper ribbons. WHAT WILLING WORKERS NEED

The Willing Worker's society needs something just now that some kind housewife has standing in her barn or summer kitchen waiting for a place to "put it." And "it" means a cook stove, or a small eating stove or a mattress, for all three are much needed by this splendid charity organization. The stoves might be loaned to the society for an indefinite time if any good, kind lady has any objection to giving away iron. Besides clothing is needed, too, and house cleaning time is such an easy time to find outgrown shirt waists, stockings, pants, coats, sweaters, dresses, jackets and underwear. A telephone to 6530 black will insure a call at the home of the giver to get the donations to be made.

HER ENGAGEMENT TO YOUNG BUSINESS MAN IS ANNOUNCED.

There was still time for objection to be raised and Choate's opinion was asked.

Choate replied directly to Mellen, stating that he did not know much about the properties in question but that in view of the fact that the Northern Securities case was still pending, he advised against "doing anything that might be a violation of the Sherman law."

Our Old Friend, the Blouse, Still With Us

By Betty Brown.

The frilly little blouse, that friend of "other days," is surviving the popularity of the one-piece gown. But the blouse must have new and strange frills if it's to compete with its many rivals.

Quite a "dress up" air is given to a charming little waist I saw the other day made of white crepe de chine, with collar and cuffs and two little fluffs at the front faced with messaline silk in old blue. The soft leather belt and the hat band were striped in blue of the same shade.

BETTY BROWN TELLS OF LATEST IN FASHIONS FOR FAIR SENTINEL READERS

NO HATPIN NEEDED WITH THIS NEW DANCE HAT.

By Betty Brown.

You may think she is wearing a scarf but she isn't. Neither is she wearing a hat pin. With the new dance hat the treacherous pin is unnecessary. Three or more yards of soft velvet fastened at the right side of the hat drawn softly about the neck then flung in graceful, careless folds across the left shoulder, and behold! Milady's hat is safe, and her shoulders are charmingly decorated.

This picturesque substitute for a hat pin is the invention of Miss Ethel Hill, whose drawing room dances and drawing room frocks are so much admired in New York and Chicago. The dance hat—which always stays in place—has become very popular since Miss Hill recently introduced it.

GAY, EVEN GAUDY, ARE NEW SKIRTS.

Everybody's wearing them—the new red skirts. They were designed for sport wear but school girls and girls no longer in school have appropriated them for wear on all occasins.

The skirts of vivid hue are, of course, unadorned by flares or ripples—there's such a thing as too much color. Quite the best looking one seen was cut perfectly plain and finished at the bottom with a two-inch hem and at the top with a two-inch belt of the goods faced with white, just a hairline of the white showing. Two slanting pockets were decorated with red bone buttons edged with white. They're gaudy, garish things, but the swish of a red skirt does send the blues a-scurrying.

BELTS.

Belts, as such, have disappeared, but have you noticed that almost all of the new suits have the belt line indicated by cut-out-motives, embroidered arrows or some other ornamentation? A street suit which Mme. Alla Ripley, of the Fashion Art League of America, has designed for the national fashion show has the waistline marked by an embroidery design in black and silver. The full skirt is mounted on a yoke which forms a soft girdle and the coat has the full flaring sides without which no coat is considered modish. The loose pocket is cut in with the coat. The high gauntlet collar and the narrow

Some of the Ft. Wayne shops are displaying a line of corduroy skirts that set the average school girl "crazy" to have one for she really believes there is nothing else quite so "dear."

A LA FOOT PAD
THE PEEP HOLE HAT —WHY NOT?
NOSE HOLE THROUGH COLLAR

Fashion has decreed that chins and ears were not to be fashionable this winter—

And so smart women are conforming to the edict by pulling their hats down and their collars up.

Simple, isn't it—and so smart.

In the accompanying illustration the artist has shown the newest style—the narrow brimmed high hat and the ear high fur collar.

The artist, carried away by his own imagination, has also sketched a few other "effects" which he thinks may result from the new style.

Some Serious Words About New Fashions

It is remarkable what an influence boot styles have exercised over the modes and vogues in other dress and accessory lines.

Hosiery has betaken a new lease upon life. Designs were never more unusual and varied, while the colored stocking rules where formerly only a black stocking would be considered.

Nowadays the black stocking is an occasional choice, so far as modish dressing is concerned.

Skirts have winged their way higher, in order, one would suppose, to give the hosiery and fine booteries a chance to be seen. This heightening of the skirt lengths, or shortening of them, whichever way you prefer to consider it, has succeeded in wrestling the waistline from its downward intentions and raising it a bit above the normal in order that the silhouette may preserve its balance.

One must agree that this readjustment of values has to take place when milady's dress skirt shortens its lengths so decidedly, else ugliness and disproportionate lines would result.

A short skirt must project from a raised waistline, or the figure will be thrown out of balance.

Of course, long skirts will always be worn. There are in every community enough conservative women who refuse to accept new styles until the ardent pioneers have discarded them in order to accept another novelty.

It is this sort of woman who preserves the eternal verities of dress and provides a suitable background in her dressing against which the absurdities or frivolties of her more adventurous sisters pass in kaleidoscopic parade.

This woman will not wear fancy shoes will possess half French heels, a and so a happy medium is struck in presenting to the modes for this year a semidressy boot, dark in color and frivolous in cut only.

This is why you will see so many women this year, whose tailleur will be a model of sobriety in cut, color and length; whose hat will be all that is decorous and sober, not too small or too large; whose gives will be the same sort she has worn for years, but whose shoes will posses half French heels, a longer swing to the last, a suggestion of white stitching and an adorable, frivolous cut to the boot top which will be at variance with all the rest of the costume.

Have no fear this boot will prove the open sesame to a career of individual dressing for the woman who has made such a departure from prescribed rules to such an extent that she will begin to study herself, instead of being a replica of hundreds of other women dressing in the same manner.

Instead of considering it good taste to dress in the old way, she will realize it is good taste to be inconspicuously consistent with the trend of today's fashion, and select her styles to suit her own type of beauty instead of merely becoming an animated tailor's mannikin.

Considering the question of skirts, again one is compelled to realize that their extreme shortness and fullness are incidental to other changes of the fashionable silhouette, which are more or less obvious.

This is nowhere more markedly apparent than in the new cuts being given to sleeves.

A wise fashion prophet of many years' experience has observed that no new mode is decided until the sleeve has changed in style and outline, and as if in direct concurrence, it is only too apparent that the smart sleeve for 1916 will be short and full for evening dress and full and puffed for day wear.

The leg-o'-mutton has made great headway in its march toward style recognition, and is booked for a long stay among us as a stylish and favored sleeve pattern.

The long forearm, tight-fitting sleeve portion, with its decorated cuff and buttoned to the elbow outlines, is topped with a beautifully cut full upper sleeve, which blouses itself over the lower sleeve in charming folds and drapery.

In a gown seen recently designed of black velvet for afternoon wear the skirt, short, wide and very full, hung from a slightly raised waistline.

A narrow belt of black satin buckled it into snug position, apparently, for above the belt a full ruffle of the velvet was met by white lace hemstitched to its edge, and which formed the blouse portion of a bodice of the same, posed over flesh-colored crepe.

A high collar of cream satin was buttoned with black jets. The sleeves, however, were of white lace over the pink crepe, but were as wide and full as they would be were they miniature skirts. They puffed into the top of an elbow length portion of sleeve make of black velvet, tightly buttoned to the arm and flaring over the wrist sufficiently to show the frill lined with cream-colored satin, which matched the collar. Tiny jet nail heads outlined a leaf pattern on the satin facing.

With this frock was worn an overcoat of striped silk banded with black velvet.

The points of difference were full coat sleeves to the wrist, a ruff collar of velvet and a wider belt.

This coat, by the way, is an excellent design to utilize for the modeling of a coat from two, and even three, kinds of materials.

It will be splendidly adaptable for the woman who wishes to economize in the remodeling of last year's evening cape, or who, perhaps, could utilize two evening gowns and make one evening wrap from such resources.

Truly, the fashions have never been more considerate of the woman with a moderate income than they have this year.

Mirror of Style in This Green Gown

By Betty Brown.

Stunning—there's the word that describes this street costume in Hunter's green, and if you would know the modes of the moment notice the unevenly pointed coat, the short, flaring skirt, the choker collar and the fur-trimmed sleeves, which Mme. Allie Bailey of the Fashion Art League of America introduces in this frock for street wear.

The skirt is made with a short yoke from which falls tapering pleats which ripple unevenly at the bottom; the back is made in tunic effect to correspond with the lines of the coat. The coat is of hand length, that is, it extends as far as the finger tips reach, and of course, it is semi-fitted.

The gray fox fur cuffs and choker collar make a rich trimming for this smart street suit.

Sweet Simplicity But Has Good Style

By Betty Brown.

The school girl doesn't always love simplicity—more's the pity.

A school girl frock that has the charm of simplicity, but lacks nothing in style, is this one-piece model made in navy blue gabardine trimmed with a sash and tie of old gold messaline.

Two wide pleats falling from the bust line well below the line of the hip are slashed at the waist and the sash is drawn through these slits. Two narrow straps of the cloth cross diagonally at the back and are fastened with buttons just above the waist line.

FURS DO SEEM TO BE IN FASHION.

The muff pockets are no longer novelties. They are not as foolish as they sound.

The ankle muffs also ran in fashion's popularity race. The little bands of furs snuggly round my lady's ankles are no longer fads, they are fashion.

Fashions Fantastic

Sometimes milady's boots are topped with muffs of fur, and sometimes with cuffs of leather. If leather is used it matches the shoe in color and is stitched on about six inches deep around the top, giving quite a military appearance to the boot that "peeps in and out" beneath her near-hoop skirt.

The "golden girl" is the belle of the fashion world just now. The smarter dance frocks, blouses and tailored frocks in broadcloth or the new suede cloth are made up in the color of the "American eagle."

Skirts have spread out so that dressmakers have designed little "cartridge" or pouch pockets for the sides to secure the fullness at the sides. She would adorn youth in gay colors and gaudy baubles, forgetting that her own youth is her chief charm.

The Tam O'Shanter—with a rakish Harry Lauder sort of tilt to it has taken its place among millinery modes. Sometimes it's made of expensive velvet—and quite often it's an affair of worsted gayly striped in green or blue.

The "lined-in" skirt, as the dressmakers call it, has come into favor again—the full, flaring skirts of soft fabrics are hardly manageable without lining.

A heavy corded hem gives a suggestion of hoops to prim tailored skirts.

The new sleeve is sometimes tight and sometimes wide, sometimes it's a bishop sleeve, sometimes a military sleeve, but always it's a log sleeve, if intended for daytime wear.

Patch pockets trimmed with fur are fetching adornments seen on many of the new top coats.

NECK FIXINGS.

Madame's chin disappeared several weeks ago in the folds of the chin-chin collar and now her ears go "following after" for the newest fixings perk right up around the ears.

The fluffiest of the new ruffs that everybody seems to be wearing these days is built of triple rows of accordian pleated blue tulle flaring up in funnel shape from a wide band of mink or other dark, rich fur.

The Tommy Atkins belt has been borrowed to adorn the throats of maids who like military modes. The inch-wide straps of suede or silk are bound in silk and finished with a silver buckle; they hold in place the high flaring lingerie or linen collar that so worries us when it refuses to stand up.

A motion picture camera that uses glass plates instead of films and also can be used to project pictures has been invented in Europe for amateurs.

Japanese remove the pucker from persimmons by inclosing ripe fruit for several days in air-tight casks that have contained sake, the native wine.

No Fuss or Frills for Miss Sixteen

By Betty Brown.

"Frills and fussiness" are all very well for Big Sister, but Little Miss Sixteen is only well dressed when she's simply dressed. It was from Mme. Alla Ripley of the Fashion Art League of America, that I gleaned this bit of wisdom, and then to prove how much charm and simplicity may be achieved without "frills or fussiness" she brought forth this clever little dress which she calls ""The Puritan."

It is made of invisible plaid serge with cuffs and collar and belt finished with gold galoons. The short, flaring skirt, and the jacket, short and flaring, too emphasize youthful lines. The stitched-in belts falling in loose ends from the front of the coat is a permissible bit of ornamentation on this frill-less gown. The little hat of black satin with its big silver buckle is just the hat for the girl who wears a Puritan gown.

FABRICS FOR FALL.

Loveliest of many new fabrics brought forth this fall in the suede cloth a velvety material as soft as chamois, and lends itself admirably to the panniered drapes now so popular.

Velour de lain, woven entirely of wool with no silk threads to make it perishable is another material noted in many of the new gowns.

A fabric often seen in the new blouses is a combination of metal cloth and ribbon in stripes.

Most startling of all the new fabrics is the imitation fur used mostly for coats and wraps. It's price runs up to the exciting figure of $15 a yard.

Rural schools in Ohio are to introduce courses in etiquette and table manners, having flaunted to the breeze the slogan, "Finger bowls on every farmer's table."

HOPE IT'S COLD!

Collar muffs are seen in the local shops. That's about all you can see when a coat with an over-the-ears collar is donned. And wouldn't it be the meanest thing if, after all, we should have an "open winter."

THE LADY IN BROWN IS NOW THE BELLE OF FASHION WORLD.

By Betty Brown.

Let me introduce you to "the lady in brown," for you'll meet her often this autumn, brown gowned, brown bonneted and brown booted, but despite her neutral color scheme by no means lacking in charm.

A brown gown is not necessarily a dull gown. Mme. Reichert of the Fashion Art League of America proves this in the princess gown I've sketched here which combines two tones of brown. Charmeuse satin in seal brown is used with chiffon in lighter strips of brown.

The chiffon is used for the underwaist, the sleeves, and for a pleated front breadth for the skirt. But lest that front breadth have a barber pole effect three bands are set across it, a satin band about the bust line, a strip of brown fur at the waistline and below the hipline another band of button trimmed satin.

The satin falls from the under-arm into box pleats at the sides edged at the bottom with brown fur. Three narrow bands of fur also trim the deep cuffs. The funnel shaped collar is linked together in front with ribbon drawn through slots. Bronze boots are, of course, worn by the "lady in brown."

HOW DAME FASHION LOVES TO SPREAD HERSELF—HOOP COATS NOW.

By Betty Brown.

As the "flare" skirt takes on new ripples the "flare" coats spread out into veritable billows which suggest that we may have the "hoop-coat," as well as the hoop-skirt before the season ends Just to show you what we are coming to in the way of "flares" and such, I sketched this tailored suit which Mme. Marguerite, of the Fashion Art League of America, has designed for early winter wear.

As extra finish, you'll notice, fall from the close fitting waist line, giving extra fullness and the much desired "touch of originality" to the coat; the "flare" is confined to the sides, the front being prim and straight-lined.

Punched-in steel silk forms the design on the flaring cuffs and on the coat, and purple panne velvet edges the points of the deep collar and faces the cuffs. The circular skirt is the part six-inches from the ground length the suit is developed in the smooth surface rock spun cloth in grey.

ANNUAL REPORT OF SECRETARY FARREL

Baseball is Stranger Than Fiction According to His Dope.

San Francisco, Nov. 9.—Many interesting details in connection with the professional baseball season of 1915 which, for many reasons, was non-productive of financial benefit to those most closely identified with the national game, were included in the annual report of Secretary John H. Farrell, which he presented at the annual meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues here today.

A resume of the business transacted by the national association during the year showed that forty minor league organizations embracing 262 cities and towns in the United States and Canada qualified for membership in 1915 as compared with forty-four leagues representing 309 towns and cities in 1914. Ten of these leagues did not complete the season of 1915 and five of the thirty which started failed to complete their season's schedules. One of these was disqualified and the other four dropped out, their failure to continue being attributed mainly to the unusually adverse weather conditions which prevailed. In one league 165 games were postponed on account of rain in a four months' playing season.

Five thousand four hundred and seventy-two players' contracts were received, recorded and promulgated by the association during the year. One thousand and three players were released by purchase out of two thousand eight hundred and forty reported to the office of the association for release. Ninety-one optional agreements were approved between national association clubs and thirty-nine optional agreements were exercised by national association clubs. Six hundred and seventy players were reported for suspension and 256 were reported for reinstatement. Seven drafted players were claimed under the waiver rule and 738 disputed cases were adjusted by the association during the year. Seventeen players were drafted by the National league and a similar number by the American league.

Out of $72,800 received by the association for drafted players the American league contributed $23,409 and the National league $21,950. In all $129,557 passed through the office of the national association during the current year for drafted players, optional agreement players and others released by purchase.

WENT TO THE HOSPITAL.

C. E. Blanchard, postmaster at Blanchard, Cal., writes: "I had kidney trouble so bad I had to go to the hospital. Foley Kidney Pills were recommended to me and they completely cured me. I cannot speak too highly of them." Sufferers in every state have had similar benefit from this standard remedy for kidney and bladder ailments: It banishes backache, stiff joints, swollen muscles and all the various symptoms of weakened or diseased kidney. New Central League President to Meet Local Men.

E. W. Dickerson, of Grand Rapids, new president of the Central league, will be in the city tomorrow to confer with Louis Heilbroner on matters pertaining to the league. Now that Louis Heilbroner is no longer president of the circuit he can become a stockholder and director in the Fort Wayne team and can devote some of his time and his baseball knowledge to the management of the local club.

Terre Haute Men Wish Reconsideration of Paroles.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—During the last week or ten days insistent efforts have been made to induce the department of justice to rescind its decision not to grant paroles to any of the Terre Haute election law violators, whose cases were considered at the recent meeting of the parole board at Leavenworth penitentiary.

It has been represented that denial of paroles on the showing made at the recent hearing will mean, in effect, that paroles will not be granted to any of the year and a day men, as the next meeting of the parole board will not take place at Leavenworth until next January-January. The information obtained from the deparement, which evidently is direct and reliable, is that these pleas have not changed the situation in the least and that all of the prisoners sentenced for a year and a day will have to serve their full sentences, with the customary allowance for good conduct.

SEES PEACE NEAR IN BASEBALL WAR

Ebbets Very Optimistic as He Arrives at San Francisco.

San Francisco, Nov. 9.—Peace soon will be declared with the Federal league on terms "highly satisfactory" to organized base ball, Charles H. Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn National league club, said on his arrival here today to atend that convention of professional base ball leagues.

Ebbets denied he had any message from either the National or American league to the minor organizations. He is the only representative of the major league interests here, but others are expected during the day.

Indications were that the convention which opens today will be largely attended.

Fed Leaders Meet

Indianapolis, Nov. 9.—Federal league club owners were in Indianapolis today for the annual meeting of the league, which was expected to convene early in the day. It was believed that only routine business would be transacted by the base ball men in this city, but they were expected to discuss negotiations for peace with "organized" base ball at a meeting to be held within the next few days at French Lick, Ind., or in Chicago. It was reported that Charles Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox; Jacob Ruppert, of the New York Americans, and a representative of the New York Giants are among those who have made hotel reservations for the latter part of the week at French Lick. This is taken by some of those interested to mean that the Federal league will go to French Lick to discuss peace with the representatives of "organized" base ball.

Appellate Court Affirms Judgment in Damage Case.

Indianapolis, Nov. 9.—The appellate court has affirmed the Randolph circuit court in giving Lena E. Cloud, as administrator, a judgment of $6,000 against the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad company for causing the death of Charles Cloud.

It was shown that Charles Cloud was driving north along the road, and his horse evidently balked on the track, and another engine near was making such a noise that he failed to hear the approaching train, which did not stop at the sight of the horse and wagon and the man making an effort to get the horse off the track. The court says the evidence sustains the judgment and that the damages awarded are not excessive.

That Signor Randegger should have selected the World's Standard Piano as an interpretative medium, is evidence of how fully he understands the superb quality of this magnificent instrument.

The overwhelming reception accorded Signor Randegger is evidence ample and conclusive that the Managers of the Palace Theater, Messrs. Undoubtedly Signor Randegger is the Greatest Pianist appearing in Vaudeville today. This is your opportunity to hear this young Pianist, who is also a growing composer of the Newer School.

We have now in stock a splendid assortment of Steinway Pianos, finished in all the natural woods. All other makes of Pianos and Player Pianos taken in exchange at their full value. Terms to suit.

While in this city, Signor Randegger will visit us daily from 11 to 12 o'clock.

SPELD 104 E. ANTHONY HOTEL BLDG. FT. WAYNE OFFICE LIMA OHIO

TO FLUSH MAINS IN EXTENDED SECTION

All the Worms Have Not Yet Been Swept from Water Pipes.

The board of works within a short time will probably segregate a large section of the southeast portion of the city from the public water service for a day and give all the mains a thorough flushing. This course has been practically decided upon because it is found that not all of the little worms that began some days ago to emerge from service taps in that part of the city have been expelled from the pipes. The reservoir has been thoroughly cleansed and a number of mains in that vicinity have been flushed. Reports made to the health department Tuesday that worms had been taken from the tap of a residence on Wallace street proved that the worms had not been got rid of and the board will doubtless include an extensive district in the section to be temporarily segregated in an effort to finally get rid of the pests. It has been decided that the reservoir shall be covered so that there will not be a recurrence of the plague of worms.

MAY AMEND LICENSE ORDINANCE.

That the question of amending the gasoline filling station ordinance will come up in the city council Tuesday evening now seems quite certain. The owners of filling stations in the districts more remote from the center of the city object to the fee and many of them are delinquent. They complain that the business does not pay and that the license is a hardship. The ordinance may be amended so that the license will apply only to stations situated within the fire limits of the city. The city charges $5 a year for such stations.

BOARD FINDS WORK PROGRESSING.

After an inspection trip, the board of works reported progress on outdoor public improvements that are still under way. The Modllering Construction company began to pour concrete Tuesday for the Wayne trace pavement, the same company is getting along with the new dam across Spy Run in Lawton park and the new pump house for the Broadway station is almost completed. The sewer work in the southeast part of the city still drags.

LOTS TO FRONT BOULEVARD.

The park board has approved the plat of Rudisill place, the lots having been replatted so that they front on Rudisill boulevard. The property is owned by A. F. Skeer and instructors of the Bible training school and lies on the south side of the boulevard between South Wayne and Tacoma avenues. The park board will ask the city council Tuesday evening to appropriate $400 to the park board account—$200 of the sum to be used for legal advertising and $150 for engineering and inspection work on Rudisill boulevard improvements.

WILL SOON EXAMINE PLANS.

The board of works and the city engineer expect to begin within a few days to examine in detail the plans submitted by the Pennsylvania and Wabash railroads for track elevation east of Calhoun street and to soon have that procedure ready for the next step. It is not believed that it will be necessary to extensively dissent from the submitted plans to make them conform to what the city desires to have done.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

LITTLE GIRL FOUND HAPPINESS.

Her Sad Plight Touched the Poet's Heart and World Gained "The Blue Bird."

There is a legend in the folklore of northern France that the possessor of the blue bird will attain happiness. Peasants tell the story to their children, and, unlike the folklore of the Anglo-Saxon people, it is firmly believed and frequently acted upon by the little Norman boys and girls, who search for the elusive winged creature in the woods.

One winter evening Mme. Maeterlinck, wife of the famous poet, brought to her husband at their home in Saint Wandrille, Normandy, word of a little girl whose mother was a poor widow, and whose sister was sick for want of medicine and food. The child, trusting the old wives' tale, had actually wandered out into the forest in the cold and the snow after the blue bird, the finding of which she believed firmly would give her mother and sister health. The poor little thing was found in a half frozen condition by Mme. Maeterlinck.

The poet and his wife attended to her immediate necessity and then went to the home and brought real happiness thereto by providing clothes, food, medical attention for the sick sister, and finally seeing to it that the mother of the family obtained employment. The story appealed to the sensative, sympathetic side of Maeterlinck's nature. He set to work and in the course of a few days wrote a novel based on the incident.

"But why don't you dramatize it?" asked his wife.

"Impossible!" exclaimed Maeterlinck. "The scenes are in fairyland and therefore utterly incapable of realization."

But Madame Maeterlinck insisted and gradually his vision saw a drama build itself out of the fantastic narrative. "The Blue Bird" was published. As a literary work it at once scored a striking success with the reading public. But it remained only a book play for several years before there arose a "commercial" manager with courage sufficient to stage it. And here again Mme Maeterlinck's intuition proved itself correct.

"She got behind" the initial production in a promoting capacity, furnishing plans, sketches, designs for the Fairyland illusions and the trick spectacular scenes. "The Blue Bird" will be seen at the Majestic Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with Saturday matinee.

LIKE A TRIP TO THE COUNTRY

New Palace Stage Transformed Into a Barnyard.

With a pair of porkers rooting and grunting about the stage poking their inquisitive noses into Hiram's lap while he is trying to be romantic, chickens scratching food and pigeons flying about their cote built above the mossy old pump, the setting for the rural farce comedy sketch "Hiram" which is being presented as the top laugh product of the big fun bill at the New Palace, is as good as a trip to the country. Every minute one expects the broad calm face of a muley cow to be poked over the barnyard fence mooing the information that it is time to come for the milk. Fred J. Ardath and company are presenting this riotous rumpus that is spreading joy over the vaudeville fans thicker than a hungry, unrestrained boy would spread jam on a piece of bread.

The bill is essentially for fun purposes, but there is one big serious act on it, that done by G. Aldo Randegger, the celebrated Italian pianist. Signor Randegger is an artist of consequence, playing with the vim and fire of the artist, and conveying his thoughts to his audience by making the most difficult passages of the great composers simple truths comprehensible to the most ordinary musical mind.

Frear, Baggette and Frear have an unique setting for their juggling high speed act. The boys use baseball bats instead of the ordinary Indian clubs. Kennedy, Nobody and Platt possess singing voices of unusual timber and indulge themselves in a merry bit of chatter of an argumentative turn. Different dancing doing furnish Burns and Lynn some clever opportunities. Miss Joan Vernie's novel manner of taking her audiences with her to her dressing room between songs and dances puts her act over big, while of course O'Brien, Havel and company are well received in a neat skit.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

ETHEL BARRYMORE IN FILM.

Great Emotional Actress at Orpheum in "The Final Judgment."—Mantell Thursday.

Lovers of the better class of photo-dramas are in store for an exceptional treat when Ethel Barrymore, the most beloved actress on the American stage, takes the screen at the Orpheum theater today and tomorrow in a picturization of George Scarborough's trenchantly appealing society and problem drama, "The Final Judgment." Throughout the five acts it carries a gripping and engrossing story of the love of three men for one woman, and this versatile dramatist has treated the theme with astonishing cleverness. It is easily the best work of Miss Barrymore and Mr. Scarborough, the brilliant star being provided with any number of opportunities to bring to the fore those trenchant dramatic powers, the possession of which has made her the foremost emotional artiste of our stage.

On Thursday and for two days following Robert Mantell is presented at the Orpheum in "The Blindness of Devotion." Genevieve Hamper, the most beautiful woman in stageland, is seen with Mr. Mantell. Stuart Holmes is also in the cast.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

MARGUERITE CLARK A CIRCUS QUEEN.

Scores Triumphs in Feature Written for Her by Edith Barnard Delano.

Marguerite Clark, the dainty little actress who has won the hearts of the motion picture public, is being starred by that feature concern in 'Still Waters,' a story of the circus and of canal-boat life, written especially for Miss Clark by Edith Barnard Delano. This rare combination of comedy and drama is the Paramount attraction at the Jefferson today and tomorrow.

The play is one with a canal boat, rural and circus atmosphere. An entire circus was leased for the presentation of those portions of the story of circus life. Three weeks were spent at Easton, Pa., by the company to obtain the proper settings for the action that transpires along the canal and on the old barge. The scenic beauty of the Delaware river and thed Lehigh Valley canal, which parallels it at Eastop, lend rare charm to the tale. Harry La Pearl, America's most famous clown, was engaged for the picture also. Lovers of Marguerite will be delighted with this latest vehicle. Added feature, Pathe News. Thursday and Friday one of the greatest present day features. Trilby, with Wilton Lackeye and Clara Kimball Young, will be the chief attraction. Everything considered, things should point to a great week at the Jefferson.

INTEREST CENTERS IN FEDERAL HEARING

Thorough Investigation of Activities of the Unions is Sought.

Interest in the street car strike situation in Fort Wayne now centers in the hearing before Judge A. B. Anderson in the federal court at Indianapolis, Thursday, when the United States Mortgage and Trust company, bondholders of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company, will press their claim for a temporary restraining order against the city of Fort Wayne, Mayor William J. Hosey, Joseph C. Colgan, member of the executive board of the Amalgamated Electric Railway association, local labor leaders and fifty-eight members of the newly organized carmen's union. The hearing for a permanent injunction is set for Monday, November 15.

Shaw were summoned Monday afternoon to appear in federal court at Indianapolis Thursday morning with records and books of the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor, showing what organizations of union labor are affiliated with the federation and with what organizations it is affiliated and its relation to the State Federation of Labor and the American Federation of Labor; also any and all minutes of meetings of its representatives since September 15, 1915; also any and all correspondence, telegrams or other communications in writing, passing between the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor or its officers and the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America or William D. Mahon, president; R. S. Reeves or any other officer or executive board member of the Amalgamated Association.

Extra Cars Again Operated.

Extra cars were again operated to the Wayne Knitting mills Tuesday morning, but were not very well patronized. Officials declare that from now on these cars will be operated daily. The extra cars were operated Monday evening to take the employes of the Wayne Knitting mills to their homes, but only a few rode. The cars were surrounded by more than 1,000 employes of the mills and for a time trouble threatened.

Will Care for Injured.

At a meeting of the members of the Jitney Bus Drivers' local union No. 410, Monday evening, an appropriation was voted with which to pay the hospital and doctor bills of all those injured in the jitney bus accident at Harrison and Lewis streets Saturday morning. A committee composed of Frank Moser, C. W. Keen and J. Bodine was named to investigate the accident and to recommend the expulsion from the union of the driver responsible for it. Twelve new members joined the union.

HERE TO PURCHASE STRUCTURAL STEEL

French Commissioners Come to Place Big Orders in America.

New York, Nov. 9.—Five members of the French industrial and commercial commission landed here today from the steamship Lafayette and said they came to arrange for the purchase, at the conclusion of the war, of at least $160,000,000worth of structural iron and steel, machinery, and industrial supplies. All supplies of this character, the commissioners said, were formerly imported from Germany. The commissioners said that while they are here primarily to purchase supplies necessary to reconstruct and modernize French industries when the war is over they will endeavor to establish reciprocal trade relations between the United States and France The commission is headed by Maurice Damour, formerly French consul general at New Orleans, now secretary of appropriations of the French chamber of deputies. Although this commission is not a government organization, it is backed, the commissioners said, by all the large industrial and commercial organizations of France and a majority of the bankers. "Before the war France imported a large portion of all structural iron and steel, industrial machinery and all manner of supplies from Germany," said M. Damour.

"But it is now conceded in France that the great friendship shown by the United States will bring about close relations between the two republics at the conclusion of the war."

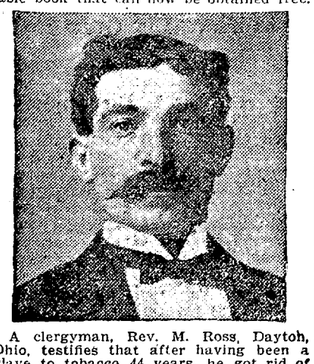
Smoked Cigarettes For 22 Years

Habit Was Ruining Him, But He Conquered It in Three Days, Easily.

The portrait below is that of Mr. P. J. Elizagaray, a well-known citizen of Livingston, Montana, who knew that his life was being ruined through the pernicious habit of cigarette smoking, yet could not find anything to stop it and solve the nervous craving until he got the remarkable book that can now be obtained free.



A clergyman, Rev. M. Ross, Dayton, Ohio, testifies that after having been a slave to tobacco 44 years, he got rid of the habit entirely in a few days, greatly improving his health.

QUIT TOBACCO, GAINED 35 LBS.

Everybody in Mangum, Okla., is talking about the big change in Al Reeves; he put on 35 lbs. in healthy flesh since getting rid of tobacco habit through the information gained in the free book which you may also easily obtain.

That he could never quit was the fear of George Ambugh, Pearl street, Philadelphia, who was a slave of tobacco for many years, but after getting the book, he learned how the habit could be conquered in three days. Now he writes that he is forever free from the craving and is in much improved health.

BOOK GIVEN FREE.

A valuable, interesting book on how to overcome the tobacco habit (in any form) has been written by Edw. J. Woods, 1312 A, Station E, New York, N. Y., and he will send it free to anyone who writes asking for it, as he is very anxious that all who are victims of the craving for tobacco, snuff, cigars, or cigarettes may save themselves easily, quickly, gently and lastingly. Eyes, heart, kidneys and stomach improved, nerves tranquilized, memory improved, vigor gained, and numerous other benefits often reported. —Advertisement.

Portland Now on the C., M. & St. P. System.

Portland, Ore., the Rose City of the Northwest, has been added to Seattle and Tacoma as a terminal of the northern line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway. On November 7, by a new traffic arrangement with the Oregon-Washington R. R. & Navigation Co., through service was instituted between Chicago and Portland. This new service will be operated in connection with the luxurious steel "Columbian" over the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway by way of Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis to Spokane, thence over the O. W. R. & N. Co. This is another indication that the "St. Paul" is not overlooking any opportunity to entrench itself in the northwest, and its position in that section is growing stronger every day. Shortly it will put into electrical operation 440 miles of its main line through the Rocky mountains, and thus the most ambitious electrification project in railroading will become an accomplished fact and the traveler, for the first time in mountain traction, will be able to witness "The Passing Show" from open window or observation platform without the discomfort of smoke, dust, cinders, gases and other undesirable incidents of steam travel.

SHOT INTO BUNCH OF DECOYS.

"Oh, look at those ducks," said Thomas Hayes, of the Nickel Plate, to his brother, Denny Hayes, of the Wabash, one day last week as they were gunning on Sylvan lake at Rome City. But they didn't raise and an investigation revealed the fact that they were "decoys" placed there by a hunter who had temporarily gone off the lake. The Hayes brothers spent several days at the lake last week and had good luck in catching fish and bagging game.

The Grand Rapids papers tell of an automobile accident in which a car driven by General Manager W. B. Wood, of the G. Engineer H. D. Vickery and Fireman E. H. Hunsaker, who by diplomacy were able to keep Peter Frisella, the Italian who shot Patsy Barbo on Sunday, on their engine until they could turn him over to the officers at Knox, arrived home this morning, having completed the round trip to Stony Island. Engineer Vickery and Fireman Hunsaker discovered the Italian on their train and about the same time received a message telling them to look out for him soon after leaving the city. They expected to turn him over to the authorities at Claypool, but failing in that they carried the man to Knox, where he was arrested as stated by The Sentinel yesterday. Frisella was induced to get into the cab, where he remained quietly until removed by the deputy sheriff at Knox.

HELD FOR STEALING AUTO.

Colored Men Arrested at Logansport for Theft of Indianapolis Machine.

Logansport, Ind., Nov. 3.—Denton Hall, age twenty-six, and Ray Vass, age twenty-two, colored, of Indianapolis, are held in the Cass county jail on charges of stealing an automobile from Walker Smith, 595 East Drive, Woodruff Place, Indianapolis. The machine had been run without oil, and one of the cylinders was badly burned. The men stopped at Michigantown to have repairs made, and left the top of the automobile and tires to pay the repair bill.

Suspicion was aroused there, and notice was sent to Frankfort and this city.

The machine was stolen Wednesday night from the downtown district in Indianapolis.

She Knows What She Wants

The well informed housekeeper insists upon using only a baking powder which is made of cream of tartar. She might read in an advertisement or be told that alum and lime phosphate, which are used as inferior substitutes in cheap baking powders, were all right in the quantities used but she would not buy them or permit them to enter her kitchen. Why?

Because she knows that cream of tartar has always been accepted as the most wholesome agent, with soda, for raising cake and biscuit, and she wants a baking powder made of cream of tartar, like Royal.

This conclusion is the result of unconscious absorption, either her own or her mother's, of the opinions of the highest authorities on hygiene and home cooking.

The prudent housekeeper, when she uses baking powder, reads the names of the ingredients printed on the label. She knows what she wants.

AMERCIAN SCHEME IS PROVING POPULAR ONE

Coaching Parties at The Hague Yield Revenue for Refugees.

The Hague, Netherlands, Oct. 15.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—The "tally ho!" of a coach horn, blown by an American, calls out the people of the villages in the vicinity of The Hague two or three times a week just now, as a well-equipped four-in-hand swings along the roads, the team also "tooled" by an American. It is the war which is responsible for this unaccustomed sight in Holland. The entire proceeds of the coaching trips are handed over to various societies for the relief of refugees from Belgium and other non-combatants of all nationalities rendered necessitous by the hostilities in progress in the neighboring countries. The coach itself is appropriately named "Relief."

The idea was worked out by Marshall Laughorne, secretary of the American legation, and some colleagues. He one day found a mail-coach relapsing into decadence in a livery stable. The sight of it took his mind back to the old coaching days in Virginia, and, as he soon afterwards met Aurel Batonyi, the American "whip," who had just come through from relief work in Belgium, the idea of coaching in aid of relief work and at the same time combining with it an element of sport was born instantly.

A four-in-hand team was got together after much search and was soon worked into shape, and the trips began—first to summer resorts in the near vicinity and then extending to Leyden and Haarlem and other far-off cities. Relay teams were sought and found available at convenient stages and now the coach runs regularly with either Mr. Langhorne or Mr. Batonyi holding the reins—all the receipts from passengers going to the relief of non-combatants, while the parents of the idea themselves defray the expenses and in return get not only their sport but the knowledge of doing a good turn to deserving people.

MILKMAID'S LOVE WINS OVER RICH FATHER'S ANGER.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 6.—While Charles E. Peabody, Seattle millionaire member of the Pacific coast section of the federal bank reserve board, offered fabulous rewards for their discovery, his 17-year-old son, Penfield, and his bride, formerly Miss Martha Stewart, were still in hiding, following a sensational elopement.

Penfield and Miss Stewart, 19-year-old daughter of a Bothell dairyman, after an acquaintance of two months, beat the Seattle police department, deputy sheriffs and a score of private detectives to Chehalis, October 23, and were married by a country justice.

Peabody's indignant dad almost caught the pair near Bothell, as they were escaping in an automobile. But the young man, seeing his father peeling the pavement at his very heels, ditched the machine, wrecking it, and he and Miss Stewart fled into the woods.

William J. Flannery, one of the witnesses at the wedding, is charged with perjury. It is alleged he swore young Peabody was of legal age.

For nearly a week the young couple have been hiding in the city or nearby, it is said, with Peabody's detectives searching unavailingly high and low.

GERMANY ENTERS A DENIAL.

Says English Court Testimony in Passport Cases is False.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Germany, in a note which reached the state department today, denies flatly testimony alleged to have been given in English courts that German officers "prepared false American passports and handed them to agents" and expresses doubt that such testimony ever actually was given.

The note is in reply to a letter presented by Ambassador Gerard, on July 31, directing the attention of the imperial government to statements said to have been made by Robert Rosenthal and George T. Breckow, when they were on trial in England as spies. It is suggested that a false passport found on Breckow probably was issued by one of "certain individuals on occupied territory and also in neutral countries," who have endeavored to make a trade of selling such papers at a good price. If Rosenthal and Breckow really made the statements accusing German officials, the note says, it must be assumed that they were induced to do so by threats, promises or other pressure.

Do this once or twice a day, and you will be astonished how quickly the healing, antiseptic Resinol medication soothes and cleanses the pores, removes pimples and blackheads, and leaves the complexion clear, fresh and velvety.

If the skin is in bad condition through neglect or an unwise use of cosmetics, apply a little Resinol Ointment* and let it remain on ten minutes before the final washing with Resinol Soap.

WOMEN HISS LAWYER; DRIVEN FROM COURT

Several Faint During Sensational Scene Monday at Richmond.

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 9.—When Henry U. Johnson, arguing in a case in the Wayne circuit court yesterday afternoon, questioned the integrity of the late Louisa M. Bentlage, former cashier of one of Richmond's largest department stores, who committed suicide a year ago, more than 1,000 women spectators packed into the court room arose en masse and created a demonstration such as never before was witnessed in the city.

After a storm of hissing and shouting Judge Sparks, of Rushville, who has presided over the trial during its three weeks' duration, ordered the sheriff and bailiff to clear the room and another wild demonstration ensued. Women became hysterical, imprecations were hurled at Attorney Johnson and several women fainted.

Forced Out of Court.

Still hissing and shouting, the crowd was forced out of the court. This required so much time that Judge Sparks ordered Johnson to complete his argument in the jury retiring room. Several arrests on charges of contempt of court are anticipated.

The trial was the result of a claim filed by H. C. Hasemeier, owner of the store in which Miss Bentlage was employed, who demanded approximately $10,000 from her estate, alleging she embezzled the money in her service of nearly twenty years. Miss Bentlage was one of Richmond's best known German-American citizens and was active in church work.

An army of women stormed the court house early in the morning to hear the final arguments in the trial. Many of them brought lunch baskets. No trial in the history of the county has ever been so largely attended. The jury received the case late in the afternoon.

MORE PURE BRED POULTRY

By Otto E. Hackman.

The coming local poultry show, which is to be held next January, will without doubt, stimulate renewed activity in pure bred poultry raising. Many that heretofore have taken little or no interest in chicken raising will become favorably impressed by the display of the many varieties of pure bred fowls on exhibition and will decide, either then or later, when the opportunity presents itself, to own a flock of pure bred birds of their chosen variety.

In my opinion, it is not the city-lot poultryman, but the farmer, who is averse to taking up thoroughbred poultry raising as a paying proposition. Some farmers, although the number is fast decreasing, seemingly cannot be convinced that the raising of pure bred fowls is not merely a hobby—a source of pleasure only. However, just the opposite is true. It is the pure bred flocks, intelligently bred, that are proving paying propositions, while the "dunghills," or nondescript varieties, are doing little, if anything, in putting dollars into the pockets of the owners. The mongrel or mixed flocks never command more than market prices and the eggs they produce can only be sold at the prevailing market price. Pure bred fowls, of careful breeding, always command good prices, and the owner of such a flock will always find it well worth while financially and otherwise, to breed and retain only the best. While all the progressive farmers breed and own pure bred cattle, and other live stock, and will go to practically any expense to improve the quality and the productiveness of the same, yet they hesitate when it comes to making an effort to improve the quality and productiveness of their fowls, presumably considering the matter insignificant. However, just because they do not consider the subject worthy of their attention is just the reason they do not realize the profit that is rightfully theirs.

The farmer, as a rule, desires a breed that will produce eggs, and lots of them, and that will produce them in winter when prices are highest and the greatest profit can be realized. With fresh eggs retailing at close to 40 cents per dozen at the present time, and with prospects of going to 50 cents when cold weather sets in, consider the profit that could be realized by the owner of a flock of pure bred winter layers. The farmer usually complains of the scarcity of eggs during the winter months. This fact can often be attributed directly to the quality—or, to put it more correctly, to the lack of quality—of the stock he possesses. If one really desires, the laying ability of a pure bred flock can be brought to a high state of efficiency. Close culling and careful selection of the breeding stock will do wonders in improving the productiveness of the flock. In most farm flocks of today, there are too many hens of the kind that may be termed "wasters." Some have passed the age of usefulness and others, either from lack of physical stamina or on account of inferior laying ability, are not profit payers and should be culled out. On all the large egg farms of today, and on the plants of those that make a specialty of supplying fresh eggs and market chickens to a select trade, only pure bred fowls are found, and the grade of the product is such that top prices are always commanded.

The farmer also desires a breed that is of good size and will weigh well when placed on the market and that will make a good appearance when dressed for the table. Pure bred fowls, of a certain variety, when put on the market, will present a uniform appearance and prove attractive, whereas those from the average farm flock will be of every size, color and description. A general purpose breed will answer the purpose of the farmer most admirably. One of the best varieties of this breed, I find, is the White Wyandotte. As an all-around, general purpose breed it has no superior. From the standpoint of beauty and vitality, it is all that can be desirtd. The Wyandottes, owing to their abundant feathering, and their neat, rose combs, are especially adapted to the production of eggs in winter, for they withstand the severe winter weather remarkably well. They adapt themselves to confinement more readily than do the lighter, more active breeds, and come out in the spring with vigor practically unimpaired.

JURY TOOK A JOY RIDE.

Hartford City, Ind., Nov. 9.—An early morning automobile ride taken by the jurymen, who remained out all night during which time they took forty-six ballots on the case of Dick Starr, charged with the theft of $2 worth of coal, caused their arraignment before Judge Eichhorn, to explain their conduct when it was reported to the judge that they had left the jury room before reaching a verdict.

The matter was taken seriously by the judge for a time until he was told by the court bailiff that the jury had reported its verdict to him before the joy ride. A Montpelier man reported to the judge that he had seen the members of the jury in Montpelier Friday morning, looking over the ground, when the coal car stood, from which Starr stole the coal. John Hasson, automobile agent, who was on the jury, invited the jurymen to take a ride in two of his new cars. Starr was found guilty.

Getting Rid of Blackheads And Other Aids to Beauty

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them. To do this get about two ounces of plain powdered neroxin from any drug store. Sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge, rub over the blackheads briskly, wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin. Pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores and do not get them out after they become hard. The powdered neroxin and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

A soft, velvety complexion is the envy of every woman, and any woman can have her heart's desire if she will, before retiring every night, wash the face, arms and neck with plenty of good soap and warm water, dash on cold water, dry thoroughly, and then apply freely a cream lotion made by dissolving one ounce of powdered zintone in a pint of hot water. This will give to the complexion that soft, velvety appearance so much admired and sought.

Women troubled with excessive perspiration in the armpits and other parts of the body can easily overcome this embarrassment by using a little hydrolized talcum on the parts. This simple powder will immediately destroy all body odors and control perspiration. It certainly will solve the soppy dress shield problem.—Advertisement. 10-12-21-15

FRANCHISE LEAGUE AFTER MRS. STIMSON

Asks Resignation of Terre Haute Woman in Federation Fight.

Indianapolis, Nov. 9.—The board of directors of the Woman's Franchise League of Indiana voted yesterday to ask Mrs. S. C. Stimson, of Terre Haute, to resign as a member of the board.

Strictest secrecy was maintained regarding the meeting and it is not known in what manner the action will be disclosed formally to Mrs. Stimson or at what time. The request grew out of the recent contest for the presidency of the Indiana Federation of Clubs in which Mrs. Stimson was active as an opponent of Mrs. Lewis J. Cox, of Terre Haute. The Franchise League board takes the stand that Mrs. Stimson and her associates resorted to objectionable political tactics that caused an injury to the woman's movement in Indiana.

Dr. Amelia Keller, president of the league, and other members of the board, when questioned regarding the action, gave evasive answers. There is a rule that the board meetings are to be regarded as strictly private and that no member can discuss any action taken without a breach of faith.

Earnest Speeches Are Made.

It is known, however, that several earnest speeches were made against Mrs. Stimson at the meeting and that the action asking her to resign was taken by about a two-thirds vote. Mrs. Cox, whose election as president of the club federation was opposed by Mrs. Stimson, is the first vice-president of the Woman's Franchise League of Indiana.

When the subject of asking Mrs. Stimson's resignation was brought before the board it immediately aroused much spirited discussion. The speakers favoring the motion declared that the methods used by Mrs. Stimson and her colleagues in opposing Mrs. Cox were not worthy of the best in the womanhood of Indiana. The Franchise League, they declared, is striving for the uplift of the community and for humanity in general, to raise the standard of ideals for both men and women.

Machine Tactics Opposed.

They insisted that it is a body which has opposed all "small" means used by men in politics and all machine tactics. The chief aim of the league, they maintained, is to support in a dignified, lofty and uplifting manner all movements being furthered by women and to eliminate all personalities. These ideals, they declared, were not observed in the recent attack against Mrs. Cox, when much that was derogatory to her—some of a purely personal nature—was said by her opponents who, they declared, were led by Mrs. Stimson.

Mrs. Stimson's supporters maintained that she had a right to her opinion, and that she did not use secret methods, nor did her colleagues.

Mrs. G. M. Henderson, secretary of the league, declined to talk about the case further than to say there must be some disloyal member of the board Mrs. Grace Julian Clarke, who was one of the most ardent supporters of Mrs. Cox in her campaign in the Federation of Clubs, also declined to talk, as did Miss Eldena Lauter and other board members.

MRS. STIMSON NOT INFORMED.

Asserts She Knows Nothing of Action Taken by Board.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 9.—When asked if she had been notified of action being taking asking her to resign from the board of the Woman's Franchise League of Indiana, Mrs. S. C. Stimson said:

"I have heard nothing of such an action. I was not able to go to the Franchise league board meeting today because of school board duties in Terre Haute. If such action has been taken it was in my absence without accusation or notice to me.

"It scarcely seems possible that intelligent women would fail to be fairminded. I was elected a director by the state delegates at the convention last March and I can not resign at the request of a few board members who have no jurisdiction in the matter. There surely was no reason for this action except that I could not, at a recent meeting, give up federation principles at their request. It is regrettable, for if we women are to have any influence or power in public life we must put principles first in all public affairs."

Another meeting of the Fort Wayne electrical men in charge of the big electrical show to be staged here the fore part of December will be held Wednesday evening at the Commercial club.

A WOMAN'S BACK

The Advice of This Fort Wayne Woman Is of Certain Value.

Many a woman's back has many aches and pains.

Ofttimes 'tis the kidneys' fault.

That's why Doan's Kidney Pills are so effective.

Many Fort Wayne women know this. Read what one has to say about it:

Mrs. Brooks, 1214 Webster St., Ft. Wayne, Ind., says: "For five years, I have used Doan's Kidney Pills as required and they have always relieved me of backache, pains over my kidneys and improved my health. This medicine we have procured at Meyer Bros. Drug Store."

The above statement was given on March 30, 1910, and OVER TWO YEARS LATER, Mrs. Brooks added: "I don't very often need a kidney medicine, but when I do, I never consider anything but Doan's Kidney Pills. They always act just right and I don't think they could be improved."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Brooks has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

Mrs. Silas B. Briggs, East Marion, Mass., writes: "I had a large sore and Varicose Veins on my legs. The sore is all healed up now and the veins are very much reduced. I am more than thankful for your Emerald Oil." Generous sample on receipt of 10c, from Moone Chemical Co., Rochester, N. Y. Meyer Drug Stores can supply you.—Advertisement.

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Advertisement.

WILLIAM ALDEN ROSE FROM NEWSBOY TO SENATOR BY TURNING OTHER CHEEK.

(This is another of our series on presidential possibilities.—Editor).

In a standpat, good, old-time republican convention there is no reason why William Alden Smith of Michigan should not be the favorite son of his state.

He expects to have that delegation. Of course, there is that ghastly thought that some T. R. man may rise up in the eleventh hour and put Roosevelt into the primaries, which might change things; but this is not at present in the cards. Smith is to lead the Michigan delegation gently by the hand and to stand as a nucleus for that grand rally to a William McKinley-like presidential candidate.

Smith dates from the McKinley era. He was a friend of McKinley and of Uncle Mark. He was young in politics then, being a comparatively new member of the house of representatives. But he was an orthodox member. He used to make tariff speeches, and nobody could do it in a more glib way than William Alden S., of Michigan.

He was orthodox on other subjects, too. He was a friend of Cannon and voted with the house organization when his vote was needed.

Smith is now a senator. He aros to this dignity from selling newspapers and popcorn. He now owns the paper he used to deliver, in Grand Rapids. Like all men who have leaped lightly from vending newspapers to living on the Avenue of the Presidents, or some similar avenue, he goes lightly over the railroad investments and other steps in the upward climb.

Foraker helped. And so did Fairbanks. Smith and Fairbanks are old chums. As a politician Smith is what the copy books tell all young men to be—sober, steady, hard working, diligent and alert.

If Smith ever met a man and forgot him, the fact is not of record.

No amount of roast ever made him mad. He has a political method of turning the other cheek, which is almost Christian.

But before the Spanish war, in Havana, he once trounced three Spanish soldiers with his umbrella.

Wm. Alden Smith.

Born at Dowagiac, Mich., May 12, 1859, he is now 56 years old.

Smith was one of Taft's confidants, and when a report reached the white house that the Chicago convention might ditch Taft in the interest of a harmony candidate, it was Smith who was sent as Taft's emissary to Chicago to handle the situation. He did. The result was Taft's nomination, the split in the party and Taft's defeat.

IF TOO FAT GET MORE FRESH AIR

BE MODERATE IN YOUR DIET AND REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT WITH OIL OF KOREIN.

Lack of fresh air weakens the oxygen-carrying power of the blood, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates and the action of many of the vital organs are hindered thereby. The heart action becomes weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed.

Fat put on by indoor life is unhealthy and if nature is not assisted in throwing it off by increasing the oxygen-carrying power of the blood a serious case of obesity may result.

When you feel that you are getting too stout, take the matter in hand at once, don't wait until your figure has become a joke and your health ruined through carrying around a burden of unsightly and unhealthy fat.

Spend as much time as you possibly can in the open air, breathe deeply, and get from any druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself every few days and keep up the treatment until you are down to normal. Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps the digestion and is designed to increase the oxygen-carrying power of the blood.

Even a few days treatment should show a noticeable reduction in weight. There is nothing better.—Advertisement.

Love Tragedy That Resulted in Buchanan Being Only Bachelor to Occupy White House.

(This is the fourth of a series of Romances of Our Presidents, appearing exclusively in The Sentinel.—Editor).

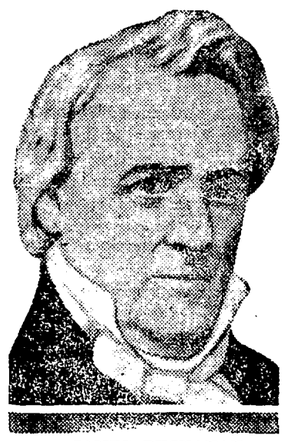
James Buchanan, the only bachelor president the United States has ever had, remained unwedded all his life because of a love tragedy in his youth.

Buchanan when 28 years old became engaged to Anne C. Coleman, daughter of a rich resident of Lancaster, Pa. The beautiful girl was of a very sensitive, retiring nature, although endowed with great determination and pride.

The course of love ran smooth for the engaged couple for some little time and then certain people began to gossip about a very small matter. As the story passed from mouth to mouth it became exaggerated and the sensitive girl grieved very deeply over the matter. Finally she sent young Buchanan a note, breaking off the engagement.

The matter—so trivial a one—might have been patched up at some future time, but shortly after sending the note, Miss Coleman made a visit to Philadelphia, where she was taken suddenly ill and died.

Buchanan's grief was pitiful, and in a letter to the girl's father, declared that he would never marry any other woman—a resolve which he kept faithfully.



JAMES BUCHANAN.

EARLY TRIAL PLAN IN BOMB PLOT CASE

Judge Howe Declines to Reduce Bail of Fay and His Friends.

New York, Nov. 9.—Lieut. Robert Fay, late of the German army, and the four men whom the United States government has grouped with him as defendants to a charge of trying to blow up munitions ships, today pleaded not guilty to the indictment found yesterday against them. They asked also for a reduction in bail, but Federal Judge Howe denied this and said he would allow the present bail of $25,000 in each case to stand.

Speedy trial—three weeks or a month hence, probably—for the defendants was promised on behalf of the government by Assistant District Attorney Knox. Fay and his brother-in-law, Walter Scholz, and Engelbert Bronhorst, unable to give bail, were sent back to the Tombs. Max Breitung and Herbert Kienzle, who have been at liberty under $25,000 bond each, were released, their bondsmen agreeing to continue their surety.

PARROT INSANE IS CORONER'S VERDICT

George J. Parrot, one of the city's leading photographers, whose body was found Sunday morning in the Maumee river with the throat cut from ear to ear, was clearly of unsound mind when he committed suicide, according to the verdict of Coroner Edward H. Kruse.

The verdict is as follows: "George J. Parrot came to his death as a result of cutting his throat with suicidal intent on November 6, 1915. I further find that decedent entered the north side of the Maumee river about two blocks east of the Coombs street bridge where said act was committed. I further find that decedent has been of unsound mind at intervals during the past year and has been worse during the last week, especially so Friday afternoon and that he was of unsound mind at the time of taking his life."

Members of his family testified that during the past year Mr. Parrot had frequently complained of a pain in his head and often declared that it made him feel like he "wanted to do something."

DECATUR MAN DENIES HE IS A BANKRUPT

In a brief filed Tuesday in the federal court by Julius Haugk, of Decatur, in answer to a motion to strike out part of his answer in the bankruptcy case brought against him by the First National bank of this city, he denies that he is a bankrupt, declaring that he could pay all the debts against him, including the claim of $10,000 of the local bank, and still have $25,000 left. Haugk admits having twenty-three creditors, but that at no time has he committed an act of bankruptcy.

The First National bank is asking that he be declared a bankrupt to satisfy a claim of over $10,000 it has against him on money loaned to the Cardwell & Mill Lumber company and to the Allison Real Estate company.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Nov. 9—Indications that wheat had begun to accumulate rapidly at the chief centers gave an advantage today to the bears. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅝c to ⅞@1c lower, with December at $1.02¼ to $1.02⅜, and May at $1.03⅜ to $1.03⅝, were followed by an additional setback and then a moderate rally.

The close was nervous, 1c to 1⅛c lower, with December at $1.02⅛ and May at $1.03⅜@1.03⅝.

Corn showed a little weakness on account of the bearish nature of the government crop figures. After opening unchanged to ¼c lower, the market receded a trifle all around but later tended to harden.

The close was steady at a shade to ⅜@½c net decline.

Oats were governed by the action of corn. There was no aggressive selling.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Nov. 9.—Numerous substantial recoveries from yesterday's violent decline were registered at the resumption of trading today, particularly among the specialties. Baldwin Locomotive rose three points to 120, and Crucible Steel 2⅝ to 76, while some of the automobile and equipment issues were better by one to two points. U. S. Steel opened with 5,000 shares at 84¾ to 85, against yesterday's close of 84⅞, and Canadian Pacific rose 2¼ to 185, with one point gains for Reading and Southern Pacific. These advances were materially reduced in secondary quotations, some issues falling under yesterday's lowest prices.

Stocks were freely supplied on the early advance, causing a general reaction. Specialties began to show wavering tendencies, but the market was again strengthened by recoveries in Canadian Reading and United States Steel. Another decline occurred in the second hour when selling pressure largely of foreign origin provoked weakness. There was a moderate rally at midday. Bonds were easy.

Representative stocks rose slightly from lowest prices and some specialties, including Studebaker, recovered half of their declines. The closing was heavy.

CENTRAL UNEMPLOYED BODY OUT OF A JOB

London Society Finds No Longer Need for Its Services.

London, Oct. 25.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—The Central Unemployed Body for London has practically gone out of business because there is no work for it to do. Organized primarily to find work for the unemployed in London it now finds there are no unemployed to find work for. The war, so far from increasing unemployment and poverty, as was generally anticipated when the conflict began, has had the contrary effect.

"After nearly fifteen months of war," said Mr. Brinsley Harper, presiding at a meeting of the organization, "there is not only no evidence of distress, but there is abundant evidence of abnormally plentiful employment and exceptionally high wages. Nor do the reports we have received indicate that the increased cost of living has led to an increase of poverty and destitution. A partial explanation may be found in the fact that owing to the great demand for juvenile labor young wage-earners have been able to supplement the family income to an unprecedented extent."

Under these circumstances, Mr. Harper explained, it had been decided to close most of the offices of the organization and to retain only enough clerks to keep the machinery at the head office going.

Membership of labor unions in England increased by nearly three-quarters of a million persons during the year 1913, according to a belated report, just issued by the registrar general. The total membership at the end of the year was 3,265,000.

This growth, which is far in excess of any previously recorded, is attributed to extended propaganda work and improved organization during a period of great industrial unrest. The largest increase occurred in the National Union of Railwaymen, the membership of which more than doubled.

During the same period there was a corresponding increase in the treasuries of the various unions, and at the end of the year the aggregate balances of the labor organizations reached nearly $33,000,000.

Dealers Must Label Them, Says New York Official.

New York, Nov. 8.—All cold storage eggs sold in this city after Nov. 14 must be stamped as such and all dealers in them must display signs stating that cold storage eggs are on sale, says John J. Dillon, state commissioner of foods and markets, in a warning bulletin received by egg merchants today.

Mr. Dillon asserted that he is informed that 75,000 cases of cold storage eggs are being sold and consumed in New York city weekly as strictly fresh eggs.

MEN ON STREET CAR CREW HEAVILY FINED

Found Guilty of Assault on George Hughes a Week Ago.

Charles Henry and Edward Dales, composing the crew of a South Calhoun street short-line car, were found guilty in the city court Tuesday morning of assault and battery on George Hughes, a colored man, a week ago, and Judge H. Waveland Kerr imposed fines of $25 and costs in each case. Attorney Samuel L. Morris, of counsel for the Fort Wayne Traction company, appeared for the men and entered a plea of guilty, with mitigating circumstances in the case of Henry, and not guilty for Dales. The testimony showed that after applying an offensive epithet to Hughes, who was leading a horse beside the track early in the evening, November 1, and being answered by Hughes, who called them "scabs," the crew ran the car to the end of the line and on their return stopped the car where the negro was and abandoned their duty to give him a beating. Hughes, two young white women who were with him and a white man, who was near by, testified to the assault and stated that with drawn revolvers the men chased Hughes from the street. Henry and Dales denied that they had been armed. Both swore that Hughes first called them "scabs" and that on previous occasions he had insulted them.

Italian Gunman is Held.

Pete Marello, the Italian who on Sunday afternoon shot and dangerously wounded Patsy Barbo, a fellow countryman, during a drunken brawl at Hoagland avenue and Melita street, and was brought back Monday afternoon from Knox, Ind., where he had been turned over to officers by a Nickel Plate freight crew, was arraigned Tuesday morning on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill. The case was continued until Friday to await the outcome of Barbo's injuries and Marello was held without bond. Marello sticks to his story that he shot Barbo in self-defense only after his firing into the air had failed to check the onslaught of Barbo and his brothers.

Negro Shooter Bound Over.

Anson Preston, the colored man, who shot Joseph Colquitt, alias Joe Davis, also colored, on State boulevard, where both were employed in a street paving gang, October 11, was arraigned on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill and was bound over to the circuit court under $1,000. Colquitt, who for a few days was thought to be mortally wounded, was able to be in court. Preston, who is plainly demented, sought to wrangle with the court and prosecutor about his plea and one of not guilty was entered for him. He warmly acquiesced in being sent to the circuit court, saying the city tribunal was in no way equal to the task of trying his case. Preston had his inevitable pocket bible with him in court.

Jitney Driver is Fined.

Ray Smith, driver of a jitney bus, was fined $1 and costs for driving an automobile past a street car that was stopped to receive passengers. Judge Kerr warned him that conviction of a repetition of the offense would procure him a severer penalty.

Other City Court Cases.

James Carto, the French laborer, who has confessed to setting fire to the Western Gas Construction company's plant on Winter street, one night last week, purposing to destroy the works in revenge for having been discharged from his job there after eighteen years of service, waived arraignment on a charge of arson and was certified to the circuit court under $1,000 bond. He went to jail.

James Anderson and Michael Fitzpatrick, drunks, were turned loose, and Joseph Thompson, charged with assault and battery, and George Gillmore, held for drunkenness, were continued until the 16th inst., under bonds of $100 each.

The testimony for the prosecution was taken in the case of Earl Stevens, a strike breaker street car motorman, for malicious trespass and to accommodate Attorney S. L. Morris, who wanted time to look into the affair, the hearing was continued until the 15th inst. Herbert Gladbach, a jitney driver, charged that Stevens deliberately ran a street car into the rear of the jitney at Calhoun and Chestnut streets one night last week, shortly after 12 o'clock. Several passengers in Gladbach's car and bystanders on the street testified that the street car dashed upon the jitney without giving a warning signal. A whisky bottle almost emptied that had been taken from Stevens was exhibited in court and officers testified that both Stevens, the motorman, and Ross Dickinson, the conductor, had been drinking.

The case against George F. Janney, for child neglect, was continued. He was arrested Monday by City Court Bailiff George Eisenhut.

POLICE SEARCH FOR THIEF.

A squad of police made a fruitless search in the far eastern part of the city Tuesday forenoon for a thief who snatched a pocketbook from Mrs. Henry D. C. Korte, 1312 Anthony boulevard, while she was walking along that thoroughfare. The robber, who was dressed in overalls and is believed to be a foreigner, dropped the pocketbook and ran when men near by started in pursuit, and was lost sight of in the vicinity of the spoke factory. The surrounding territory was well searched, but no trace of the robber could be found.

GOES AFTER FORGER.

Detective Sergeant Charles Spillner has gone to Milwaukee to bring back Ernest Doepke, wanted here for forgery, who was arrested in the Wisconsin city by the police on information from Fort Wayne. Doepke, who is a traveling man, forged an order for the collection of $150 from Ernest Hinke for a consignment of fruit trees.

YSER SENT DOWN BY A GERMAN TORPEDO

Former Dacia, Seized by the French, is Now Prey of Submarine.

Algiers, Algeria, Nov. 9.—The French steamship Yser, formerly known as the Dacia, which was seized by a French cruiser last February while carrying a cargo of cotton from the United States to Germany, has been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine.

The news of the sinking of the Yser was contained in an official announcement made public today which read: "The French ship Yser, formerly the Dacia, renamed after her sale by the prize court, was torpedoed while conveying to Bizerta the passengers saved from the Italian steamer Eliza-Francesca. The entire crew and passengers were landed."

The Dacia formerly belonged to the Hamburg-American line. After the outbreak of hostilities she was purchased by Edward N. Breitung and changed her registry and became an American ship. Laden with cotton designated for Germany she was on her way from the United States to Rotterdam when picked up by a French cruiser last February and taken into Brest.

The seizure of the vessel later was confirmed by a prize court and a cargo of cotton was purchased through a special appropriation. In August the Dacia was sold through the prize court and her new French owner renamed her the Yser.

ENGLISH RULE IN BOTH INDIA AND EGYPT NOW MENACED

Uprisings in Colonial Possessions Explain Mysterious Secret Mission of English War Lord.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Earl Kitchener's ultimate mission during his mysterious absence from the British war office is said by confidential information received here to be in India, where, according to the same information British rule is confronted with a more serious state of unrest than has generally been known outside of British official circles.

Through the thick veil which the British censorship has thrown about the events in India and Egypt comes a statement that Nawab, Sultan Ul Mulk, the Nizam of Hyderabad, one of the most influential of the native princes and a staunch supporter of the British, has been deposed by his people.

Causes Kitchener's Move.

This development coming as one of the climaxes to successive reports of mutinies and unrest, many of which have been substantiated and admitted by the British government, is said to be the leading reason for Earl Kitchener's departure from England which has been shrouded with much secrecy. It has been officially announced that the head of the British war office was on his way to the near east, which has been generally interpreted as meaning the Balkans, where the critical situation of the moment confronts the allied forces. Information reaching the United States, however, through channels not subject to censorship is to the effect that it is well known in London among those close to the government that while Earl Kitchener may stop in the Balkans to co-ordinate the efforts of the allied forces, his ultimate destination is not only India, but Egypt as well, where the British gateway to Asia now is menaced by the Teutonic-Bulgarian-Turk success in the Balkans.

Disaffection in Egypt.

Coupled with repeated rumors of activities of German agents fomenting discontent among the native population of India have come reports of disaffection in Egypt also ascribed to the same sources.

Since the Turks failed to cut the Suez canal mainly through the prompt arrival of Colonial troops from New Zealand and Australia, it has been reported that agents from Constantinople and Berlin have been conducting a persistent propaganda among the natives Some time ago Great Britain imposed the most stringent restrictions against the entry of foreigners to India and Egypt with the announced purpose of keeping out the agents of Great Britain's enemies.

Importance to British.

The importance to the British of the reported downfall of the Nizam of Hyderabad may be illustrated by the fact that the critical moment when Turkey entered hostilities and called on all Mohammedans for holy war the Nizam of Hyderabad, head of the largest Mohammedan state in India, issued a manifesto to his people in which he declared it to be the duty of all Mohammedans in India to adhere to their British allegiance.

Competent observers point out that Japan is strategically in much better position than England to land troops in India or Egypt. If the reports of a serious situation in India are confirmed, it would not cause surprise here if the proposal to use Japanese troops there were revived.

The last reports to the state department on political conditions in British possessions in Asia were received more than two months ago, when details came of the mutiny of natives at Singa-

WILSON HEARS A NEW PLEA FOR UNION MEN

Washington, Nov. 9.—President Wilson was asked again today by a delegation of union leaders to commute the sentences of former officers of the structural iron workers' union, now serving terms in Leavenworth penitentiary for their convictions in connection with the so-called dynamite conspiracy which involved the destruction of the Los Angeles Times and ramified throughout the country. Clemency was asked for Frank M. Ryan, of Indianapolis, former president of the iron workers, and twelve others. It was represented to the president that the men have served about one-third of their terms and that the prison record of each has been exemplary. A year ago appeals for pardons were refused. The president listened attentively and took the appeal under advisement.

STEAL HORSE FROM HOAGLAND STREETS

Sheriff A. C. Gladieux and his deputies and officers in cities and towns to the north are on the lookout for thieves who stole a horse and buggy from a hitching rack in the streets of Hoagland, Monday evening. The rig is the property of Harvey Adair, a farmer residing two miles south of Hoagland. The robbers are believed to be Charles and Fred Cook, aged 20 and 24, respectively, two brothers who had been working on the farm of John Emrick, near Hoagland, for some weeks. They have disappeared and it is believed they have gone north in the direction of Kendallville, which they have said is their home. The sheriff was in the direction of Arcola looking for clue, but is using the wires to the north very extensively. The stolen animal is a bay mare 8 or 9 years old and the vehicle is a top buggy with steal tires and red running gears.

FIRE IS CONQUERED; LINER RESUMES TRIP

New York, Nov. 9.—News that the fire in the reserve coal bunker of the Rochambeau had been extinguished was received in a brief wireless message this morning from Captain Juhan. It read: "Have succeeded in extinguishing the fire and am proceeding to Bordeaux. All well on board."

The big French liner carried 651 persons and a large cargo of war supplies. When the fire was discovered every effort was made to extinguish the blaze and Captain Juhan, according to wireless message to the company's office yesterday afternoon, headed toward Halifax. He expressed the hope that he would be able to conquer the fire and his wireless message this morning showed that he had succeeded and that the Rochambeau had againresumed her course for Bordeaux. Captain Juhan did not indicate in his message the cause of the fire.

DECIDED TO IGNORE LAW

New Haven Road Gobbled Up Competitor in Face of Own Legal Advice.

BOARD FLOUTED LAWYER'S WARNING

Made Purchase Despite the Case of Northern Securities.

New York, Nov. 9.—Testimony that the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad acquired control of the Central New England railroad, a competitor, in the face of legal advice that it might be in violation of the law, was adduced today at the trial of Wm. Rockefeller and ten other former directors of that road accused of criminal violation of that law.

The advice was given, according to a letter read in evidence, by the late Chas. F. Boston, a New Haven attorney. He reminded Charles S. Mellen, president, that the Northern Securities case was at the time, 1904, still pending in the courts, and said that he was not in favor of "doing anything that might be in violation of the Sherman law."

Didn't Mind That.

The Northern Securities case forced the dissolution of the joint ownership of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads. Nevertheless the New Haven president appeared in another letter written scarcely a month later as notifying Wm. Rockefeller that he had bought control of the Central New England for the New Haven and Rockefeller in reply

BORDER TROUBLES ARE SETTLED FOR A TIME

Nogales, Ariz., Nov. 9.—With the Mexican situation quiet as a result of a failure to switch the allegiance of the Nogales, Sonora, garrison from General Villia to General Carranza, Major General Frederick Funston found it unnecessary to remain here and left today for his headquarters at San Antonio. It is the opinion of officers that conditions all along the border are settled for a few weeks at least.

MRS. STIMSON WILL FIGHT TO A FINISH

Terre Haute Club Woman Declares She Will Not Resign.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 9.—Mrs. C. S. Stimson, who led the fight against Mrs. L. J. Cox, also of this city, in her candidacy for the presidency of the state federation of women's clubs at the convention recently in Indianapolis, and whose resignation as a member of the state board of the equal franchise league was demanded at a meeting of the board yesterday, said today she will not resign.

While it was reported Mrs. Stimson's activities in favor of Mrs. Clark Fairbank for the club federation presidency is responsible for the action of the league board, it was said today by a local suffragist that this was not the reason but that a charge of disloyalty to the franchise league on the part of Mrs. Stimson was responsible.

"Mrs. Stimson sought to have the thirty-two votes of the franchise league thrown out at the club convention," this member said, "her object being primarily to prevent the vote of the league going to Mrs. Cox." Mrs. Stimson denied the charge of disloyalty and declared she would not resign.

ARRESTS MAY FOLLOW CORONER'S INQUEST

Coroner E. H. Kruse, at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, began the taking of testimony of witnesses in the inquest on the death of Miss Zemai Bechtol, of Garrett, who received fatal injuries a few days ago in an automobile wreck on the Lima road, north of the city. Howard Dilgard, Art Smit and Gonld Stanley, three Garrett young men, who were in the wrecked car, are here as witnesses. It may be that prosecution for involuntary manslaughter may be the course taken against the rider of a motorcycle who is said to have caused the accident.

Wednesday morning Coroner Kruse will begin a reinvestigation of the death of the young Nail girl at Maples, who was fatally burned. It is said that sensational testimony will be presented and that arrests will follow. Two youths are said to be involved.

The attending physician states that the little fellow is well on his way to recovery and unless something unforeseen develops he will get better. His injuries consisted of a bad fracture of the skull besides other numerous bruises. At first it was thought that his neck was broken but it developed later that it was not. His fight for life, however, is regarded as an extraordinarily heroic one.

VON HINDENBURG IN GAIN NEAR DVINSK

Lively Infantry Activity is Renewed on Front in France.

Today's War News Given in Summary

Steady advances by the forces of the Teutonic powers and their Bulgarian allies invading Serbia are reported in today's German official statement. The Bulgarians are pushing close to the main railroad line west of Alexin, having crossed the Morava near that place, which is about 20 miles northwest of Nish. They have also reached Leskovac, 25 miles southwest of Nish, on the main line to Saloniki.

Ten heavy guns and several other cannon were captured by the Germans in the taking of Kruzvac, reported yesterday. The German advance is continuing south of Kruzvac.

DAY NURSERY DOES COMMENDABLE WORK

450 Children Are Cared for Since Its Opening Five Months Ago.

The day nursery at the Home and Rescue mission, on East Columbia street, which was opened July 10, 1915, and which has been maintained ever since by the Opportunity circle of the King's Daughters, has done commendable work in the five months and the highest praise is due to the members of this organization for the efforts put forth in this direction.

Mrs. Catherine Kuhns, who has been in charge, reports that during the past five months, if each child would be counted a separate one, 450 children have been cared for. Each month the number has increased. The first month there were 49, last month there were 120 and during the month which closes today there were 127.

This week there are five regulars at the nursery and one of them is a little white headed fellow, "Donald," who has been there every day since last August. Little Clifford and Albert have still a better record. They made their initial appearance on June 14 and have been regulars, with th exception of the week. Their mother has company and since she remains at home this week the two little fellows also stay at home.

The matron was successful in finding a permanent home in a good family for a little five year old boy whose mother was compelled, on account of circumstances, to labor very hard every day, although in poor health.

The Opportunity circle are making arrangements to give an entertainment at the Majestic theater during the week of December 7. The proceeds of this affair will be added to the fund for the maintenance of the day nursery, which is a work in which the Fort Wayne public should be interested and something which they should give their hearty support.

At the beginning of the new year it may be possible, depending upon the success of the entertainment to be given, new headquarters will be secured and the work of the nursery run on a larger scale.

LOGANSPORT WILL REGULATE JITNEY

Logansport, Ind., Nov. 9.—Complete regulation of the jitney business in Logansport is aimed at in an ordinance passed by the city council at a special session last night. The ordinance requires that drivers of the jitney buses register and pay an annual license fee of $100 for five-passenger cars, $150 for seven-passenger cars and $200 for all cars of larger size. The most important section of the ordinance, however, requires each to file an approved bond in the sum of $10,000 to indemnify victims against accident in which the jitney driver may be shown to be to blame.

In another ordinance the council requires the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company to resume operation of cars on its line to Spencer park.

HERRICK WILL NOT OPPOSE MR. BURTON

Columbus, O., Nov. 9.—Before leaving here today for Cleveland, Myron T. Herrick, former governor and former ambassador to France, announced that he would not enter into a contest with former Senator Theodore Burton for the republican endorsement in Ohio for the presidential nomination next year. Mr. Herrick will support Mr. Burton for the nomination.

Mr. Herrick's statement read: "In an interview with Mr. Burton early in October I advised him that I would not enter into a contest for the Ohio delegation against him, and endorsed his candidacy. I will be a candidate for delegate at large, feeling that I can be of service in bringing about harmony in the national republican party."

R. M. MILBURN PASSES AWAY

Indiana Attorney General Expires at Indianapolis Hospital.

LEAKAGE OF HEART TAKES HIM QUICKLY

End Comes as Patient is Sitting on the Edge of His Bed.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 9.—Richard M. Milburn, attorney general of Indiana, died at a hospital here today of leakage of the heart. While he had been in failing health for more than a year, he continued his duties until three weeks ago. He was 50 years of age.

Mr. Milburn's death was due largely to his ambition to hold the highest legal office in the state. He made the race for the democratic nomination three times before he was successful in 1914. He waged a strenuous campaign for the nomination for more than a year and collapsed shortly after the state convention. His physician told him he would have to remain in bed and take no part in the campaign. For eight weeks he obeyed and then plunged into the pre-election fray.

The attorney general-elect was again taken ill shortly after the election, but was able to take office last January. Although in failing health Mr. Milburn did not quit his office until three weeks ago, when he was forced to go to bed here. He was taken to the hospital yesterday.

Death Comes Suddenly.

Death came suddenly while Mr. Milburn was sitting on the edge of his bed at the hospital this morning.

Mr. Milburn was born in Dubois county and was a graduate of Indiana university. He was superintendent of the schools in Jasper, Ind., for two terms, after which he began the practice of law. With the exception of two years, when he was associate professor of law at Indiana university, he made Jasper his home until he came to Indianapolis to assume his duties as attorney general of Indiana.

Besides his wife Mr. Milburn is survived by five children, Lieut. Frank W. Milburn, U. S. A., who is stationed with his regiment in the Panama canal zone; Miss Norma, who is a school teacher at North Vernon, Ind.; Ray, employed by the Indianapolis Traction and Terminal company; Donald and Harold, both in high school.

TRAFFIC CONGESTION IS HURTING BUSINESS

Merchants Pass Resolutions Asking for Better Regulation.

Members of the Retail Merchants' association took steps at their regular meeting Monday evening for better traffic regulations in Fort Wayne. Resolutions were passed and will be presented to the city council.

President Charles Niebergall was authorized to name a committee of three to co-operate with the Commercial club, Rotary club and the Allen County Automobile association to see what can be done to relieve the motor car congestion. Merchants on Calhoun street declare that the congestion is hurting their business.

A committee composed of M. Dukes, G. H. Heine and E. J. Golden was named to draft resolutions on the death of George J. Parrot, who was an officer of the association.

Bert J. Griswold, head of the Progressive Advertising company, gave an address on "The Pioneer Merchants of Fort Wayne," and E. W. Puckett, of the Fort Wayne Oil & Supply company, on "Factors of Business Success."

At the next monthly banquet of the association H. J. Kenner, of Indianapolis, secretary of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, will be the principal speaker. The Stevens price maintenance bill now pending in congress, also will be discussed.

LOCAL COMMANDERY TO BE INSPECTED

The biennial inspection of Fort Wayne commandery, No. 4, Knights Templar, will be conducted Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Masonic temple, Clinton and Wayne streets, by Inspector General Em. Hope Hospital Question to Be Put Up to Churches

The movement of making Hope hospital a Protestant church institution made progress at the regular meeting of the Fort Wayne Ministeriel association held Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First M. E. church. The report of a committee composed of five of the prominent members was accepted in which it is suggested that each Protestant church of the city select two members of the congregation on the board of directors of the hospital, which in turn should elect an executive board of five members.

Members of the Ministerial association, however, wish it made clear that this is not a final decision. In accepting the report of this committee it is understood that the proposition must be presented before every congregation and that the members will make the final decision.

The committee, composed of Rev. H. B. Master, Rev. A. J. Folsom, Rev. H. C. Hadley, Rev. E. Q. Laudeman and Dr. Allan K. Zartman, were appointed at a specially called meeting of the association held a week ago. This committee investigated affairs of the institution and made a lengthy report at the meeting Monday in which they also discussed the advisability of taking over the institution. The report was read by Rev. A. J. Folsom and with the exception of a few changes the report was accepted by the association as read.

The board of directors, according to the report, are to select an executive committee of five members whose duty it shall be to manage the institution.

The discussion of this important question occupied nearly the entire time of the session of the association Monday afternoon.

VICTORS TO PUT RAIL LINE INTO OPERATION

Teutonic Triumphs in Serbia Make Certain Ready Communication With Turkish Capital.

London, Nov. 9.—The central powers and their Bulgarian ally now control about two-thirds of Serbia, and within a few weeks probably will have the main Serbian railroad running through Belgrade and Nish in full operation. This will give them two routes to Constantinople, as communication by way of the Danube via Bulgaria is already open. That it has not been accomplished without weakening the other fronts is indicated by definite news of Russian advances on the Ripa-Dvinsk front, the last part of the western battle district which the invaders kept up anything in the nature of a definite offensive.

Thus far the plans of the central powers in the Balkans have worked like well-oiled machinery, but the latest news from Macedonia indicates that initiative is not to be left entirely to the invaders much longer. Reports come by way of Paris that the Anglo-French forces are making their presence felt against the Bulgarians. The entente allies claim their operations are proceeding along the whole front with success notwithstanding the handicap of operating in a difficult country.

It is reported also that the Serbians, holding part of the Macedonian front, have checked the Bulgarians, after inflicting heavy losses on them. If the Serbians can sustain the attack for a short period the French should be able to join them south of Veles.

The Russians continue their policy of sharp and unexpected attacks at various points along their front. The result of these attacks, according to Petrograd, consisted of three successful assaults southwest of Riga, two southwest of Dvinsk and three west of the Styr, south of the Pripet marshes, where the Austro-German line was broken in two places.

Except for artillery exchanges on the western front nothing of great importance has occurred recently in that theater of war.

ITALY WILL AID SERBS.

Semi-Official Note Hints at Sending Army to Albania.

Rome, Nov. 9.—What appears to be a forecast that Italy will send troops to Albania to aid the Serbs is contained in a semi-official note which says that while Italy did not participate in the recent expedition of the allies to assist Serbia she has found a better way to oppose the Austro-German-Bulgarian attack upon Serbia.

This way, the note says, was opened by the Bulgarians themselves when they threatened to invade Albania to reach the Adriatic, a design so dangerous to Italy's interests that "the mere threat must oblige Italy to take appropriate measures to frustrate it immediately."

GATHER FOR CORONATION

Diplomats and Special Envoys at Kioto for Notable Ceremony.

Preparations for Induction of Japanese Emperor Are Complete.

Kioto, Japan, Nov. 9.—Most of the diplomats and special envoys who have arrived here today to attend the coronation ceremonies are quartered at the Kioto hotel which has been refurnished from cellar to roof. Every article used was manufactured under the direction of the imperial household, constituting one of the items in the $5,000,000 budget provided to pay the expenses of the coronation.

Press representatives were entertained at the hotel by Mayor Inouye. At a historic Japanese dinner ancient dances presented by geisha girls took the guests back a thousand years in the history of the empire.

The mayor paid tribute to the important role the press has played in promoting the progress of Japan and like the mayors of American cities he took advantage of the opportunity to point out the attractiveness of Kioto and the great industrial advance it has made.

Many Americans There.

Many Americans in the city attended the celebration of the anniversary of Doshisha Christian college, which is supported largely by the public subscriptions of Americans and which was founded by Joseph Nesima, who ran away from Kioto and settled in Boston in 1863.

All the members of the cabinet are here and when they are not engaged in rehearsals for the coronation they are considering the Chinese question. They are said to believe that President Yuan Chi Kai is disposed to postpone his enthronement as emperor for a time even if he finds it "impossible" to check the monarchist movement. The impression gained here is that Japan regards the policies of the Chinese president as hostile to Japanese influence.

Cruiser Saratoga Arrives.

The United States cruiser Saratoga, flagship of the Asiatic fleet, arrived at Kobe today and gave the salute. After official visits had been exchanged Rear Admiral Albert J. Winterhalter, Commander Jay H. Sypher, his chief of staff; Commander Stanford E. Moses, of the monitor Monterey, and Capt. Frederick J. Horne, naval attache of the American embassy, came to Kioto and called on the American ambassador, George W. Guthrie.

American officials and civilians are predominant among the guests at the Kioto hotel, at which there is being held a series of luncheons and dinners. American and other guests are greatly impressed with the perfection of arrangements for their comfort. The decoration of the hotel, under direction of the imperial household, was carried out without regard to the cost. Each suite is decorated magnificently with Japanese screens of rich embroidered silks.

City Electric Light Bills are due and payable at the office, East Berry and Barr streets, on or before the 10th of November. Pay now and avoid penalty. Office open Saturday evenings.

PROHIBITION ISSUE NOW BEFORE LABOR

San Francisco, Nov. 9.—The question of whether the American Federation of Labor should go on record as favoring or being opposed to prohibition is expected to be the main issues at today's session of the thirty-fifth annual session of the organization. The question, it is announced, is to come up through a motion to be introduced by the Milwaukee delegates of brewery workers, to oust from the floors of future conventions fraternal delegates of religious organizations.

Fraternal delegates of religious organizations, including the federal council of the Churches of Christ in America, were seated at the opening session yesterday by unanimous approval of the report of the committee on credentials. The Milwaukee brewery workers contend that the religious organizations are antagonistic to liquor production and traffic.

Fine Results Shown in New York Blind School Center.

New York, Nov. 9.—Dr. William Martin Richards, who voluntarily treated 148 of the pupils in the city's blind school center has reported to the society of medical jurisprudence that ninety-six of the pupils have been cured of blindness. Dr. Richards states that from his examination of the children he is convinced that two-thirds of the pupils in the schools for the blind are not blind but can be made to see well enough to read newspapers. The physician declared tha four-fifths of the $3,000,000 annually expended on the education of deficient can be saved by proper medical inspection and examination of the eyes by competent specialists.

"Is it not cheaper," asks Dr. Richards, "to spend a million dollars a year for proper medical school inspection and have almost every child promoted each term than to spend $3,000,00 a year re-educating the children whose promotion is withheld, to say nothing of millions of dollars spent afterwards for police courts and prisons to punish these defective children?"

FEDERATION OF LABOR IN REGULAR MEETING

Many defects in the vocational school system in Fort Wayne were pointed out Monday evening at the regular meeting of the Federation of Labor. As a result the vocational committee was instructed to meet with Superintendent J. N. Study in a few days when a request will be made asking that the vocational schools of the city be conducted in the old high school building.

The following committee was named to investigate plans toward establishing a labor temple fund: J. E. Wolf, O. W. Miller, J. B. Anderson, B. Erick and John Colligan.

A press committee composed of Clayton H. Johnson, Edward Miller and J. E. Wolf was named to answer any attacks made on the car men or other labor men here. An interesting report was given by President Shaw on the recent convention of wage-earners and farmers held in Chicago.

SCHOOL OFFICIALS TO ATTEND MEETING

Superintendent Justin N. Study, of the city schools, and Superintendent D. O. McComb, of the county schools, and Messrs. Ernest W. Cook, A. L. Randall and W. H. Shambaugh, members of the Fort Wayne school board, will be guests Tuesday evening of the Fort Wayne Real Estate exchange at its regular weekly luncheon and meeting at the Commercial club. Each of the guests are expected to give short talks. Louis Curdes, chairman of the finance committee, will make his report.

GENERAL MICHELON RETURNS FROM WAR

G. W. FROST DIES IN WEST.

Fort Wayne friends will regret to hear of the death of George W. Frost, formerly of this city, which occurred recently in San Diego, Cal. Mr. and Mrs. Frost and their two children, Minnie and Frank, lived in this city for many years, and were widely known among the young people. Mrs. Frost, whose maiden name was Kitty Little, is well remembered as a member of the Woman's Reading club, the Morning Musical and a communicant of Trinity Episcopal church. The family left here about twelve years ago.

Little Berlin Comment on the American Note

Berlin, Nov. 9.—(Via London, 12:40 p. m.)—Berlin newspapers as a rule make no comment on the American note to Great Britain relative to interference with shipping. Summaries of the note as received in Berlin are published without comment. The Morgen Post says:

"It is to be hoped the lesson in international law which the Washington government gives the British government will make the desired impression in London. The bare fact that the government uses such decided and firm language shows that the discontent of wide and influential American circles with Great Britain must be assumed to be very earnest in character.

"It is to be hoped America will not content herself with a bare protest but will proceed to energetic measures if the case demands and Great Britain's gross arbitrariness does not cease. The program for 'protection of neutral commerce' is very praiseworthy and America, as the strongest neutral power, could thereby do great service to all neutrals if the program should actually be carried out."

The newspapers in general give great prominence to the affidavits filed at Washington concerning the British patrol boat Baratong which is said to have shot down fifteen members of the crew of a German submarine after they had surrendered or while swimming in the sea.

---Alertly
---Carefully
---Economically

Most women believe a store's greatest task to be to SELL its goods.

The exact opposite is the case.

Our greatest task, our most particular job is exactly the same as our customers, BUYING.

We wish every woman would buy as we do.

Alertly We are always on the lookout for good purchases to turn over to our customers. Resident buyers in New York City and fortnightly trips of our Fort Wayne buyer keep us in constant touch with the market. We wish all Fort Wayne would keep in constant touch with OUR market by reading our advertisements.

Carefully We never order a single garment that does not pass our most rigid scrutiny. Its quality, style and workmanship must be above reproach. We wish all Fort Wayne women would be as careful, for then we know we would get a still larger share of Fort Wayne's business.

Economically We always buy at the lowest market prices. The discounts allowed on account of large business, the knowledge of WHERE to buy at the lowest prices, and the ability to buy cheaply that only large CASH resources can give, are all ours. If every woman bought as economically as we do we would have practically all the business there is in Fort Wayne.

Our aim in desiring Fort Wayne women to buy exactly as we do is not altogether selfish. If all women did their buying alertly, carefully and economically, this store and this community would both be benefited.

PRESIDENT ENLISTS PROPHET AS AN ALLY

Wilson and Ezekiel to Meet Bryan and Isaiah in Oratorical Battle.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—The Tribune today prints the following from its Washington correspondent, Arthur Sears Henning:

Washington, Nov. 9.—President Wilson has elected to meet former Secretary of State Bryan on his own ground, biblical authority, in the discussion of the question of national preparedness against war.

Against Mr. Bryan's favorite prophet, Isaiah, who sang of the beating of swords into plowshares and spears into pruning hooks, the president pits Ezekiel, who warned public servants of the duty of watching over the safety of the state. In enlisting under the banner of Ezekiel, Mr. Wilson not only repudiates Bryan and Isaiah but lines with Theodore Roosevelt, who recently commended Ezekiel to the president's prayerful consideration.

Ezekiel Urged to Kitchin.

Mr. Wilson disclosed his conversion to the views of Ezekiel in a letter to Seth Low, of New York, upon the subject of national defense which was made public by the white house today. The president said he had been greatly impressed by the utterances of Ezekiel.

It is reported that Mr. Wilson called Ezekiel to his aid in laboring today with Representative Kitchin, the new majority leader of the house, upon the question of supporting the administration's program of national defense. Mr. Kitchin was not impressed, however, either by Mr. Wilson or Ezekiel, and when he left the white house he said he would fight the president's program on the ground that it is militarism.

Wilson's Letter to Low.

The letter the president wrote to Mr. Low said:

"I am particularly gratified that you should so fully concur in the position I took in my speech to the Manhattan club. There is a quotation from Ezekiel which I have had very much in my mind recently in connection with these important matters. It is the second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth verses of chapter 33.

"'2. Son of man, speak to the children of thy people, and say unto them, when I bring the sword upon a land, if the people of the land take a man of their coasts and set him for their watchman.

"'3. If, when he seeth the sword come upon the land, he blows the trumpet and warn the people.

"'4. Then whosoever heareth the sound of the trumpet and taketh not warning, if the sword come and take him away, his blood shall be upon his own head.

"'5. He heard the sound of the trumpet and took not warning, his blood shall be upon him; but he that taketh warning shall deliver his soul.

"'6. But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people be not warned; if the sword come, and take any person from among them he is taken away in his iniquity, but his blood will I require at the watchman's hand.'"

Today's Beauty Hints.

To whiten and beautify the complexion permanently we have found no better preparation than a lotion made by dissolving four ounces of spurmax in a half pint of hot water, then adding two teaspoonfuls glycerin. This removes any pimples, shiny, muddy or sallow appearance, and will make anyone's skin clear, smooth and velvety. It does not show or rub off like powder; in fact, it seems a part of the skin, and for removing tan and freckles is unequaled.

It is necessary to shampoo more frequently in the warmer weather because of excessive dust and the fact that the head perspires more and is usually more exposed to the weather. The easiest to use and quickest drying shampoo that we can recommend to our readers can be prepared very cheaply by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox, obtained from your druggist, in a cup of hot water. This rubbed into the scalp creates a thick lather, soothing and cooling in its action, as well as very beneficial to scalp and hair. After rinsing, the scalp is fresh and clean, while the hair dries quickly and evenly, developing a bright luster and a soft fluffiness that makes it seem very heavy.—Advertisement.

PRINTING OFFICE RUSHED.

Reformatory Shop Is Now Turning Out Daily and Weekly Newspapers.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Nov. 8.—The print shop at the Indiana reformatory, which under the act of 1915, is authorized to do all printing required for Indiana penal, correctional and benevolent institutions that do not do their own printing, has not received any orders and is not equipped to handle them. The annual report for the year ending September 30, 1914, has just been completed. Work on the 1915 orders should start in a week or two.

Last month the print shop turned out 172 jobs. There are twenty-three men employed learning the printing trade. All type is set by hand.

The 1915 legislature appropriated $2,000 for a new press, ruler and type, but the money has not been expended. The press in use, running to full capacity, can not take care of all the work. The shop turns out some excellent work and among other things prints a four-page, four-column daily and weekly. The daily circulates exclusively among the inmates.

Experiments with powdered peat fuel having proved successful in Sweden, a factory for its production on a large scale will be established.

WOMEN SAVE $5

Says gasoline dry cleans dresses, suits, silks, gloves, draperies, etc.

Here's a way to make soiled or dingy-looking wearing apparel look like new. Any woman can easily clean and restore the original color and brightness to kid gloves and shoes, neckties, ribbons, silks, satins, laces, net-work, yokes, furs, shirtwaists, children's coats, suits, caps, woolen garments, swiss, lawn, organdy, and chiffon dresses, draperies, rugs, in fact, any and everything that would be ruined with soap and water.

Get two ounces of solvite at any drug store and put it in two gallons of gasoline, where it quickly dissolves, then put in the goods to be cleaned, rub a little and out they come looking clean, bright and fresh as new. You will find nothing fades, shrinks or wrinkles, requiring no pressing.

It only takes a few moments to do what dry-cleaning establishments would charge five dollars or more for. It is as simple as ordinary laundering and you can't make a mistake. Any druggist will supply two ounces of solvite, which is simply a gasoline soap and you can obtain the gasoline at any grocery or garage. Then a wash boiler or large dishpan will complete your dry-cleaning outfit.

As gasoline is very inflammable, be sure to do your dry cleaning out of doors or in a room away from fire or flame, with the windows left open.—Advertisement.

WITNESSES AGAINST CANTALOUPE TRUST

Pittsburg, Nov. 9. A. R. Beatty, special master appointed to take testimony in the Sherman anti-trust prosecution against the Western Cantaloupe exchange, which farmers in the Imperial valley of California allege is a combination in restraint of trade, continued the hearing today with the expectation that the remainder of the week would be required to hear the Pittsburg witnesses. Suits for damages against the exchange have been entered in a numbe rof cities and indictments were returned by a federal grand jury in Chicago. The particular case under consideration was that against A. A. Garrard and Virgil M. Garrard, commission merchants of Cincinnati, and yesterday was marked by the refusal of S. Y. Free, of the Lyons Bros. company, and M. O. CoGgins company of Pittsburg to give testimony on the ground that it might tend to incriminate him in the criminal proceedings in Chicago.

The Demand of the Merchants.

The demand of the Retail Merchants' association for relief from the present congested and perilous traffic conditions in the down-town streets, voiced Monday evening in the passage of a resolution addresssed to the city council, is not only timely, but manifestly reasonable, and The Sentinel trusts the city authorities will give the situation prompt and decisive action. The merchants argue that their business is being injured by conditions which have been brought about by the advent of the hundreds of jitneys which are plying their trade and adding intolerably to the normal congestion which had been rapidly growing acute even before disturbed transportation conditions opened its inviting field to still more of the jitneys.

Quite apart from the element of peril to life and limb growing out of the maze of vehicles, either parked to constitute an almost complete blockade or dashing about the streets in reckless fashion, the merchant is clearly entitled to a hearing on traffic conditions. Upon them a very large percentage of his business, if not his very existence, depends. He has a purpose, both as a citizen and as a business man, in desiring the very best possible solution of a real problem—a problem so serious that it cannot be equitably solved without the exercise of much thought and judgment.

The merchants make it very clear that they are not making war on any division of the transportation element. Least of all do they desire to discourage the use of the down-town streets by automobilists. Rather would they encourage it by the relief of congestion that would make it possible for every car-owner, public or private, to use the down-town streets freely. The action of the merchants is taken in no spirit of carping criticism or of ill-natured complaint. The business men are merely anxious to aid in bringing about some solution of the traffic problem that will permit the freest and safest use of the public thoroughfares.

Following the tremendous showing made by this year's wheat crop in the United States comes the authoritative information that the corn crop is the most valuable ever grown in this country, reaching a total of nearly two millions of dollars and amounting to more than three billions of bushels. There can no longer be any doubt that the regiment of corn champions is beginning to show results. With the figures of 1915 before us, it is just a trifle difficult to give credence to the wails regarding the decadence of agriculture. Some of the boys may be deserting the old farm for the city, but there is ample evidence at hand to show that a good many of their competent brothers—not to mention the old man—are still on the job and are making good at it.

With Mr. Kitchin, the new democratic house leader, announcing his opposition to the administration defense plan, the prospects for some very likely congressional doings at the session beginning in December appear to be immensely improved. Mr. Kitchin's opposition, he announces, will be merely as an individual and not as party leader on the floor of the house, and it will be interesting to observe the strategic plan under which Mr. Kitchin, congressman, will maintain a distinct entity separate and apart from Mr. Kitchin, house floor leader of the majority.

European dispatches bring the information that in the opinion of many of the Belgian people Brand Whitlock, the United States minister who is coming home on a furlough by reason of impaired health is a king in America. Mr. Whitlock was mayor of Toledo so long that we suspect some such an idea must have gained foothold there also before he rose to greatness in the diplomatic world.

Congressman Nick Longworth is one of the speakers chosen for a big republican rally which is soon to be held at Wabash. Colonel Roosevelt's son-in-law has not been recently occupying so prominent a place in the public spotlight as was his wont in the days when he was a blushing bridegroom, but he has apparently not discarded all intentions of making a sincere attempt to come back.

Speaking of anxious moments, that term seems particularly fitting as a description of those now being endured by Mr. Stanley in the count of the votes on the Kentucky governorship. With an apparent plurality of 10,000 trimmed down to an uncertain 327, we take it that the former congressman has some ground for indulging in a bit of worry.

Another Goshen official has pleaded guilty to charges of extortion and the court has assessed a fine and affixed a brief jail sentence as the penalty. Some Goshen officials have apparently been going on the presumption that the time to get is while the getting is good.

PRESIDENT'S DAUGHTER GUEST OF HONOR ON PACIFIC COAST.

The winter season in society life is in full swing and the Pacific coast, the mecca of nationally prominent folk, is showing evidence of this fact. McAdoo and Mrs. McAdoo, charming daughter of President Woodrow Wilson. The luncheon was served on the veranda, after which the guests wandered about the beautiful grounds or enjoyed the art treasures of the mansion. The picture shows left to right: Mrs. W. B. SECOND CHOICE VOTING.

(Kansas City Times).

While Peter Witt was defeated for mayor of Cleveland in the election of Tuesday, he received a majority of first choice votes. The vote for Witt was 39,861, while his successful opponent received only 36,884 first choice votes. Had Witt been running under the old election law, such as governs in Kansas City, he would be mayor today.

In Ohio a voter indicates his first, second and third choice, or as many choices as there are candidates of his party on the ticket, and all the choices are counted. Thus, while Witt had upwards of three thousand more first choice votes, Davis had enough more second and third choice votes to make his total 47,771, against Witt's total of 44,040.

In Toledo George A. Murphey, candidate for mayor, received one thousand more first choice votes than Charles M. Milroy, the progressive candidate, but with the second choice votes counted in, Milroy had 597 more and was declared elected.

At first thought the system seems unfair. But it is not. Suppose, for the sake of simplicity, that there should be a community with one hundred voters, sixty radical and forty conservative. Suppose there should be two radical and one conservative candidate for an office. Under the usual system while a majority of the voters are radical, they might elect the conservative by giving one radical candidate say twenty-five votes, the other thirty-five, and the conservative forty. But with the system of second choice votes the forty conservative voters would naturally refrain from any second choice, while the radical candidate with thirty-five first choice votes might be expected to get twenty-five second choice votes, a total of sixty votes, and so win the election. While he would have fewer first choice votes than the conservative candidate he would really represent the sentiment of the community.

A TIME TO SPEAK.

(Indiana Daily Times).

There are times when it is good to speak out and define party policy. There may be other times when it is wisdom to refrain from arbitrary declaration of a party position on international issues. It seems to us the republican national party ought to take counsel within itself; ought to bring to bear its very best and safest thought in a period such as the present to determine party policy and party methods. We very much doubt if any one man, no matter what his official position in the republican party, is either authorized or qualified to commit his party to a definite line of procedure having to do with the issue of thoughtful loyalty to the United States. It is not too much, perhaps, to remind National Chairman Hilles, of the republican organization, that politics and partisanship, in a crisis, must stop at the water's edge. There is a reasonable question, at this time, if it would not be wiser and better and more patriotic to defer indefinitely the announcement of a party attack on the nation's international policy. After all, the administration's policy becomes the nation's policy, and events might require that all parties unite to support it. There is good and useful purpose in criticism as we go along, where criticism is based solely and unselfishly on a desire to put the nation right. The minute a political party assails the administration's international policy there arises the cry that for partisan ends an attempt is being made to divide Americans against themselves. It seems to us it needs no Hilles and no partisanship to instruct the voters as to the wisdom or the unwisdom of the administration's course. Events will teach the truth most forcibly.

CURED BOY OF CROUP.

Nothing frightens a mother more than the loud, hoarse cough of croup. The labored breathing, strangling, choking and gasping for breath call for instant action. Mrs. T. Neureuer, Eau Claire, Wis., says: "Foley's Honey and Tar cured my boy of a serious attack of croup after other remedies had failed. I recommend it to every one as we know from our own experience that it is a wonderful remedy for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough." It clears air passages, soothes and heals.—Dreier Drug Co.—Advertisement.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Thickness and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.—Advertisement.

WANTS PEACE HINT FROM BOTH SIDES

By Gilson Gardner.

Washington, Nov. 9.—From sources usually reliable I have it that President Wilson has been approached by the German ambassador on the subject of mediation and a discussion of terms of peace. These efforts, I understand, have produced no definite results. The indications are that peace suggestions will also have to come from the allies before President Wilson will move.

Since Count von Bernstorff returned to Washington, he has called several times on Secretary Lansing and an informal interchange has taken place covering numerous subjects. It is understood that the German ambassador has pointed out, among other things, the change which has taken place in the German submarine campaign and an explanation has been volunteered to the effect that this change is the result of an effort by the German government to avoid further causes of offense to the United States and to keep the good will of our country. And further that this good will is to be drawn upon in the immediate future in the way of a request for the good offices of the American government as an intermediary to peace.

That Germany would like to discuss terms of peace is indicated in other ways by many inspired outgivings. Some of these even name the terms on which peace discussion would be welcomed and it is notable that these terms are less extravagant than those named six months ago. Belgium would be given up. Only the return of part of the overseas colonies is now asked, and except for the "indemnity" from Great Britain, which is obviously a condition put forward for trading purposes, German terms are now practically a "call quits" proposition. Boundaries would be restored, except Alsace and Lorraine, and Germany would profit by her extension over Poland and her virtual control of the Balkans and Turkey.

President Wilson is sufficiently in touch with the British and French ambassadors to know that these terms are entirely unsatisfactory to the allies and that any efforts at mediation by him at this time would be distinctly unwelcome.

In spite of the discouraged mood of the British at the present time and their wrangling over the Asquith cabinet, conviction is strong even in England that the war must be fought to the end. A declaration of the new premier of France, M. Briand, correctly expresses the sentiment of that nation. The alarm caused by the German drive into the Balkans has abated somewhat, and the allies are taking a calmer view of the outlook. The grounds they find for encouragement are the reports from Germany of new food restrictions imposed by the government, indicating a scarcity of meats and fats. These are attributed in part to the unexpectedly bad crops—except potatoes—and the tightening of the embargo by the use of the British submarines in the Baltic. The latter are effective in cutting off a considerable supply of fish and other provisions which have been finding their way to Germany from Sweden.

The main reason, however, why the Germans would gladly quit now is found in the fact that the long war will be a measure of resources and in such a test Germany cannot match the tremendous resources of the nations marshalled against her. England is master of the seas and is drawing on her own colonies and the economic resources of the United States, as are France and Russia. Germany's strength was in her preparedness and that strength is gradually being worn down. It is estimated that three and one-half million German and Austrians have already been permanently removed from the firing line in killed, wounded or prisoners. The allies have suffered losses, but their losses have been met by fresh recruits with the exception of France, whose losses are estimated at two million. The addition of the Italians, served to fill the gap of French losses and the British recruits have been double the British losses.

Ammunition is now pouring in a steady stream from America, and Russia has begun to mobilize her industries, as France and England have done, for making shells and explosives. A shortage of everything will prevail in Germany if the war is continued another year, and it is predicted that unless peace can be brought about at the present time, Germany will then be fighting for her life as a nation rather than for the spoils of her victories up to date. There is nothing encouraging toward peace in the reception of overtures made in Washington. President Wilson is unwilling to take action which would be unwelcome to any of the belligerents.

An ice breaking steamer built in Sweden for the Russian government has cut its way through ice fields thirty feet thick when using only half its power.

WM VAN ORMAN

—for a citizen to be informed by the government that he isn't as old as he thinks he is. W. H. Van Orman, of Kalamazoo, Mich., has just found out that he is not 66 years old, but 64, and that he is the youngest living civil war veteran in the United States. He enlisted in the Michigan Fifteenth, when he was really 13 years, 9 months and 14 days old. He thought he was over 15. Since he was a mere lad he has cared for himself and he has not seen his parents. He thought he was born in 1849, but after he applied for a raise in pension when he thought his 66th birthday arrived the government looked up his birth record in Erie county, New York, and found that he was born in 1851. He was in Sherman's march to the sea.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat less meat also take glass of Salts before eating breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour; tongue coats and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Advertisement.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

CONFESS TO MANY ROBBERIES.

Automobile and Grain Thieves Lodged in Huntington Jail.

Huntington, Ind., Nov. 9.—Automobile robberies within the last few weeks, the theft of two sacks of clover seed from Silver-Gelsleichter elevator, and the attempted burglary of the Joe Slater saloon on East Market street Saturday night at 12 o'clock, were cleared up by the confession to the police of F. H. Clear, of Peru, William Overstreet and H. L. Watt, of Huntington. Clear implicated Robert Aker of Huntington in the theft of the clover seed and Harry Vardaman's car, and the attempted theft of the Rev. E. W. Cole's automobile. He was arrested and admitted his guilt. All four are in the Huntington county jail. The crimes to which the young men confessed are:

Clear, Overstreet and Watt—stole a five passenger Reo automobile from the A. S. Meed garage at Peru, Saturday evening, drove to Huntington and attempted to enter the Slater saloon; were frightened away and drove to Wabash. there they abandoned the car and returned to Huntington on Wabash train No. 2, in an effort to establish an alibi; took the Parvin and Howenstine cars during the municipal Hallowe'en celebration; stole Dr. A. H. Northrup's car last Wednesday evening, while he was attending medical meeting.

Clear and Aker—Took the clover seed and Harry Vardaman's automobile, losing their nerve and abandoning clover seed in the country; forced the lock on the Cole garage, but were discovered.

Wolcottville, Ind., Nov. 9.—The body of Alton R. Myers, formerly of Wolcottville and Kendallville, who died in Portland from injuries received in a jitney-street car smashup, arrived here last evening. Accompanying the remains were the widow and infant child. Myers was injured Saturday, October 30. He was working as a driver of a delivery wagon for the Portland Laundry company, and leaving his home in the morning at 7 o'clock he took a jitney to go to work. The machine was caught in a jam between two street cars and crushed. Myers received a crushed skull, a fractured jaw and internal injuries. It was decided to send the body for burial at Wolcottville, his former home.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon, November 10, at 2 o'clock, probably in the Baptist church. Burial will be made in the local cemetery. Myers was about thirty years of age. He spent his early life in this place. Some years ago he worked in Kendallville at the McCray factory.

LANTERN EXPLODES; BARN BURNS.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 9.—The big barn of Frank Pincheon, two miles south of Wolf Lake, was completely destroyed by fire. The fire originated from an explosion of the lantern which Mr. and Mrs. Pincheon were using to furnish light while milking. Immediately following the explosion flames sprung up all around, and Mrs. Pincheon's clothing was ablaze. Fortunately she had on a large apron that covered her dress well and by stripipng this off she saved herself. Her hands were quite badly burned, but otherwise she escaped and considers herself very fortunate. The barn was a large one, and was over 100 feet long, counting the shed at either end, and forty or more feet in width. It contained a quantity of oats, rye and fifty tons of hay, a big wagon, buggy, and a number of farming tools. The fire was a very hot one and attracted neighbors for several miles.

VAN WERT COUNTY FARMER DIES.

Van Wert, O., Nov. 9.—Seth Welborn, a widely known resident of Ridge township, dropped dead quite unexpectedly, while walking about the yard at his home, five miles east of the city. His death was due to heart trouble and came without a moment's warning. He had been talking and joking with a neighbor and as the friend walked on he dropped dead and his life was gone when relatives reached his side. Mr. Welborn, who was 56 years of age, was a native of Van Wert county. He was twice married and is survived only by a wife, several step-children and one brother.

BUTLER LADY IS CALLED.

Auburn, Ind., Nov. 9.—Mrs. Harriett Beard, wife of Charles Beard, of West Main street, Butler, died after an illness of several weeks from Bright's disease. The deceased was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Powers and niece of the late Judge Powers, of Angola. The late Mrs. Beard was a prominent member of the Christian church and active in literary circles and W. C. T. U. societies. The funeral was held this morning at 10:30 o'clock from the Christian church of Butler and the body was taken to Angola, where a short service will be held from the Chapel. Interment at the Angola cemetery.

BLUFFTON NATIVE BURIED.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 9.—Funeral services were held this morning in St. Joseph's Catholic church, for Mrs. J. T. Connett, who died after a week's illness of acute Bright's disease. Mrs. Connett was formerly Miss Mary Enright and she was a native of Bluffton, teaching for a number of years in the Bluffton schools. Her husband, a traveling salesman, who has been located at Macon, Ga., and one sister, Mrs. J. C. Griesheimer, of Cincinnati, are the only surviving relatives. Mrs. Connett was arranging to move to Macon to join her husband when her last illness began. Her father, Timothy Enright, was a prominent politician in Bluffton and for years served as street commissioner.

JUST TIME TO SAVE LIVES.

Huntington, Ind., Nov. 9.—Heat and the flare of flames starting from an overturned or exploded oil lamp awakened Walter Patterson, at his home on London street. He had barely time to save his own life and the lives of his two small children, his sister, Mrs. Bert Latta, and her daughter, eighteen months old. All escaped with nothing but their night clothes, except for a new pair of shoes and a cap carried out by Mr. Patterson. House and furniture are a total loss, with no insurance on either.

EPIDEMIC OF MEASLES.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 9.—The outbreak of measles in Columbia City has come and the city health department is making an effort to stamp it out, or at least try to prevent any serious or permanent results from the disease. It has been raging throughout Smith township and particularly Churubusco for several weeks and in several cases the patients will be permanently afflicted as a result. The quarantine law is quite strict and prohibits children who have not had the disease from associating with children or persons who are afflicted.

HURT IN FALL FROM HORSE.

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 9.—Charles Geiger, the 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Geiger, had his left shoulder dislocated Saturday evening when he was thrown off of a horse. He had gone to the pasture field and was riding around in the Tuttle bottom, when he lost his balance some way and fell off. He was taken home by John Conkling and later to the office of Dr. O. V. Schuman, where the dislocation was reduced.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you—at a cost of only 54 cents—a full pint of better cough syrup than you could buy for $2.50. Takes but a few minutes to prepare. Full directions with Pinex. Tastes good and never spoils.

Society

Charming in every way was the luncheon given by Mrs. Ben Levy and Miss Ruth Levy at 1 o'clock today at their home, 915 West Berry street, at which the announcement was made of the engagement of Miss Levy's chum, Miss Carrie Stiefel, to G. Irving Latz, formerly of Baltimore, Md., but in recent months in business in this city. Soon after the guests were seated at the table the maid appeared in answer to a summons at the door bearing a tray of telegrams which a messenger boy had just delivered. The message was the announcement of the engagement and was a complete surprise to the group of young girls present, who included intimate friends of both Miss Stiefel and Miss Levy. Congratulations then showered upon Miss Stiefel were a delight to hear as they were expressive of the affection which her young friends entertain for her as well as a delight in her own happiness. The luncheon was most appetizing and elegant in service. Tiny Japanese pink parasols attached to the place cards were but one dainty detail of the beautifully laid table in ivory lace with a low bowl of pink roses and chrysanthemums, corsage bouquets of the same flowers and tiny bows of pink tulle that added further attractiveness. The guests were Mrs. Louis Stiefel, Mrs. George Latz of Baltimore, Mrs. H. O. Bruggeman, Mrs. Dan Milligan and Misses Helen Puckett, Ruth Gumpper, Mary Evans, Janet Bower, Martha Tolan. Miss Stiefel is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stiefel, of West Wayne street. Mr. Latz is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Latz, of Baltimore, and he is buyer for the cloak and suit department of the Frank Dry Goods store.

The decorations for the supper were especially pretty and elaborate. From the chandelier over the table hung tiny doll angels and at each end of the table and in the center were vases of pink roses. A tiny vase at each plate contained a rose and both vase and flower formed the favors for the guests. Other rooms were trimmed prettily with red and white crepe paper ribbons. WHAT WILLING WORKERS NEED

The Willing Worker's society needs something just now that some kind housewife has standing in her barn or summer kitchen waiting for a place to "put it." And "it" means a cook stove, or a small eating stove or a mattress, for all three are much needed by this splendid charity organization. The stoves might be loaned to the society for an indefinite time if any good, kind lady has any objection to giving away iron. Besides clothing is needed, too, and house cleaning time is such an easy time to find outgrown shirt waists, stockings, pants, coats, sweaters, dresses, jackets and underwear. A telephone to 6530 black will insure a call at the home of the giver to get the donations to be made.

HER ENGAGEMENT TO YOUNG BUSINESS MAN IS ANNOUNCED

The Choate letter was introduced after it had been shown that on Jan. 30, 1904, Mr. Mellen's secretary wrote to Mr. Choate saying that the board had authorized Mellen to purchase the Central New England, but that Mellen had not yet committed himself. There was still time for objection to be raised and Choate's opinion was asked.

Choate replied directly to Mellen, stating that he did not know much about the properties in question but that in view of the fact that the Northern Securities case was still pending, he advised against "doing anything that might be a violation of the Sherman law."

Our Old Friend, the Blouse, Still With Us

By Betty Brown.

The frilly little blouse, that friend of "other days," is surviving the popularity of the one-piece gown. But the blouse must have new and strange frills if it's to compete with its many rivals.

Quite a "dress up" air is given to a charming little waist I saw the other day made of white crepe de chine, with collar and cuffs and two little fluffs at the front faced with messaline silk in old blue. The soft leather belt and the hat band were striped in blue of the same shade.

By Betty Brown.

You may think she is wearing a scarf but she isn't. Neither is she wearing a hat pin. With the new fiance hat the treacherous pin is unnecessary. Three or more yards of soft velvet fastened at the right side of the hat drawn softly about the neck then flung in graceful, careless folds across the left shoulder, and behold! Milady's hat is safe, and her shoulders are charmingly decorated.

This picturesque substitute for a hat pin is the invention of Miss Ethel Hill, whose drawing room dances and drawing room frocks are so much admired in New York and Chicago. The dance hat—which always stays in place—has become very popular since Miss Hill recently introduced it.

Some Serious Words About New Fashions

It is remarkable what an influence boot styles have exercised over the modes and vogues in other dress and accessory lines.

Hosiery has betaken a new lease upon life. Designs were never more unusual and varied, while the colored stocking rules where formerly only a black stocking would be considered.

Nowadays the black stocking is an occasional choice, so far as modish dressing is concerned.

Skirts have winged their way higher, in order, one would suppose, to give the hosiery and fine booteries a chance to be seen. This heightening of the skirt lengths, or shortening of them, whichever way you prefer to consider it, has succeeded in wrestling the waistline from its downward intentions and raising it a bit above the normal in order that the silhouette may preserve its balance.

One must agree that this readjustment of values has to take place when milady's dress skirt shortens its lengths so decidedly, else ugliness and disproportionate lines would result.

A short skirt must project from a raised waistline, or the figure will be thrown out of balance.

Of course, long skirts will always be worn. There are in every community enough conservative women who refuse to accept new styles until the ardent pioneers have discarded them in order to accept another novelty.

It is this sort of woman who preserves the eternal verities of dress and provides a suitable background in her dressing against which the absurdities or frivolties of her more adventurous sisters pass in kaleidoscopic parade.

This woman will not wear fancy shoes will possess half French heels, and so a happy medium is struck in presenting to the modes for this year a semidressy boot, dark in color and frivolous in cut only.

This is why you will see so many women this year, whose tailleur will be a model of sobriety in cut, color and length; whose hat will be all that is decorous and sober, not too small or too large; whose gives will be the same sort she has worn for years, but whose shoes will posses half French heels, a longer swing to the last, a suggestion of white stitching and an adorable, frivolous cut to the boot top which will be at variance with all the rest of the costume.

Have no fear this boot will prove the open sesame to a career of individual dressing for the woman who has made such a departure from prescribed rules to such an extent that she will begin to study herself, instead of being a replica of hundreds of other women dressing in the same manner.

Instead of considering it good taste to dress in the old way, she will realize it is good taste to be inconspicuously consistent with the trend of today's fashion, and select her styles to suit her own type of beauty instead of merely becoming an animated tailor's mannikin.

Considering the question of skirts, again one is compelled to realize that their extreme shortness and fullness are incidental to other changes of the fashionable silhouette, which are more or less obvious.

This is nowhere more markedly apparent than in the new cuts being given to sleeves.

A wise fashion prophet of many years' experience has observed that no new mode is decided until the sleeve has changed in style and outline, and as if in direct concurrence, it is only too apparent that the smart sleeve for 1916 will be short and full for evening dress and full and puffed for day wear.

The leg-o'-mutton has made great headway in its march toward style recognition, and is booked for a long stay among us as a stylish and favored sleeve pattern.

The long forearm, tight-fitting sleeve portion, with its decorated cuff and buttoned to the elbow outlines, is topped with a beautifully cut full upper sleeve, which blouses itself over the lower sleeve in charming folds and drapery.

In a gown seen recently designed of black velvet for afternoon wear the skirt, short, wide and very full, hung from a slightly raised waistline.

A narrow belt of black satin buckled it into snug position, apparently, for above the belt a full ruffle of the velvet was met by white lace hemstitched to its edge, and which formed the blouse portion of a bodice of the same, posed over flesh-colored crepe.

A high collar of cream satin was buttoned with black jets. The sleeves, however, were of white lace over the pink crepe, but were as wide and full as they would be were they miniature skirts. They puffed into the top of an elbow length portion of sleeve make of black velvet, tightly buttoned to the arm and flaring over the wrist sufficiently to show the frill lined with cream-colored satin, which matched the collar. Tiny jet nail heads outlined a leaf pattern on the satin facing.

With this frock was worn an overcoat of striped silk banded with black velvet.

The points of difference were full coat sleeves to the wrist, a ruff collar of velvet and a wider belt.

This coat, by the way, is an excellent design to utilize for the modeling of a coat from two, and even three, kinds of materials.

It will be splendidly adaptable for the woman who wishes to economize in the remodeling of last year's evening cape, or who, perhaps, could utilize two evening gowns and make one evening wrap from such resources.

Truly, the fashions have never been more considerate of the woman with a moderate income than they have this year.

Mirror of Style in This Green Gown

By Betty Brown.

Stunning—there's the word that describes this street costume in Hunter's green, and if you would know the modes of the moment notice the unevenly pointed coat, the short, flaring skirt, the choker collar and the fur-trimmed sleeves, which Mme. Allie Bailey of the Fashion Art League of America introduces in this frock for street wear.

The skirt is made with a short yoke from which falls tapering pleats which ripple unevenly at the bottom; the back is made in tunic effect to correspond with the lines of the coat. The coat is of hand length, that is, it extends as far as the finger tips reach, and of course, it is semi-fitted.

The gray fox fur cuffs and choker collar make a rich trimming for this smart street suit.

Fashions Fantastic

Sometimes milady's boots are topped with muffs of fur, and sometimes with cuffs of leather. If leather is used it matches the shoe in color and is stitched on about six inches deep around the top, giving quite a military appearance to the boot that "peeps in and out" beneath her near-hoop skirt.

The "golden girl" is the belle of fashion world just now. The smart dance frocks, blouses and tailored frocks in broadcloth or the new suede cloth are made up in the color of the "American eagle."

Skirts have spread out so that dressmakers have designed little "cartridge" or pouch pockets for the sides to secure the fullness at the sides. She won't adorn youth in gay colors and gaudy baubles, forgetting that her own youth is her chief charm.

The Tam O'Shanter—with a rakish Harry Lauder sort of tilt to it has taken its place among millinery modes. Sometimes it's made of expensive velvet—and quite often it's an affair of worsted gayly striped in green or blue.

The "lined-in" skirt, as the dressmakers call it, has come into favor again—the full, flaring skirts of soft fabrics are hardly manageable without lining.

A heavy corded hem gives a suggestion of hoops to prim tailored skirts.

Patch pockets trimmed with fur are fetching adornments seen on many of the new top coats.

NECK FIXINGS.

The fluffiest of the new ruffs that everybody seems to be wearing these days is built of triple rows of accordian pleated blue tulle flaring up in funnel shape from a wide band of mink or other dark, rich fur.

The Tommy Atkins belt has been borrowed to adorn the throats of maids who like military modes. The inch-wide straps of suede or silk are bound in silk and finished with a silver buckle; they hold in place the high flaring lingerie or linen collar that so worries us when it refuses to stand up.

A motion picture camera that uses glass plates instead of films and also can be used to project pictures has been invented in Europe for amateurs.

Japanese remove the pucker from persimmons by inclosing ripe fruit for several days in air-tight casks that have contained sake, the native wine.

THE LADY IN BROWN IS NOW THE BELLE OF FASHION WORLD.

By Betty Brown.

Let me introduce you to "the lady in brown," for you'll meet her often this autumn, brown gowned, brown bonneted and brown booted, but despite her neutral color scheme by no means lacking in charm.

A brown gown is not necessarily a dull gown. Mme. Reichert of the Fashion Art League of America proves this in the princess gown I've sketched here which combines two tones of brown. Charmeuse satin in seal brown is used with chiffon in lighter strips of brown.

The chiffon is used for the underwaist, the sleeves, and for a pleated front breadth for the skirt. But lest that front breadth have a barber pole effect three bands are set across it, a satin band about the bust line, a strip of brown fur at the waistline and below the hipline another band of button trimmed satin.

GAY, EVEN GAUDY, ARE NEW SKIRTS.

Everybody's wearing them—the new red skirts. They were designed for sport wear but school girls and girls no longer in school have appropriated them for wear on all occasins.

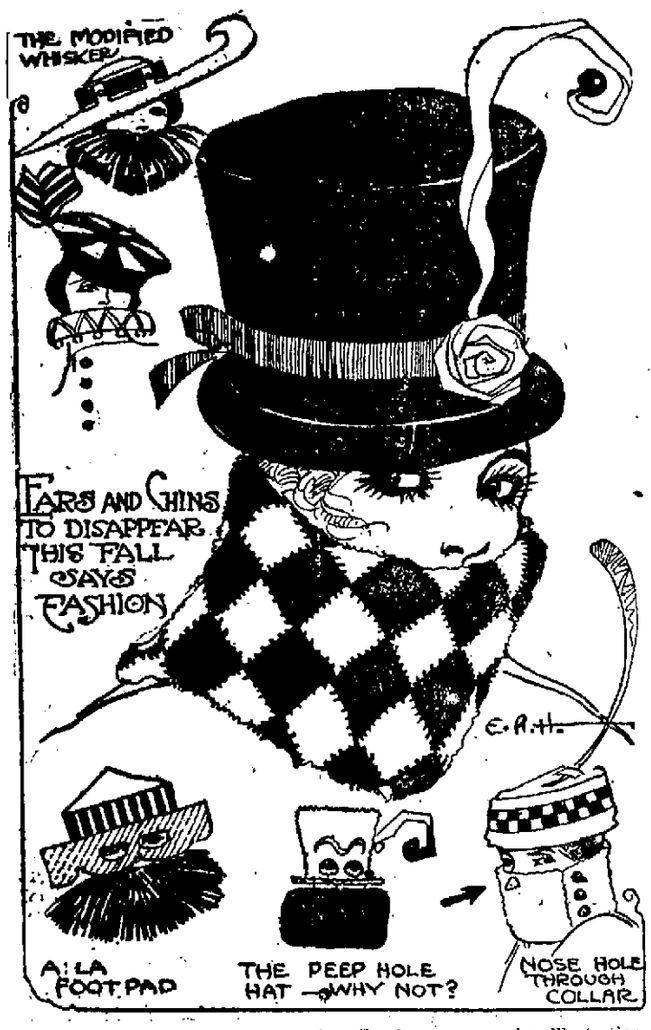
The skirts of vivid hue are, of course, unadorned by flares or ripples—there's such a thing as too much color. Quite the best looking one seen was cut perfectly plain and finished at the bottom with a two-inch hem and at the top with a two-inch belt of the goods faced with white, just a hairline of the white showing. Two slanting pockets were decorated with red bone buttons edged with white. They're gaudy, garish things, but the swish of a red skirt does send the blues a-scurrying.

BELTS.

Belts, as such have disappeared, but have you noticed that almost all of the new suits have the belt line indicated by cut-out-motives, embroidered arrows or some other ornamentation? A street suit which Mme. Alla Ripley, of the Fashion Art League of America, has designed for the national fashion show has the waistline marked by an embroidery design in black and silver. The full skirt is mounted on a yoke which forms a soft girdle and the coat has the full flaring sides without which no coat is considered modish. The loose pocket is cut in with the coat. The high gauntlet collar and the narrow

Some of the Ft. Wayne shops are displaying a line of corduroy skirts that set the average school girl "crazy" to have one for she really believes there is nothing else quite so "dear."

WHERE ARE CHIC CHINS OF YESTERDAY? EARS, TOO, NO LONGER IN FASHION.



THE MODIFIED WHISKER

E.A.H.
A LA FOOT PAD
NOSE HOLE THROUGH COLLAR

Fashion has decreed that chins and ears were not to be fashionable this winter—

And so smart women are conforming to the edict by pulling their hats down and their collars up.

Simple, isn't it—and so smart.

In the accompanying illustration the artist has shown the newest style—the narrow brimmed high hat and the ear high fur collar.

The artist, carried away by his own imagination, has also sketched a few other "effects" which he thinks may result from the new style.

Sweet Simplicity But Has Good Style

By Betty Brown.

The school girl doesn't always love simplicity—more's the pity.

A school girl frock that has the charm of simplicity, but lacks nothing in style, is this one-piece model made in navy blue gabardine trimmed with a sash and tie of old gold messaline.

Two wide pleats falling from the bust line well below the line of the hip are slashed at the waist and the sash is drawn through these slits. Two narrow straps of the cloth cross diagonally at the back and are fastened with buttons just above the waist line.

FURS DO SEEM TO BE IN FASHION.

The muff pockets are no longer novelties. They are not as foolish as they sound.

The ankle muffs also ran in fashion's popularity race. The little bands of furs snuggly round my lady's ankles are no longer fads, they are fashion.

No Fuss or Frills for Miss Sixteen

By Betty Brown.

"Frills and fussiness" are all very well for Big Sister, but Little Miss Sixteen is only well dressed when she's simply dressed. It was from Mme. Alla Ripley of the Fashion Art League of America, that I gleaned this bit of wisdom, and then to prove how much charm and simplicity may be achieved without "frills or fussiness" she brought forth this clever little dress which she calls "The Puritan."

It is made of invisible plaid serge with cuffs and collar and belt finished with gold galoons. The short, flaring skirt, and the jacket, short and flaring, too emphasize youthful lines. The stitched-in belts falling in loose ends from the front of the coat is a permissible bit of ornamentation on this frill-less gown. The little hat of black satin with its big silver buckle is just the hat for the girl who wears a Puritan gown.

HOPE IT'S COLD!

Collar muffs are seen in the local shops. That's about all you can see when a coat with an over-the-ears collar is donned. And wouldn't it be the meanest thing if after all, we should have an "open winter."

HOW DAME FASHION LOVES TO SPREAD HERSELF—HOOP COATS NOW.

By Betty Brown.

As the "flare" skirt takes on new ripples the "flare" coats spread out into veritable billows which suggest that we may have the "hoop-coat," as well as the hoop-skirt before the season ends. Just to show you what we are coming to in the way of "flares" and such, I sketched this tailored suit which Mme Marguerite, of the Fashion Art League of America, has designed for early winter wear.

An extra ripple, you'll notice, falls from the close fitting waist line, giving extra fullness and the much desired "touch of originality" to the coat; the "flare" is confined to the sides, the front being prim and straight-lined.

Punched-in steel silk forms the design on the flaring cuffs and on the coat, and purple panne velvet edges the points of the deep collar and faces the cuffs. The circular skirt is the part six-inches-from-the-ground length. The suit is developed in the smooth surface rock-spun cloth in gray.

ANNUAL REPORT OF SECRETARY FARREL

San Francisco, Nov. 9.—Many interesting details in connection with the professional baseball season of 1915 which, for many reasons, was non-productive of financial benefit to those most closely identified with the national game, were included in the annual report of Secretary John H. Farrell, which he presented at the annual meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues here today.

A resume of the business transacted by the national association during the year showed that forty minor league organizations embracing 202 cities and towns in the United States and Canada qualified for membership in 1915 as compared with forty-four leagues representing 306 towns and cities in 1914. Ten of these leagues did not begin the season of 1915 and five of the thirty which started failed to complete their season's schedules. One of these was disqualified and the other four dropped out, their failure to continue being attributed mainly to the unusually adverse weather conditions which prevailed. In one league 185 games were postponed on account of rain in a four months' playing season.

Five thousand four hundred and seventy-two players' contracts were received, recorded and promulgated by the association during the year. One thousand and three players were released by purchase out of two thousand eight hundred and forty reported to the office of the association for release. Ninety-one optional agreements were approved between national association clubs and thirty-nine optional agreements were exercised by national association clubs. Six hundred and seventy players were reported for suspension and 236 were reported for reinstatement. Seven drafted players were claimed under the waiver rule and 736 disputed cases were adjusted by the association during the year. Seventeen players were drafted by the National league and a similar number by the American league.

Out of $72,800 received by the association for drafted players the American league contributed $23,400 and the National league $21,950. In all $129,557 passed through the office of the national association during the current year for drafted players, optional agreement players and others released by purchase.

WENT TO THE HOSPITAL.

C. E. Blanchard, postmaster at Blanchard, Cal., writes: "I had kidney trouble so bad I had to go to the hospital. Foley Kidney Pills were recommended to me and they completely cured me. I cannot speak too highly of them." Sufferers in every state have had similar benefit from this standard remedy for kidney and bladder ailments: It banishes backache, stiff joints, swollen muscles and all the various symptoms of weakened or diseased kidney. DICKERSON COMING TO FORT WAYNE

New Central League President to Meet Local Men.

E. W. Dickerson, of Grand Rapids, new president of the Central league, will be in the city tomorrow to confer with Louis Heilbroner on matters pertaining to the league. Fort Wayne is going to have a struggle to keep in league ball as President William Klitzke, of the local club, is determined to withdraw from baseball, and a new company will be formed to take over his interests.

Now that Louis Heilbroner is no longer president of the circuit he can become a stockholder and director in the Fort Wayne team and can devote some of his time and his baseball knowledge to the management of the local club.

SEEK TO REOPEN CASES.

Terre Haute Men Wish Reconsideration of Paroles.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 9.—During the last week or ten days insistent efforts have been made to induce the department of justice to rescind its decision not to grant paroles to any of the Terre Haute election law violators, whose cases were considered at the recent meeting of the parole board at Leavenworth penitentiary.

It has been represented that denial of paroles on the showing made at the recent hearing will mean, in effect, that paroles will not be granted to any of the year and a day men, as the next meeting of the parole board will not take place at Leavenworth until next January.January. The information obtained from the deparement, which evidently is direct and reliable, is that these pleas have not changed the situation in the least and that all of the prisoners sentenced for a year and a day will have to serve their full sentences, with the customary allowance for good conduct.

SEES PLACE NEAR IN BASEBALL WAR

San Francisco, Nov. 9.—Peace soon will be declared with the Federal league on terms "highly satisfactory" to organized base ball, Charles H. Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn National league club, said on his arrival here today to atend that convention of professional base ball leagues.

Ebbets denied he had any message from either the National or American league to the minor organizations. He is the only representative of the major league interests here, but others are expected during the day.

Indications were that the convention which opens today will be largely attended.

Fed Leaders Meet.

Indianapolis, Nov. 9.—Federal league club owners were in Indianapolis today for the annual meeting of the league, which was expected to convene early in the day. It was believed that only routine business would be transacted by the base ball men in this city, but they were expected to discuss negotiations for peace with "organized" base ball at a meeting to be held within the next few days at French Lick, Ind., or in Chicago. It was reported that Charles Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox; Jacob Ruppert, of the New York Americans, and a representative of the New York Giants are among those who have made hotel reservations for the latter part of the week at French Lick. This is taken by some of those interested to mean that the Federal league will go to French Lick to discuss peace with the representatives of "organized" base ball.

Appellate Court Affirms Judgment in Damage Case.

Indianapolis, Nov. 9.—The appellate court has affirmed the Randolph circuit court in giving Lena E. Cloud, as administrator, a judgment of $6,000 against the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad company for causing the death of Charles Cloud.

It was shown that Charles Cloud was driving north along the road, and his horse evidently balked on the track, and another engine near was making such a noise that he failed to hear the approaching train, which did not stop at the sight of the horse and wagon and the man making an effort to get the horse off the track. The court says the evidence sustains the judgment and that the damages awarded are not excessive.

That Signor Randegger should have selected the World's Standard Piano as an interpretative medium, is evidence of how fully he understands the superb quality of this magnificent instrument.

All the Worms Have Not Yet Been Swept from Water Pipes.

The board of works within a short time will probably segregate a large section of the southeast portion of the city from the public water service for a day and give all the mains a thorough flushing. This course has been practically decided upon because it is found that not all of the little worms that began some days ago to emerge from service taps in that part of the city have been expelled from the pipes. The reservoir has been thoroughly cleansed and a number of mains in that vicinity have been flushed. Reports made to the health department Tuesday that worms had been taken from the tap of a residence on Wallace street proved that the worms had not been got rid of and the board will doubtless include an extensive district in the section to be temporarily segregated in an effort to finally get rid of the pests. It has been decided that the reservoir shall be covered so that there will not be a recurrence of the plague of worms.

MAY AMEND LICENSE ORDINANCE.

That the question of amending the gasoline filling station ordinance will come up in the city council Tuesday evening now seems quite certain. The owners of filling stations in the districts more remote from the center of the city object to the fee and many of them are delinquent. They complain that the business does not pay and that the license is a hardship. The ordinance may be amended so that the license will apply only to stations situated within the fire limits of the city. The city charges $5 a year for such stations.

BOARD FINDS WORK PROGRESSING.

After an inspection trip, the board of works reported progress on outdoor public improvements that are still under way. The Moellering Construction company began to pour concrete Tuesday for the Wayne trace pavement, the same company is getting along with the new dam across Spy Run in Lawton park and the new pump house for the Broadway station is almost completed. The sewer work in the southeast part of the city still drags.

LOTS TO FRONT BOULEVARD.

The park board has approved the plat of Rudisill place, the lots having been replatted so that they front on Rudisill boulevard. The property is owned by A. F. Skeer and instructors of the Bible training school and lies on the south side of the boulevard between South Wayne and Tacoma avenues. The park board will ask the city council Tuesday evening to appropriate $400 to the park board account—$200 of the sum to be used for legal advertising and $150 for engineering and inspection work on Rudisill boulevard improvements.

WILL SOON EXAMINE PLANS.

The board of works and the city engineer expect to begin within a few days to examine in detail the plans submitted by the Pennsylvania and Wabash railroads for track elevation east of Calhoun street and to soon have that procedure ready for the next step. It is not believed that it will be necessary to extensively dissent from the submitted plans to make them conform to what the city desires to have done.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

LITTLE GIRL FOUND HAPPINESS.

Her Sad Plight Touched the Poet's Heart and World Gained "The Blue Bird."

There is a legend in the folklore of northern France that the possessor of the blue bird will attain happiness. Peasants tell the story to their children, and, unlike the folklore of the Anglo-Saxon people, it is firmly believed and frequently acted upon by the little Norman boys and girls, who search for the elusive winged creature in the woods.

One winter evening Mme. Maeterlinck, wife of the famous poet, brought to her husband at their home in Saint Wandrille, Normandy, word of a little girl whose mother was a poor widow, and whose sister was sick for want of medicine and food. The child, trusting the old wives' tale, had actually wandered out into the forest in the cold and the snow after the blue bird, the finding of which she believed firmly would give her mother and sister health. The poor little thing was found in a half frozen condition by Mme. Maeterlinck.

The poet and his wife attended to her immediate necessity and then went to the home and brought real happiness thereto by providing clothes, food, medical attention for the sick sister, and finally seeing to it that the mother of the family obtained employment. The story appealed to the sensative, sympathetic side of Maeterlinck's nature. He set to work and in the course of a few days wrote a novel based on the incident.

"But why don't you dramatize it?" asked his wife.

"Impossible!" exclaimed Maeterlinck. "The scenes are in fairyland and therefore utterly incapable of realization."

But Madame Maeterlinck insisted and gradually his vision saw a drama build itself out of the fantastic narrative. "The Blue Bird" was published. As a literary work it at once scored a striking success with the reading public. But it remained only a book play for several years before there arose a "commercial" manager with courage sufficient to stage it. And here again Mme Maeterlinck's intuition proved itself correct.

"She got behind" the initial production in a promoting capacity, furnishing plans, sketches, designs for the Fairyland illusions and the trick spectacular scenes. "The Blue Bird" will be seen at the Majestic Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with Saturday matinee.

AT KEITH PALACE

LIKE A TRIP TO THE COUNTRY

New Palace Stage Transformed Into a Barnyard.

With a pair of porkers rooting and grunting about the stage poking their inquisitive noses into Hiram's lap while he is trying to be romantic, chickens scratching food and pigeons flying about their cote built above the mossy old pump, the setting for the rural farce comedy sketch "Hiram" which is being presented as the top laugh product of the big fun bill at the New Palace, is as good as a trip to the country. Every minute one expects the broad calm face of a mulev cow to be poked over the barnyard fence mooing the information that it is time to come for the milk. Fred J. Ardath and company are presenting this riotous rumpus that is spreading joy over the vaudeville fans thicker than a hungry, unrestrained boy would spread jam on a piece of bread.

The bill is essentially for fun purposes, but there is one big serious act on it, that done by G. Aldo Randegger, the celebrated Italian pianist. Signor Randegger is an artist of consequence, playing with the vim and fire of the artist, and conveying his thoughts to his audience by making the most difficult passages of the great composers simple truths comprehensible to the most ordinary musical mind.

Frear, Baggette and Frear have an unique setting for their juggling high speed act. The boys use baseball bats instead of the ordinary Indian clubs. Kennedy, Nobody and Platt possess singing voices of unusual timber and indulge themselves in a merry bit of clatter of an argumentative turn. Different dancing doing furnish Burns and Lynn some clever opportunities. Miss Joan Vernie's novel manner of taking her audiences with her to her dressing room between songs and dances puts her act over big, while of course O'Brien, Havel and company are well received in a neat skit.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

ETHEL BARRYMORE IN FILM.

Great Emotional Actress at Orpheum in "The Final Judgment."—Mantell Thursday.

Lovers of the better class of photo-dramas are in store for an exceptional treat when Ethel Barrymore, the most beloved actress on the American stage, takes the screen at the Orpheum theater today and tomorrow in a picturization of George Scarborough's trenchantly appealing society and problem drama, "The Final Judgment." Throughout the five acts it carries a gripping and engrossing story of the love of three men for one woman, and this versatile dramatist has treated the theme with astonishing cleverness. It is easily the best work of Miss Barrymore and Mr. Scarborough, the brilliant star being provided with any number of opportunities to bring to the fore those trenchant dramatic powers, the possession of which has made her the foremost emotional artiste of our stage.

On Thursday and for two days following Robert Mantell is presented at the Orpheum in "The Blindness of Devotion." Genevieve Hamper, the most beautiful woman in stageland, is seen with Mr. Mantell. Stuart Holmes is also in the cast.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

MARGUERITE CLARK A CIRCUS QUEEN.

Scores Triumphs in Feature Written for Her by Edith Barnard Delano.

Marguerite Clark, the dainty little actress who has won the hearts of the motion picture public, is being starred by that feature concern in 'Still Waters,' a story of the circus and of canal-boat life, written especially for Miss Clark by Edith Barnard Delano. This rare combination of comedy and drama is the Paramount attraction at the Jefferson today and tomorrow.

The play is one with a canal boat, rural and circus atmosphere. An entire circus was leased for the presentation of those portions of the story of circus life. Three weeks were spent at Easton, Pa., by the company to obtain the proper settings for the action that transpires along the canal and on the old barge. The scenic beauty of the Delaware river and thed Lehigh Valley canal, which parallels it at Easton, lend rare charm to the tale. Harry La Pearl, America's most famous clown, was engaged for the picture also. Lovers of Marguerite will be delighted with this latest vehicle. Added feature, Pathe News. Thursday and Friday one of the greatest present day features. Trilby, with Wilton Lackeye and Clara Kimball Young, will be the chief attraction. Everything considered, things should point to a great week at the Jefferson.

INTEREST CENTERS IN FEDERAL HEARING

Interest in the street car strike situation in Fort Wayne now centers in the hearing before Judge A. B. Anderson in the federal court at Indianapolis, Thursday, when the United States Mortgage and Trust company, bondholders of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company, will press their claim for a temporary restraining order against the city of Fort Wayne, Mayor William J. Hosey, Joseph C. Colgan, member of the executive board of the Amalgamated Electric Railway association, local labor leaders and fifty-eight members of the newly organized carmen's union. The hearing for a permanent injunction is set for Monday, November 15.

Shaw were summoned Monday afternoon to appear in federal court at Indianapolis Thursday morning with records and books of the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor, showing what organizations of union labor are affiliated with the federation and with what organizations it is affiliated and its relation to the State Federation of Labor and the American Federation of Labor; also any and all minutes of meetings of its representatives since September 15, 1915; also any and all correspondence, telegrams or other communications in writing, passing between the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor or its officers and the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America or William D. Mahon, president; R. S. Reeves or any other officer or executive board member of the amalgamated association.

Extra Cars Again Operated.

Extra cars were again operated to the Wayne Knitting mills Tuesday morning, but were not very well patronized. Officials declare that from now on these cars will be operated daily. The extra cars were operated Monday evening to take the employes of the Wayne Knitting mills to their homes, but only a few rode. The cars were surrounded by more than 1,000 employes of the mills and for a time trouble threatened.

Will Care for Injured.

At a meeting of the members of the Jitney Bus Drivers' local union No. 410, Monday evening, an appropriation was voted with which to pay the hospital and doctor bills of all those injured in the jitney bus accident at Harrison and Lewis streets Saturday morning. A committee composed of Frank Moser, C. W. Keen and J. Boline was named to investigate the accident and to recommend the expulsion from the union of the driver responsible for it. Twelve new members joined the union.

HERE TO PURCHASE STRUCTURAL STEEL

French Commissioners Come to Place Big Orders in America.

New York, Nov. 9.—Five members of the French industrial and commercial commission landed here today from the steamship Lafayette and said they came to arrange for the purchase, at the conclusion of the war, of at least $160,000,000worth of structural iron and steel, machinery, and industrial supplies. All supplies of this character, the commissioners said, were formerly imported from Germany. The commissioners said that while they are here primarily to purchase supplies necessary to reconstruct and modernize French industries when the war is over they will endeavor to establish reciprocal trade relations between the United States and France. The commission is headed by Maurice Damour, formerly French consul general at New Orleans, now secretary of appropriations of the French chamber of deputies. Although this commission is not a government organization, it is backed, the commissioners said, by all the large industrial and commercial organizations of France and a majority of the bankers. "Before the war France imported a large portion of all structural iron and steel, industrial machinery and all manner of supplies from Germany," said M. Damour.

"But it is now conceded in France that the great friendship shown by the United States will bring about close relations between the two republics at the conclusion of the war."

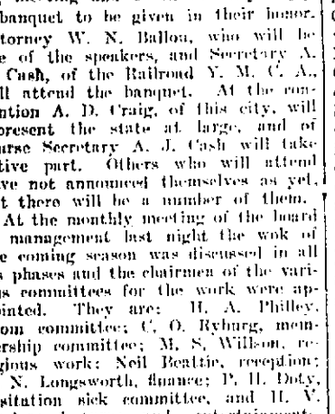
Smoked Cigarettes For 22 Years

Habit Was Ruining Him, But He Conquered It in Three Days, Easily.

The portrait below is that of Mr. P. J. Elizagaray, a well-known citizen of Livingston, Montana, who knew that his life was being ruined through the pernicious habit of cigarette smoking, yet could not find anything to stop it and solace the nervous craving until he got the remarkable book that can now be obtained free.



A clergyman, Rev. M. Ross, Dayton, Ohio, testifies that after having been a slave to tobacco 44 years, he got rid of the habit entirely in a few days, greatly improving his health.

QUIT TOBACCO, GAINED 35 LBS.

Everybody in Mangum, Okla., is talking about the big change in Al Reaves; he put on 35 lbs. in healthy flesh since getting rid of tobacco habit through the information gained in the free book which you may also easily obtain.

That he could never quit was the fear of George Ambush, Pearl street, Philadelphia, who was a slave of tobacco for many years, but after getting the book, he learned how the habit could be conquered in three days. Now he writes that he is forever free from the craving and is in much improved health.

BOOK GIVEN FREE.

A valuable, interesting book on how to overcome the tobacco habit (in any form) has been written by Edw. J. Woods, 1312 A, Station E, New York, N. Y., and he will send it free to anyone who writes asking for it, as he is very anxious that all who are victims of the craving for tobacco, snuff, cigars, or cigarettes may save themselves easily, quickly, gently and lastingly. Eyes, heart, kidneys and stomach improved, nerves tranquilized, memory improved, vigor gained and numerous other benefits often reported. —Advertisement.

PORTLAND NOW ON THE C., M. & St. P. SYSTEM.

Portland, Ore., the Rose City of the Northwest, has been added to Seattle and Tacoma as a terminal of the northern line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway. On November 7, by a new traffic arrangement with the Oregon-Washington R. R. & Navigation Co., through service was instituted between Chicago and Portland. This new service will be operated in connection with the luxurious steel "Columbian" over the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway by way of Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis to Spokane, thence over the O. W. R. & N. Co. This is another indication that the "St. Paul" is not overlooking any opportunity to entrench itself in the northwest, and its position in that section is growing stronger every day. Shortly it will put into electrical operation 440 miles of its main line through the Rocky mountains, and thus the most ambitious electrification project in railroading will become an accomplished fact and the traveler, for the first time in mountain traction, will be able to witness "The Passing Show" from open window or observation platform without the discomfort of smoke, dust, cinders, gases and other undesirable incidents of steam travel.

SHOT INTO BUNCH OF DECOYS.

"Oh, look at those ducks," said Thomas Hayes, of the Nickel Plate, to his brother, Denny Hayes, of the Wabash, one day last week as they were gunning on Sylvan lake at Rome City. Denny not only looked, but up with his gun and fired into the bunch, while Thomas, with uplifted gun, made ready to fire when the ducks raised. But they didn't raise and an investigation revealed the fact that they were "decoys" placed there by a hunter who had temporarily gone off the lake. The Hayes brothers spent several days at the lake last week and had good luck in catching fish and bagging game.

Engineer Bert Baughman, of the Nickel Plate, who has been sick many weeks, was reported worse last night and his condition is a matter for grave apprehension to his family and friends. Mr. Baughman is a prominent member of Ft. Wayne B. P. O. E., No. 155. He is also the president of Nickel Plate division No. 537, B. L. E.

Mrs. Frank Schramm, wife of the janitor of the Pennsylvania roundhouse office, leaves tomorrow for Denver, Col., where she will spend the winter with her husband's brother, Chris Schramm. Mrs. Schramm has been in poor health many months and the trip to Denver is to be made in the hopes that it will benefit her. She resides at 2119 Oliver street.

Mossman & Yarnelle have installed a new loading platform at the Nickel Plate siding back of their store. The Nickel Plate has improved and increased the track facilities there also.

Brakemen D. J. Merrilat, M. Compton and H. Holsworth, of the Nickel Plate, are off duty, the latter on account of sickness. Brakeman John Kay, who was sick a few days, resumed work this morning.

The Grand Rapids papers tell of an automobile accident in which a car driven by General Manager W. B. Wood, of the G. R. & I., ran over and killed a lad named August Schneider on a country road near Grand Rapids, last Saturday. The boy was riding a bicycle and just as Mr. Wood's auto reached him he turned out into the road directly in front of the machine.

Engineer H. D. Vickery and Fireman E. H. Hunsaker, who by diplomacy were able to keep Peter Friscella, the Italian who shot Patsy Barbo on Sunday, on their engine until they could turn him over to the officers at Knox, arrived home this morning, having completed the round trip to Stony Island. Engineer Vickery and Fireman Hunsaker discovered the Italian on their train and about the same time received a message telling them to look out for him soon after leaving the city. They expected to turn him over to the authorities at Claypool, but failing in that they carried the man to Knox, where he was arrested as stated by The Sentinel yesterday. Friscella was induced to get into the cab, where he remained quietly until removed by the deputy sheriff at Knox.

MILKMAID'S LOVE WINS OVER RICH FATHER'S ANGER.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 6.—While Charles E. Peabody, Seattle millionaire member of the Pacific coast section of the federal bank reserve board, offered fabulous rewards for their discovery, his 17-year-old son, Penfield, and his bride, formerly Miss Martha Stewart, were still in hiding, following a sensational elopement.

Penfield and Miss Stewart, 19-year-old daughter of a Bothell dairyman, after an acquaintance of two months, beat the Seattle police department, deputy sheriffs and a score of private detectives to Chehalis, October 23, and were married by a country justice.

Peabody's indignant dad almost caught the pair near Bothell, as they were escaping in an automobile. But the young man, seeing his father peeling the pavement at his very heels, ditched the machine, wrecking it, and he and Miss Stewart fled into the woods.

William J. Flannery, one of the witnesses at the wedding, is charged with perjury. It is alleged he swore young Peabody was of legal age.

Mrs. Martha Peabody, the eloping bride.

For nearly a week the young couple have been hiding in the city or nearby, it is said, with Peabody's detectives searching unavailingly high and low.

She Knows What She Wants

The well informed housekeeper insists upon using only a baking powder which is made of cream of tartar. She might read in an advertisement or be told that alum and lime phosphate, which are used as inferior substitutes in cheap baking powders, were all right in the quantities used but she would not buy them or permit them to enter her kitchen. Why?

Because she knows that cream of tartar has always been accepted as the most wholesome agent, with soda, for raising cake and biscuit, and she wants a baking powder made of cream of tartar, like Royal.

This conclusion is the result of unconscious absorption, either her own or her mother's, of the opinions of the highest authorities on hygiene and home cooking.

The prudent housekeeper, when she uses baking powder, reads the names of the ingredients printed on the label. She knows what she wants.

AMERCIAN SCHEME IS PROVING POPULAR ONE

Coaching Parties at The Hague Yield Revenue for Refugees.

The Hague, Netherlands, Oct. 15.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press). The "tally ho!" of a coach horn, blown by an American, calls out the people of the villages in the vicinity of The Hague two or three times a week just now, as a well-equipped four-in-hand swings along the roads, the team also "tooled" by an American. It is the war which is responsible for this unaccustomed sight in Holland. The entire proceeds of the coaching trips are handed over to various societies for the relief of refugees from Belgium and other non-combatants of all nationalities rendered necessitous by the hostilities in progress in the neighboring countries. The coach itself is appropriately named "Relief."

The idea was worked out by Marshall Langhorne, secretary of the American legation, and some colleagues. He one day found a mail-coach relapsing into decadence in a livery stable. The sight of it took his mind back to the old coaching days in Virginia, and, as he soon afterwards met Aurel Batonyi, the American "whip," who had just come through from relief work in Belgium, the idea of coaching in aid of relief work and at the same time combining with it an element of sport was born instantly.

A four-in-hand team was got together after much search and was soon worked into shape, and the trips began first to summer resorts in the near vicinity and then extending to Leyden and Haarlem and other far-off cities. Relay teams were sought and found available at convenient stages and now the coach runs regularly with either Mr. Langhorne or Mr. Batonyi holding the reins—all the receipts from passengers going to the relief of non-combatants, while the parents of the idea themselves defray the expenses and in return get not only their sport but the knowledge of doing a good turn to deserving people.

WOMEN HISS LAWYER; DRIVEN FROM COURT

Richmond, Ind., Nov. 9.—When Henry U. Johnson, arguing in a case in the Wayne circuit court yesterday afternoon, questioned the integrity of the late Louisa M. Bentlage, former cashier of one of Richmond's largest department stores, who committed suicide a year ago, more than 1,000 women spectators packed into the court room arose en masse and created a demonstration such as never before was witnessed in the city.

After a storm of hissing and shouting Judge Sparks, of Rushville, who has presided over the trial during its three weeks' duration, ordered the sheriff and bailiff to clear the room and another wild demonstration ensued. Women became hysterical, imprecations were hurled at Attorney Johnson and several women fainted.

Forced Out of Court.

Still hissing and shouting, the crowd was forced out of the court. This required so much time that Judge Sparks ordered Johnson to complete his argument in the jury retiring room. Several arrests on charges of contempt of court are anticipated.

The trial was the result of a claim filed by H. C. Hasemeier, owner of the store in which Miss Bentlage was employed, who demanded approximately $10,000 from her estate, alleging she embezzled the money in her service of nearly twenty years. Miss Bentlage was one of Richmond's best known German-American citizens and was active in church work.

An army of women stormed the court house early in the morning to hear the final arguments in the trial. Many of them brought lunch baskets. No trial in the history of the county has ever been so largely attended. The jury received the case late in the afternoon.

MORE PURE BRED POULTRY

By Otto E. Hackman.

The coming local poultry show, which is to be held next January, will without doubt, stimulate renewed activity in pure bred poultry raising. Many that heretofore have taken little or no interest in chicken raising will become favorably impressed by the display of the many varieties of pure bred fowls on exhibition and will decide, either then or later, when the opportunity presents itself, to own a flock of pure bred birds of their chosen variety.

In my opinion, it is not the city-lot poultryman, but the farmer, who is averse to taking up thoroughbred poultry raising as a paying proposition. Some farmers, although the number is fast decreasing, seemingly cannot be convinced that the raising of pure bred fowls is not merely a hobby—a source of pleasure only. However, just the opposite is true. It is the pure bred flocks, intelligently bred, that are proving paying propositions, while the "dunghills," or nondescript varieties, are doing little, if anything, in putting dollars into the pockets of the owners. The mongrel or mixed flocks never command more than market prices and the eggs they produce can only be sold at the prevailing market price. Pure bred fowls, of careful breeding, always command good prices, and the owner of such a flock will always find it well worth while financially and otherwise, to breed and retain only the best. While all the progressive farmers breed and own pure bred cattle, and other live stock, and will go to practically any expense to improve the quality and the productiveness of the same, yet they hesitate when it comes to making an effort to improve the quality and productiveness of their fowls, presumably considering the matter insignificant. However, just because they do not consider the subject worthy of their attention is just the reason they do not realize the profit that is rightfully theirs.

The farmer, as a rule, desires a breed that will produce eggs, and lots of them, and that will produce them in winter when prices are highest and the greatest profit can be realized. With fresh eggs retailing at close to 40 cents per dozen at the present time, and with prospects of going to 50 cents when cold weather sets in, consider the profit that could be realized by the owner of a flock of pure bred winter layers. The farmer usually complains of the scarcity of eggs during the winter months. This fact can often be attributed directly to the quality—or, to put it more correctly, to the lack of quality—of the stock he possesses. If one really desires, the laying ability of a pure bred flock can be brought to a high state of efficiency. Close culling and careful selection of the breeding stock will do wonders in improving the productiveness of the flock. In most farm flocks of today, there are too many hens of the kind that may be termed "wasters." Some have passed the age of usefulness and others, either from lack of physical stamina or on account of inferior laying ability, are not profit payers and should be culled out. On all the large egg farms of today, and on the plants of those that make a specialty of supplying fresh eggs and market chickens to a select trade, only pure bred fowls are found, and the grade of the product is such that top prices are always commanded.

The farmer also desires a breed that is of good size and will weigh well when placed on the market and that will make a good appearance when dressed for the table. Pure bred fowls, of a certain variety, when put on the market, will present a uniform appearance and prove attractive, whereas those from the average farm flock will be of every size, color and description. A general purpose breed will answer the purpose of the farmer most admirably. One of the best varieties of this breed, I find, is the White Wyandotte. As an all-around, general purpose breed it has no superior. From the standpoint of beauty and vitality, it is all that can be desired. The Wyandottes, owing to their abundant feathering, and their neat, rose combs, are especially adapted to the production of eggs in winter, for they withstand the severe winter weather remarkably well. They adapt themselves to confinement more readily than do the lighter, more active breeds, and come out in the spring with vigor practically unimpaired.

GERMANY ENTERS A DENIAL.

Says English Court Testimony in Passport Cases is False.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Germany, in a note which reached the state department today, denies flatly testimony alleged to have been given in English courts that German officers "prepared false American passports and handed them to agents" and expresses doubt that such testimony ever actually was given.

The note is in reply to a letter presented by Ambassador Gerard, on July 31, directing the attention of the imperial government to statements said to have been made by Robert Rosenthal and George T. Breckow, when they were on trial in England as spies. It is suggested that a false passport found on Breckow probably was issued by one of "certain individuals on occupied territory and also in neutral countries," who have endeavored to make a trade of selling such papers at a good price. If Rosenthal and Breckow really made the statements accusing German officials, the note says, it must be assumed that they were induced to do so by threats, promises or other pressure.

JURY TOOK A JOY RIDE.

Hartford City, Ind., Nov. 9.—An early morning automobile ride taken by the jurymen, who remained out all night during which time they took forty-six ballots on the case of Dick Starr, charged with the theft of $2 worth of coal, caused their arraignment before Judge Eichhorn, to explain their conduct when it was reported to the judge that they had left the jury room before reaching a verdict.

The matter was taken seriously by the judge for a time until he was told by the court bailiff that the jury had reported its verdict to him before the joy ride. A Montpelier man reported to the judge that he had seen the members of the jury in Montpelier Friday morning, looking over the ground, when the coal car stood, from which Starr stole the coal. John Hasson, automobile agent, who was on the jury, invited the jurymen to take a ride in two of his new cars. Starr was found guilty.

Try this easy way to clear your skin with Resinol Soap

Bathe your face for several minutes with Resinol Soap and warm water, working the creamy lather into the skin gently with the finger-tips. Then wash off with more Resinol Soap and warm water, finishing with a dash of clear cold water to close the pores.

Do this once or twice a day, and you will be astonished how quickly the healing, antiseptic Resinol medication soothes and cleanses the pores, removes pimples and blackheads, and leaves the complexion clear, fresh and velvety.

If the skin is in bad condition through neglect or an unwise use of cosmetics, apply a little Resinol Ointment* and let it remain on ten minutes before the final washing with Resinol Soap.

Resinol Soap is not artificially colored, its rich brown being entirely due to the Resinol balsams it contains. Sold by all druggists and dealers in toilet goods. For free sample cake and trial of Resinol Ointment, write Dept. 9-P, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

Physicians have prescribed Resinol Ointment for over twenty years in the treatment of skin and scalp affections.*

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them. To do this get about two ounces of plain powdered neroxin from any drug store. Sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge, rub over the blackheads briskly, wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions from the body that form in the pores of the skin. Pinching and squeezing only cause irritation, make large pores and do not get them out after they become hard. The powdered neroxin and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

A soft, velvety complexion is the envy of every woman, and any woman can have her heart's desire if she will, before retiring every night, wash the face, arms and neck with plenty of good soap and warm water, dash on cold water, dry thoroughly, and then apply freely a cream lotion made by dissolving one ounce of powdered zintone in a pint of hot water. This will give to the complexion that soft, velvety appearance so much admired and sought.

Women troubled with excessive perspiration in the armpits and other parts of the body can easily overcome this embarrassment by using a little hydrolized talcum on the parts. This simple powder will immediately destroy all body odors and control perspiration. It certainly will solve the soppy dress shield problem.—Advertisement.

Indianapolis, Nov. 9.—The board of directors of the Woman's Franchise League of Indiana voted yesterday to ask Mrs. S. C. Stimson, of Terre Haute, to resign as a member of the board.

Strictest secrecy was maintained regarding the meeting and it is not known in what manner the action will be disclosed formally to Mrs. Stimson or at what time. The request grew out of the recent contest for the presidency of the Indiana Federation of Clubs in which Mrs. Stimson was active as an opponent of Mrs. Lewis J. Cox, of Terre Haute. The Franchise League board takes the stand that Mrs. Stimson and her associates resorted to objectionable political tactics that caused an injury to the woman's movement in Indiana.

Dr. Amelia Keller, president of the league, and other members of the board, when questioned regarding the action, gave evasive answers. There is a rule that the board meetings are to be regarded as strictly private and that no member can discuss any action taken without a breach of faith.

Earnest Speeches Are Made.

It is known, however, that several earnest speeches were made against Mrs. Stimson at the meeting and that the action asking her to resign was taken by about a two-thirds vote. Mrs. Cox, whose election as president of the club federation was opposed by Mrs. Stimson, is the first vice-president of the Woman's Franchise League of Indiana.

When the subject of asking Mrs. Stimson's resignation was brought before the board it immediately aroused much spirited discussion. The speakers favoring the motion declared that the methods used by Mrs. Stimson and her colleagues in opposing Mrs. Cox were not worthy of the best in the womanhood of Indiana. The Franchise League, they declared, is striving for the uplift of the community and for humanity in general, to raise the standard of ideals for both men and women.

Machine Tactics Opposed.

They insisted that it is a body which has opposed all "small" means used by men in politics and all machine tactics. The chief aim of the league, they maintained, is to support in a dignified, lofty and uplifting manner all movements being furthered by women and to eliminate all personalities. These ideals, they declared, were not observed in the recent attack against Mrs. Cox, when much that was derogatory to her—some of a purely personal nature—was said by her opponents who, they declared, were led by Mrs. Stimson.

Mrs. Stimson's supporters maintained that she had a right to her opinion, and that she did not use secret methods, nor did her colleagues.

Mrs. G. M. Henderson, secretary of the league, declined to talk about the case further than to say there must be some disloyal member of the board. Mrs. Grace Julian Clarke, who was one of the most ardent supporters of Mrs. Cox in her campaign in the Federation of Clubs, also declined to talk, as did Miss Eldena Lauter and other board members.

MRS. STIMSON NOT INFORMED.

Asserts She Knows Nothing of Action Taken by Board.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 9.—When asked if she had been notified of action being taking asking her to resign from the board of the Woman's Franchise League of Indiana, Mrs. S. C. Stimson said:

"I have heard nothing of such an action. I was not able to go to the Franchise league board meeting today because of school board duties in Terre Haute. If such action has been taken it was in my absence without accusation or notice to me.

"It scarcely seems possible that intelligent women would fail to be fairminded. I was elected a director by the state delegates at the convention last March and I can not resign at the request of a few board members who have no jurisdiction in the matter. There surely was no reason for this action except that I could not, at a recent meeting, give up federation principles at their request. It is regrettable, for if we women are to have any influence or power in public life we must put principles first in all public affairs."

Another meeting of the Fort Wayne electrical men in charge of the big electrical show to be staged here the fore part of December will be held Wednesday evening at the Commercial club.

A WOMAN'S BACK

The Advice of This Fort Wayne Woman Is of Certain Value.

Many a woman's back has many aches and pains.

Ofttimes 'tis the kidneys' fault.

That's why Doan's Kidney Pills are so effective.

Many Fort Wayne women know this. Read what one has to say about it:

Mrs. Brooks, 1214 Webster St., Ft. Wayne, Ind., says: "For five years, I have used Doan's Kidney Pills as required and they have always relieved me of backache, pains over my kidneys and improved my health. This medicine we have procured at Meyer Bros. Drug Store."

The above statement was given on March 30, 1910, and OVER TWO YEARS LATER, Mrs. Brooks added: "I don't very often need a kidney medicine, but when I do, I never consider anything but Doan's Kidney Pills. They always act just right and I don't think they could be improved."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Brooks has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

Soon you will notice that they are growing smaller, the treatment should then be continued until the veins are of normal size. Emerald Oil is a powerful yet harmless germicide.

Mrs. Silas B. Briggs, East Marion, Mass., writes: "I had a large sore and Varicose Veins on my legs. The sore is all healed up now and the veins are very much reduced. I am more than thankful for your Emerald Oil." Generous sample on receipt of 10c, from Moone Chemical Co., Rochester, N. Y. Meyer Drug Stores can supply you.—Advertisement.

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Advertisement.

WILLIAM ALDEN ROSE FROM NEWSBOY TO SENATOR BY TURNING OTHER CHEEK.

(This is another of our series on presidential possibilities.—Editor).

In a standpat, good, old-time republican convention there is no reason why William Alden Smith of Michigan should not be the favorite son of his state.

He expects to have that delegation. Of course, there is that ghastly thought that some T. R. man may rise up in the eleventh hour and put Roosevelt into the primaries, which might change things; but this is not at present in the cards. Smith is to lead the Michigan delegation gently by the hand and to stand as a nucleus for that grand rally to a William McKinley-like presidential candidate.

Smith dates from the McKinley era. He was a friend of McKinley and of Uncle Mark. He was young in politics then, being a comparatively new member of the house of representatives. But he was an orthodox member. He used to make tariff speeches, and nobody could do it in a more glib way than William Alden S., of Michigan.

He was orthodox on other subjects, too. He was a friend of Cannon and voted with the house organization when his vote was needed.

Smith is now a senator. He arose to this dignity from selling newspapers and popcorn. He now owns the paper he used to deliver, in Grand Rapids. Like all men who have leaped lightly from vending newspapers to living on the Avenue of the Presidents, or some similar avenue, he goes lightly over the railroad investments and other steps in the upward climb.

Foraker helped. And so did Fairbanks. Smith and Fairbanks are old chums. As a politician Smith is what the copy books tell all young men to be—sober, steady, hard working, diligent and alert.

If Smith ever met a man and forgot him, the fact is not of record.

No amount of roast ever made him mad. He has a political method of turning the other cheek, which is almost Christian.

But before the Spanish war, in Havana, he once trounced three Spanish soldiers with his umbrella.

Wm. Alden Smith.

Born at Dowagiac, Mich., May 12, 1859, he is now 56 years old.

Smith was one of Taft's confidants, and when a report reached the white house that the Chicago convention might ditch Taft in the interest of a harmony candidate, it was Smith who was sent as Taft's emissary to Chicago to handle the situation. He did. The result was Taft's nomination, the split in the party and Taft's defeat.

IF TOO FAT GET MORE FRESH AIR

Lack of fresh air weakens the oxygen-carrying power of the blood, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates and the action of many of the vital organs are hindered thereby. The heart action becomes weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed.

Fat put on by indoor life is unhealthy and if nature is not assisted in throwing it off by increasing the oxygen-carrying power of the blood a serious case of obesity may result.

When you feel that you are getting too stout, take the matter in hand at once, don't wait until your figure has become a joke and your health ruined through carrying around a burden of unsightly and unhealthy fat.

Spend as much time as you possibly can in the open air, breathe deeply, and get from any druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself every few days and keep up the treatment until you are down to normal. Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps the digestion and is designed to increase the oxygen-carrying power of the blood.

Even a few days treatment should show a noticeable reduction in weight. There is nothing better.—Advertisement.

Love Tragedy That Resulted in Buchanan Being Only Bachelor to Occupy White House.

(This is the fourth of a series of Romances of Our Presidents, appearing exclusively in The Sentinel.—Editor).

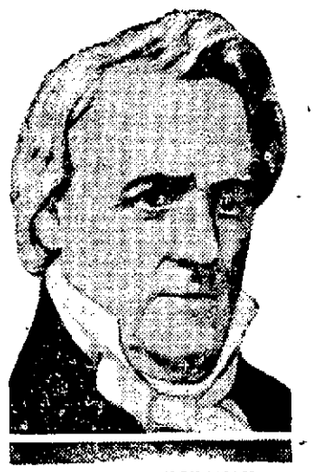
James Buchanan, the only bachelor president the United States has ever had, remained unwedded all his life because of a love tragedy in his youth.

Buchanan when 28 years old became engaged to Anne C. Coleman, daughter of a rich resident of Lancaster, Pa. The beautiful girl was of a very sensitive, retiring nature, although endowed with great determination and pride.

The course of love ran smooth for the engaged couple for some little time and then certain people began to gossip about a very small matter. As the story passed from mouth to mouth it became exaggerated and the sensitive girl grieved very deeply over the matter. Finally she sent young Buchanan a note, breaking off the engagement.

The matter—so trivial a one—might have been patched up at some future time, but shortly after sending the note, Miss Coleman made a visit to Philadelphia, where she was taken suddenly ill and died.

Buchanan's grief was pitiful, and in a letter to the girl's father, declared that he would never marry any other woman—a resolve which he kept faithfully.



JAMES BUCHANAN.

EARLY TRIAL PLAN IN BOMB PLOT CASE

Judge Howe Declines to Reduce Bail of Fay and His Friends.

New York, Nov. 9.—Lieut. Robert Fay, late of the German army, and the four men whom the United States government has grouped with him as defendants to a charge of trying to blow up munitions ships, today pleaded not guilty to the indictment found yesterday against them. They asked also for a reduction in bail, but Federal Judge Howe denied this and said he would allow the present bail of $25,000 in each case to stand.

Speedy trial three weeks or a month hence, probably—for the defendants was promised on behalf of the government by Assistant District Attorney Knox. Fay and his brother-in-law, Walter Scholz, and Engelbert Bronhorst, unable to give bail, were sent back to the Tombs. Max Breitung and Herbert Kienzle, who have been at liberty under $25,000 bond each, were released, their bondsmen agreeing to continue their surety.

PARROT INSANE IS CORONER'S VERDICT

George J. Parrot, one of the city's leading photographers, whose body was found Sunday morning in the Maumee river with the thumb torn from ear to ear, was clearly of unsound mind when he committed suicide, according to the verdict of Coroner Edward H. Kruse.

The verdict is as follows: "George J. Parrot came to his death as a result of cutting his throat with suicidal intent on November 6, 1915. I further find that decedent entered the north side of the Maumee river about two blocks east of the Coombs street bridge where said act was committed. I further find that decedent has been of unsound mind at intervals during the past year and has been worse during the last week, especially so Friday afternoon and that he was of unsound mind at the time of taking his life."

Members of his family testified that during the past year Mr. Parrot had frequently complained of a pain in his head and often declared that it made him feel like he "wanted to do something."

DECATUR MAN DENIES HE IS A BANKRUPT

In a brief filed Tuesday in the federal court by Julius Haugk, of Decatur, in answer to a motion to strike out part of his answer in the bankruptcy case brought against him by the First National bank of this city, he denies that he is a bankrupt, declaring that he could pay all the debts against him, including the claim of $10,000 of the local bank, and still have $25,000 left. Haugk admits having twenty-three creditors, but that at no time has he committed an act of bankruptcy.

The First National bank is asking that he be declared a bankrupt to satisfy a claim of over $10,000 it has against him on money loaned to the Cardwell & Mill Lumber company and to the Allison Real Estate company.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Nov. 9—Indications that wheat had begun to accumulate rapidly at the chief centers gave an advantage today to the bears. Opening prices, which ranged from ⅝c to ⅞@1c lower, with December at $1.02¼ to $1.02⅝, and May at $1.03⅝ to $1.03⅝, were followed by an additional setback and then a moderate rally.

The close was nervous, 1c to 1⅛c lower, with December at $1.02⅛ and May at $1.03⅛@1.03⅝.

Corn showed a little weakness on account of the bearish nature of the government crop figures. After opening unchanged to ¼c lower, the market receded a trifle all around but later tended to harden.

The close was steady at a shade to ⅜@½c net decline.

Oats were governed by the action of corn. There was no aggressive selling.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Nov. 9.—Numerous substantial recoveries from yesterday's violent decline were registered at the resumption of trading today, particularly among the specialties. Baldwin Locomotive rose three points to 120, and Crucible Steel 2⅝ to 76, while some of the automobile and equipment issues were better by one to two points. U. S. Steel opened with 5,000 shares at 84⅜ to 85, against yesterday's close of 84⅛, and Canadian Pacific rose 2¾ to 185, with one point gains for Reading and Southern Pacific. These advances were materially reduced in secondary quotations, some issues falling under yesterday's lowest prices.

Stocks were freely supplied on the early advance, causing a general reaction. Specialties began to show wavering tendencies, but the market was again strengthened by recoveries in Canadian Reading and United States Steel. Another decline occurred in the second hour when selling pressure largely of foreign origin provoked weakness. There was a moderate rally at midday. Bonds were easy.

Representative stocks rose slightly from lowest prices and some specialties, including Studebaker, recovered half of their declines. The closing was heavy.

CENTRAL UNEMPLOYED BODY OUT OF A JOB

London Society Finds No Longer Need for Its Services.

London, Oct. 25.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—The Central Unemployed Body for London has practically gone out of business because there is no work for it to do. Organized primarily to find work for the unemployed in London it now finds there are no unemployed to find work for. The war, so far from increasing unemployment and poverty, as was generally anticipated when the conflict began, has had the contrary effect.

"After nearly fifteen months of war," said Mr. Brinsley Harper, presiding at a meeting of the organization, "there is not only no evidence of distress, but there is abundant evidence of abnormally plentiful employment and exceptionally high wages. Nor do the reports we have received indicate that the increased cost of living has led to an increase of poverty and destitution. A partial explanation may be found in the fact that owing to the great demand for juvenile labor young wage-earners have been able to supplement the family income to an unprecedented extent."

Under these circumstances, Mr. Harper explained, it had been decided to close most of the offices of the organization and to retain only enough clerks to keep the machinery at the head office going.

Membership of labor unions in England increased by nearly three-quarters of a million persons during the year 1913, according to a belated report, just issued by the registrar general. The total membership at the end of the year was 3,265,000.

This growth, which is far in excess of any previously recorded, is attributed to extended propaganda work and improved organization during a period of great industrial unrest. The largest increase occurred in the National Union of Railwaymen, the membership of which more than doubled.

During the same period there was a corresponding increase in the treasuries of the various unions, and at the end of the year the aggregate balances of the labor organizations reached nearly $33,000,000.

STAMP COLD STORAGE EGGS.

Dealers Must Label Them, Says New York Official.

New York, Nov. 8.—All cold storage eggs sold in this city after Nov. 14 must be stamped as such and all dealers in them must display signs stating that cold storage eggs are on sale, says John J. Dillon, state commissioner of foods and markets, in a warning bulletin received by egg merchants today.

Mr. Dillon asserted that he is informed that 75,000 cases of cold storage eggs are being sold and consumed in New York city weekly as strictly fresh eggs.

Found Guilty of Assault on George Hughes a Week Ago.

Charles Henry and Edward Dales, composing the crew of a South Calhoun street short-line car, were found guilty in the city court Tuesday morning of assault and battery on George Hughes, a colored man, a week ago, and Judge H. Waveland Kerr imposed fines of $25 and costs in each case. Attorney Samuel L. Morris, of counsel for the Fort Wayne Traction company, appeared for the men and entered a plea of guilty, with mitigating circumstances in the case of Henry, and not guilty for Dales. The testimony showed that after applying an offensive epithet to Hughes, who was leading a horse beside the track early in the evening, November 1, and being answered by Hughes, who called them "scabs," the crew ran the car to the end of the line and on their return stopped the car where the negro was and abandoned their duty to give him a beating. Hughes, two young white women who were with him and a white man, who was near by, testified to the assault and stated that with drawn revolvers the men chased Hughes from the street. Henry and Dales denied that they had been armed. Both swore that Hughes first called them "scabs" and that on previous occasions he had insulted them.

Italian Gunman is Held.

Pete Marello, the Italian who on Sunday afternoon shot and dangerously wounded Patsy Barbo, a fellow countryman, during a drunken brawl at Hoagland avenue and Melita street, and was brought back Monday afternoon from Knox, Ind., where he had been turned over to officers by a Nickel Plate freight crew, was arraigned Tuesday morning on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill. The case was continued until Friday to await the outcome of Barbo's injuries and Marello was held without bond. Marello sticks to his story that he shot Barbo in self-defense only after his firing into the air had failed to check the onslaught of Barbo and his brothers.

Negro Shooter Bound Over.

Anson Preston, the colored man, who shot Joseph Colquitt, alias Joe Davis, also colored, on State boulevard, where both were employed in a street paving gang, October 11, was arraigned on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill and was bound over to the circuit court under $1,000. Colquitt, who for a few days was thought to be mortally wounded, was able to be in court. Preston, who is plainly demented, sought to wrangle with the court and prosecutor about his plea and one of not guilty was entered for him. He warmly acquiesced in being sent to the circuit court, saying the city tribunal was in no way equal to the task of trying his case. Preston had his inevitable pocket bible with him in court.

Jitney Driver is Fined.

Ray Smith, driver of a jitney bus, was fined $1 and costs for driving an automobile past a street car that was stopped to receive passengers. Judge Kerr warned him that conviction of a repetition of the offense would procure him a severer penalty.

Other City Court Cases.

James Carto, the French laborer, who has confessed to setting fire to the Western Gas Construction company's plant on Winter street, one night last week, purposing to destroy the works in revenge for having been discharged from his job there after eighteen years of service, waived arraignment on a charge of arson and was certified to the circuit court under $1,000 bond. He went to jail.

James Anderson and Michael Fitzpatrick, drunks, were turned loose, and Joseph Thompson, charged with assault and battery, and George Gillmore, held for drunkenness, were continued until the 16th inst., under bonds of $100 each.

The testimony for the prosecution was taken in the case of Earl Stevens, a strike breaker street car motorman, for malicious trespass and to accommodate Attorney S. L. Morris, who wanted time to look into the affair, the hearing was continued until the 15th inst. Herbert Gladbach, a jitney driver, charged that Stevens deliverately ran a street car into the rear of the jitney at Calhoun and Chestnut streets one night last week, shortly after 12 o'clock. Several passengers in Gladbach's car and bystanders on the street testified that the street car dashed upon the jitney without giving a warning signal. A whisky bottle almost emptied that had been taken from Stevens was exhibited in court and officers testified that both Stevens, the motorman, and Ross Dickinson, the conductor, had been drinking.

The case against George F. Jauney, for child neglect, was continued. He was arrested Monday by City Court Bailiff George Eisenhut.

POLICE SEARCH FOR THIEF.

A squad of police made a fruitless search in the far eastern part of the city Tuesday forenoon for a thief who snatched a pocketbook from Mrs. Henry D. C. Korte, 1312 Anthony boulevard, while she was walking along that thoroughfare. The robber, who was dressed in overalls and is believed to be a foreigner, dropped the pocketbook and ran when men near by started in pursuit, and was lost sight of in the vicinity of the spoke factory. The surrounding territory was well searched, but no trace of the robber could be found.

GOES AFTER FORGER.

Detective Sergeant Charles Spillner has gone to Milwaukee to bring back Ernest Doepke, wanted here for forgery, who was arrested in the Wisconsin city by the police on information from Fort Wayne. Doepke, who is a traveling man, forged an order for the collection of $150 from Ernest Hinke for a consignment of fruit trees.

YSER SENT DOWN BY A GERMAN TORPEDO

Algiers, Algeria, Nov. 9.—The French steamship Yser, formerly known as the Dacia, which was seized by a French cruiser last February while carrying a cargo of cotton from the United States to Germany, has been torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine.

The news of the sinking of the Yser was contained in an official announcement made public today which read: "The French ship Yser, formerly the Dacia, renamed after her sale by the prize court, was torpedoed while conveying to Bizerta the passengers saved from the Italian steamer Eliza-Francesca. The entire crew and passengers were landed."

The Dacia formerly belonged to the Hamburg-American line. After the outbreak of hostilities she was purchased by Edward N. Breitung and changed her registry and became an American ship. Laden with cotton designated for Germany she was on her way from the United States to Rotterdam when picked up by a French cruiser last February and taken into Brest.

The seizure of the vessel later was confirmed by a prize court and a cargo of cotton was purchased through a special appropriation. In August the Dacia was sold through the prize court and her new French owner renamed her the Yser.
